NEW TERROR FOR ITALY'S QUAKE AREAS

REFUGEES FLEE FROM DEVASTATED REGIONS

King Comforts Harrowed Subjects—Relief Measures Taken

By ANDRUS BERDING
Associated Press Staff Writer.

POTENZA, Italy, July 26.—Five new earthquake shocks were felt today in the quake stricken area of Southern Italy as King Victor Emmanuel arrived on the scene to guide and comfort his harrowed subjects.

Many buildings weakened by Wednesday's upheaval crumbled and fell, but no new injuries or loss of life were reported.

The first shocks closely succeeded one another at about 10 a.m., bringing new terror to the worn and sleepless populace. Three briefer ones followed at about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. All were felt through the devastated districts and were especially strong at Melfi, a community that has already suffered most severely.

ERRAND OF MERCY

Italy's soldier king, bound on this errand of mercy in a district that seemed to have been wracked by the convulsions of warfare, drove over the torn up roads with the same serene optimism he manifested on the hard fought Piave Front during the Great War.

His presence brought renewed life to the people, overwrought by the five new shocks on the third day of terrible subterranean convulsions of nature.

JAPAN PLANS CONSTRUCTION OF NEW SHIPS

Naval Programme Calls for $125,000,000 Outlay Over Five-Year Period

BUILDING WILL GET UNDER WAY IN 1931

By B. W. FLEISHER
(Copyright, 1888, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

TOKIO, Japan, July 25.—Following Premier Yuko Hamaguchi's audience with Emperor Hirohito, when he handed the London Naval Pact to the ruler, after which the latter ordered it to be put into the hands of the privy council for final consideration, details of a new naval construction programme, destined to make up the deficiencies of the London Pact, are reliably learned.

These plans are now in the hands of the naval ministry, which is studying the recommendations of the naval general staff, and the whole project will go into effect when it is finally approved again by the naval staff.

The total outlay for the programme over a period of five years is $125,000,000, and the first work is to be launched next year. The principal points are: Establishment of eleven new flying corps, each corps to be equipped with eight machines; construction of three 10,000-ton cruisers, mounting six-inch guns, and building of one 13,000-ton airplane carrier.

AIRPLANE INCREASES

The greatest importance is laid on airplane increases which, naval experts believe, is the only way to remedy what they consider too great concessions made by Japan

Premier King Is On the Toboggan

War-Time Leader of Dominion Voices Whole-Hearted Approval

LIBERAL POLICY HELD INIMICAL TO CANADA

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, July 25.—In a statement issued today, Sir Robert Borden, Canada's war-time Prime Minister, defines his position in relation to the present general election issues. The statement which Sir Robert has handed the Canadian Press follows:

"Since retiring from public life about eight years ago, I have deliberately refrained from taking an active part in political discussion, nor did I intend to do so on this occasion. But, as my name has been dragged into the controversy by prominent supporters of the Government, and even by the Prime Minister himself, it becomes my right, as well as my duty, to make my position clear.

IN PERFECT ACCORD

"I am whole-heartedly in accord with the fiscal policy which Mr. Bennett has eloquently proclaimed in every part of Canada. Twenty-five years ago I took substantially the same ground. The British Empire first, and, within the British Empire, Canada first; the preservation of our home market for our own producers, the maintenance of our industries to give employment to our people; Canada's unimpaired

EDUCATIONISTS IN CONVENTION

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS

A hundred or more of the North American continent's most expert business educationists are in the city today to attend the annual meeting of the Pacific Northwest Business Schools' Association which is to be held this morning at the Sprott-Shaw School.

Fully half this number had reached the city yesterday morning for the meeting of the National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools, which was arranged in connection with, but preceding, today's meeting, and after a morning devoted chiefly to an address by Dr. Hull, who spoke on "Nomenclature," and a midday address by C. E. V. Porter, of Jamestown, N.Y., given in connection with a luncheon held at the Empress Hotel, the delegates scattered to golf links, tennis court and countryside to enjoy the afternoon. There was a dinner last evening at the Empress Hotel, when the speaker was J. H. Beatty, of the Sprott-Shaw School, Victoria.

Virtual Embargo Against Lumber Trade of Province Now Levied by Australia

Canadian Timber to Be Shut Out of Australian Market After October 16

VANCOUVER, July 25.—The Vancouver Province in its news columns today carries the following:

Australia today levied, by increases in its general tariff over and above those previously announced, what amounts to virtual embargo against the lumber trade of British Columbia, it is announced in cable dispatches to The Province from its Sydney correspondent.

The increases tabled today in the House of Representatives drastically raise rates against the larger sizes of British Columbia lumber, in which the bulk of the interdominion trade is done.

The new duties will range downward from as high as 200 per cent ad valorem, and will amount, it is estimated, in some cases to $35 per 1,000 feet, board measurement.

NEW TARIFF EFFECTIVE

These changes, raising duties announced in June, simply mean that Canadian lumber will be shut out of the Australian market after October 16, when the new tariff will become effective. Although provision is made in the new tariff for British preference, this is not conceded under present trade agreements.

Summarizing, today's important revisions upwards in the tariff tabled in June are:

Duties on Douglas fir logs (listed as Oregon logs by Australia) reclassified and increased from 5 per cent ad valorem, British preferential and intermediate rates, and 10 per cent general, to 10 per cent British preferential and intermediate, and 30 per cent general.

Rumania Checking Progress of Anti-Semitic Movement

BUCHAREST, July 25.—The Rumanian Government is becoming more active in checking the anti-Semitic movement throughout the country. Many arrests of anti-Semitic agitators are reported from the provinces. M. Zamra, close friend of George Baza, who shot the acting minister of the interior, was arrested today. Zelea Codreanu, leader of the anti-Semitic youth organization, the Iron Guard, must explain to police his connection with anti-Semitic posters that have been placarded all over Bucharest under his signature.

Royal City Will Not Hold Annual Fair This Year

NEW WESTMINSTER, July 25.—The Provincial Exhibition in New Westminster will not be staged this year. This was definitely decided at a meeting of the directors tonight, when a year's suspension was agreed upon.

The main buildings were destroyed by fire in July of last year, the historic institution, established in 1870, operating a year ago in tents.

Failure of the City Council to contribute an extra $5,000 to add to a like sum promised by the Provincial Government, is said to be the main reason for tonight's step. Labor Day plans will now turn to outboard motor racing on the Fraser River and track and field championships at Queen's Park Oval.

Wheat Crop Around 400,000,000 Bushels In Canada Estimated

EDMONTON, Alta., July 25.—Western Canada will probably have a wheat crop of around 400,000,000 bushels this year, in the opinion of Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, who reached the city Friday morning. He is accompanied by Lady Thornton and a party of prominent officials and will leave aboard his special train at midnight for Calgary en route East.

Last year's Prairie crop was 272,000,000 bushels, while in 1928 a crop of 550,000,000 bushels was harvested.

FIVE KILLED WHEN ARMY PLANES CRASH

MEXICO CITY, July 25.—Four military aviators and one civilian were killed today when two army airplanes were wrecked and fell into Carranza athletic field, near Valbuena airport. One of the planes, in its fall, hit a man who was playing on a handball court, crushing him to death.

TAKES THREE WEEKS' REST

LONDON, July 25.—Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson left today for a nursing home in the country. He is to take a three weeks' rest and receive special treatment.

The Foreign Secretary was exhausted from the strain of a crowded year's work that culminated in the Egyptian negotiations. He hopes to recuperate before going to Geneva for the League of Nations' assembly.

LIBERALS CRY CONSCRIPTION TO WIN VOTES

Dandurand Tells French-Canadians Conservatives Will Impress Them

BENNETT PAINTED AS ULTRA-IMPERIALIST

Premier King's Colleague Says Only Safety From War Is With King

OTTAWA, July 25.—The conscription issue has come again in Quebec. It is a repetition of the Liberal tactics of 1917, 1921, 1925 and 1926, when race appeals were the Liberal campaign policy. It was thought that this appeal to race and prejudice had been buried, but led by Premier Taschereau on Saskatchewan schools, followed by Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux on conscription, the worst was feared. But nothing as despicable was anticipated as the outburst in La Presse today. Even worse was Senator Raoul Dandurand's call to his compatriots to defend themselves against conscription to be given effect to by the Imperialistic Bennett, if in office, at the dictation of Great Britain.

The French-Canadian conscript is to be used, according to La Presse and Dandurand, to fight potential wars in India and Egypt.

DISTRIBUTING COPIES

La Presse is distributing several hundred thousand copies in Quebec, headed "The Menace of Conscription." The whole "menace" is based on an innocent article in The Sunday Times of London, England. The article is not quoted in La Presse.

In a cable it is stated that Polson Newman, an authority on Egyptian affairs, wrote The Sunday Times, pointing out the grave danger in Egypt and feared it would cause Britain immense expenditure.

CANADIAN SUPPORTERS OF KING DESERTING

"That the canvass of Liberal emissaries among the Doukhobor colonies of West Kootenay to secure the voting of hundreds of these people by declaration on Monday, extends into the constituency of Yale, which contains the Grand Forks area, is announced here by the Nelson News.

"Further probing by The News of the facts of this secret campaign in West Kootenay, which the newspaper first exposed Thursday, reveals that meetings have been held throughout the colonies, both Doukhobor and Independent, at which Doukhobor speakers have urged their compatriots to swear in their votes and vote for the Liberal party, which brought them to Canada, while the Conservatives 'want them away.'

United States Planning To Americanize Universe

THAT United States is deliberately setting out to conquer the world—not by force of arms, but by peaceful penetration, has long been suspected, and particularly so in Canada. Influence from the south of the line has been exerted upon every phase of Canadian life. It is only by adopting a policy that aims to develop the Dominion for the people of Canada, within the British Empire, that the carefully planned and deliberately plotted "Americanization" of this country can be avoided.

United States needs Canada. The republic requires Canadian nickel, Canadian asbestos; Canadian pulpwood; Canadian fish, and within a few years will be largely dependent upon Canada for her wheat supply. United States desires to Americanize the Dominion along with the rest of the world. Only by supporting a policy that will develop Canadian industries can Canada avoid Americanization.

The following editorial from The Los Angeles Evening Herald, of July 12, headed "Americanisation of World Certain in the Future," shows the means by which United States proposes to accomplish her end.

"More important than treaties or leagues of nations, more potent than any attempts by idealists and dreamers to force harmony upon the peoples of earth, and even transcending the hopes of many who have sought to invent a universal language, is a trend toward world unity now distinctly discernible to careful observers.

"This trend is not due to propaganda of any sort. Mankind resents propaganda, when it is recognized, as witness the unfavorable reception given to the efforts of Russian Communists in practically every country but their own.

D. B. PLUNKETT HAS SOLID BACKING OF VICTORIA ELECTORS

D. B. PLUNKETT

Tremendous Ovation Is Given Candidate in Closing Address Before Capacity Audience of Citizens at Final Rally in Chamber of Commerce Rooms

Predicts Victoria and Nanaimo to Give Conservatives Huge Majority

Premier Tolmie Traces Undermining of Economic Structure During Liberal Administration—Says Bennett Policy Will Restore Trade Balance and Revive Industry

THAT Victoria stands solidly behind D. B. Plunkett, Conservative candidate for re-election, and the policies of Hon. R. B. Bennett and the Conservative party, was demonstrated in no uncertain manner last night at the big rally held in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium. Mr. Plunkett, in a masterful address, put the issues of the campaign clearly before the electors. It was a question of Canadians helping themselves to develop a greater and more prosperous Canada within the Empire, or permitting other nations to avail themselves of that prosperity that belonged to the people of the Dominion. He and the Conservative party stood for Canada—a glorious Canada, a happy Canada within the Empire.

The Conservative candidate was frequently interrupted by tumultous applause from the great audience. He was supported on the platform by Premier Tolmie, who once again proved the falsity of the assertions made by Premier King and his followers in respect to the attitude of the British Columbia Government respecting unemployment. Brig.-Gen. J. A. Clark, D.S.O., C.M.G., the hero of Mons, former member of Parliament for Burrard, one of the Vancouver ridings, also spoke strongly in favor of Mr. Plunkett's candidature.

PLUNKETT CHEERED

D. B. Plunkett, Conservative, who has represented Victoria in the Federal House since the by-election of 1928, when he defeated J. D. MacLean, former Premier of the province, was met with an outburst of cheering that did not subside until the candidate himself motioned for a hearing. Applause and cheering punctuated his entire address, and at the conclusion of his speech broke out again with renewed vigor, the crowd according an ovation to Mr. Plunkett that surpassed anything witnessed in the Chamber of Commerce rooms for many a day.

"I am sure that for anything I have done for Victoria I have been amply repaid by the tribute I have received at your hands tonight."

Up to Candidate To Explain When Money Will Come

No answer has yet been received by the Provincial Government to the telegram sent more than a week ago to Ottawa asking for the authority of Stuart Henderson, Liberal candidate, for his statement that if the Provincial authorities asked for assistance in the construction of a court house for Victoria that the Federal Government would give it.

When Mr. Henderson made the statement at one of his political meetings, Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Labor, immediately wired to Hon. J. C. Elliott, Minister of Public Works, asking for Mr. Henderson's authority, and requesting details as to how much assistance could be relied upon for the project.

"Ottawa has made no reply," stated one official at the Parliament Buildings today. "Perhaps Mr. Henderson can produce authority for his surprising statement. It is up to him."

Twenty-Seven More Vote at Advanced Poll

The polling at the advanced poll for sailors, commercial travelers and railwaymen, being conducted at 224 Pemberton Building by Returning Officer H. E. A. Courtney, almost doubled yesterday over the previous day. On Thursday fifteen votes were cast, while yesterday twenty-seven persons exercised their franchise.

The poll will be opened at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and will remain open until 10 o'clock.

KOOTENAY IS TO HAVE NEW ELECTRIC PLANT

Big Power Corporation Applies for Approval of Hugo Scheme

Another great hydro-electrical development will be started soon by the West Kootenay Power & Light Company, according to preliminary plans submitted to the Water Board yesterday. The company intends to erect its third big plant on the Kootenay River two miles above Upper Bonnington for an initial development of 30,000 horsepower. It is expected that the company will be given permission to harness the river at this point. The matter will be considered by the Water Board after the usual formalities.

THIRD DEVELOPMENT

With its third plant, the West Kootenay development of the Kootenay River will be one of the most important in Canada. Already it is taking 72,000 horsepower at South Slocan, 60,000 horsepower at Lower Bonnington and 80,000 horsepower at Upper Bonnington.

The new Kootenay River scheme, it was learned, will not affect the company's plans to develop the Pend Oreille River near the United States boundary, and create there one of Canada's greatest single power units.

Major J. C. Macdonald, water controller, today fixed next Wednesday as the date for hearing the company's Pend Oreille application finally. At this hearing the company will seek approval of a scheme which calls for the contruction of two giant dams across the Pend Oreille.

R. B. BENNETT GIVEN OVATION AT MEETING

Premier King's Policies Drove Millions of Men Away From Canada

NORTH BAY, Ont., July 25.—In the Northland of Ontario Hon. R. B. Bennett spoke here tonight, on the close of his seven week's election campaign.

A long procession through the streets of North Bay preceded the opening of the meeting. The Conservative leader tonight spoke in support of Harry Morel, party candidate for Nipissing, who is opposed by J. R. Hurtubise, Liberal.

Mr. Bennett declared the injurious effect of the policies of the Liberal administration were everywhere in evidence. Canadian farmers were denied fair competition, he proceeded, there was industrial depression and unemployment was rampant.

POPULATION LOST

"The worst of all," the Conservative leader exclaimed, "is the loss of our population. We lost 2,500,000 Canadians in these eight years, about half the population of Ontario's; more than the entire population of the city of Montreal." The

NATIONALISTS WILL DECLINE TO PAY TAXES

Wafdists Pass Motion of Nonconfidence in Government of Egypt

HOLD SESSION IN DEFIANCE OF KING

CAIRO, July 26.—Nationalist deputies early today held a secret so-called "Session of Parliament" at the Saadist Club, and passed a motion of nonconfidence in the Government of Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha. The meeting was convened in defiance of King Fuad and the Government.

The Wafdists met under the presidency of Abdel Salaam Fahmy, vice-president of the Chamber of Deputies, which has been adjourned by order of the King.

After the meeting Nahas Pasha, former Premier and Wafdist leader, announced the Nationalists would immediately start a nonco-operation movement, beginning with refusal to pay taxes, much in the same fashion as Mahatma Gandhi did in the Indian civil disobedience campaign.

The deputies read and approved a petition to King Fuad, asking him to convene a special session of Parliament.

The Wafdist executive announced that no further demonstrations would be held today. They regard their secret session, held shortly after midnight, as carrying out their threat to hold a session of Parliament in defiance of King and Cabinet, and have abandoned their project of holding a session in the Parliament Buildings.

As King Fuad had not replied to their petition for a session, this morning's meeting will almost certainly be regarded as illegal and defiant.

control over her tariff. Subject to these considerations, a system of reciprocal trade preferences within the Empire. Briefly stated, such was the policy I advocated and to which I still adhere.

"On March 8, 1902, I declared in the House of Commons that manufacturers in Canada were of as much value to the Empire as manufacturers in Great Britain; and on the public platform I declared that a mill or factory in Canada was worth as much to the Empire as a mill or a factory in Great Britain.

LOYALTY TO EMPIRE

"It is charged that Mr. Bennett's policy is lacking in loyalty to the Empire. If so, I must be classed in the same category. But I am content to leave the record of my devotion to the Empire to the judgment of my fellow countrymen.

"When the British preference was first established, it was argued that a sentimental preference to Canada would result. The Liberal Government discovered that no such sentimental preference had resulted, and in 1902, in a memorandum presented by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Fielding to the British Government, they practically threatened to abolish the preference unless Great Britain would exempt the products of the colonies from customs duties. The record can be seen in Mr Fielding's speech of April 15, 1903, and in my reply of April 17, 1903.

"Reference has been made in a Liberal journal to a speech delivered by me in London on July 31, 1918. The position I then took is perfectly consistent with what I have already said. The people of Great Britain alone must determine the fiscal policy of the United Kingdom; on the other hand, the people of Canada have the same right to control the fiscal policy of our country. No Canadian would desire a British Government to adopt a policy regarded as unfair or oppressive by the British people; on the other hand, a Canadian Government is derelict in its duty unless it safeguards the interests of the Canadian people.

FATAL POLICY

"Any policy that sends abroad raw materials which can be economically utilised in our own industries; any policy that drives our laboring population to seek employment in a foreign county; any policy which sends abroad good Canadian money to pay for articles that can be economically and usefully produced by the labor of our own people and the employment of our own raw materials, is economically unsound and destructive of our country's welfare.

"Any policy that has the effect of driving people out of our country is a most disastrous remedy for unemployment."

JOBLESS LABORERS THREATEN TO HANG TWO WASH. RANCHERS

YAKIMA, Wash., July 25.—Armed with axe handles, hoes and clubs of apple tree wood, sixty or seventy jobless laborers who yesterday attempted to terrorise farmers in the Wapato district, reappeared in that section today and threatened to hang Jesse M. Hatt and Polly Ibatuan, ranchers on the White Bluffs branch road.

After warning the ranchers to get rid of all Filipino labor and hire white men, the demonstrators disappeared in the direction of White Swan. Sheriff's deputies pursued them.

The men traveled in six or seven automobiles and seemed to be commanded by a spokesman aged about twenty-seven years.

D. B. Plunkett Has Solid Backing of Victoria Electors

said Mr. Plunkett, in opening his address, "and with that tribute still ringing in my ears I can safely feel that I shall be your representative again.

"Ex-Premier Stanley Bruce, of Australia, said once that the safety of the economic life of Australia was rooted in the extension of her industries at home, and the development of trade within the Empire on advantageous terms. He said that Australia could afford to give a preference to the Mother Country, where that preference did not conflict with Australian trade, and that that preference should be addressed to those avenues of development which tended to build up Australia first, and not sacrifice her by the promotion of unequal competition at home.

"That is somewhat of a contrast with what was said by Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, who would give preferences regardless of what the effect is on Canada and 'ask nothing in return,'" continued Mr. Plunkett.

CHANGE OF ATTITUDE

Mr. King, the speaker continued, stood convicted out of his own mouth by his statement in 1911, which showed how his sympathies lay at that time. On that occasion, he said, quoting from The Toronto Globe of August 22, 1911, Mr. King had attacked the proposal by Sir Robert Borden to build two warships for the Mother Country, and had asked "if they would return to power a man who proposed to build warships to fight Germany?" This sentiment, continued Mr. Plunkett, had been highly applauded by German sympathizers, and had indicated what Mr King thought of British preference in those days.

"I like to delve into the history of my country," continued Mr. Plunkett. "Sir Robert Borden was endeavoring to get money to build two dreadnoughts as Canada's contribution to the Empire's navy—and that was Mr. King's answer! He did not help to strengthen the British navy at a time when conditions were brewing which led up to the great conflict.

"You know, I don't altogether hold with continual peace conferences as a means of stopping war. I would rather see a few more ships built. There is such a thing as 'safety on the seas,' and that must not be taken too lightly, for it was the men-of-war who brought years of peace and justice to the whole world.

"Now, on the eve of an election and with his back to the wall, and his Government tottering to its doom, Mr. King wants you to indorse him with a new catch-vote policy," continued Mr. Plunkett.

REVENUES SHOW LOSS

"They speak a lot of the Dunning budget. The Dunning budget is in force now, and Canada's revenues have dropped $4,109,393 since it came in. The Dunning budget was to 'help Canada' and to 'help unemployment.' Yet times like these have never been known in Canada at this season of the year, so far as unemployment and general depression goes.

"Mr. King asks: 'What is the status of Canada?' I don't think Great Britain is worrying very much about the status of Canada just now. But Britain is concerned about the manner in which Mr King is taking care of Canada. He says, 'Who will go to London?' I submit that on his showing he is not a fit person to go on behalf of this country.

"It was Mr King who gave the charter to the Beauharnois Power Company, a charter that permitted one man to take out $3,000,000 of a profit and walk away with it. We (the Conservatives) asked for an investigation, but Mr. King said it was not the business of Parliament to have an inquiry. There was no profit in the Beauharnois project until the charter was given, and we are going to see that such a thing does not happen again," he said.

"Then we had the Radio Commission, which traveled up and down and all over the country. It cost thousands of dollars, but nothing has been done about radio control yet. The Beatty Commission for survey of the technical civil service was also launched, but Mr. King did not act on the report—he said he wanted to enlarge the scope of the inquiry into all the civil service.

GOVERNMENT ON WHEELS

"Many of you may not know that the King administration spent $562,000 for automobiles in one year. One of the ministers took an automobile with him to Europe. I suppose he couldn't find any over there," said Mr. Plunkett, amid laughter.

"The Massey Embassy that Canada maintained in the United States," he continued, "cost about $500,000 to instal, and about $100,000 a year to operate. The Tokio Embassy we maintain costs $80,000 a year. Yet the United States minister at Ottawa and his staff cost less than $40,000 a year. Why?

"It was in February, 1924, that Mr King made his famous statement in the House about what should be thought of a man who broke faith with his country. How has he carried out his own words? He and his party were free traders. They preached free trade and reciprocity. When they were forced to the wall and saw themselves doomed in this coming election they preached partial protection. And so Mr. King carries out his faith—his platitudes—and his murmurings.

BLAST IN REVERSE

"Mr. King talked about Hon. R. B. Bennett, saying he would blast a way for Canada's trade. Well, I hope we get a man who will do a little blasting for us. We are tired of those who are blasting people and money by the millions out of the country. It is time we had a leader who will blast the other way.

"I heard Hon. R. B. Bennett stand on the platform and say: 'I am not going up and down the country lying to the people. Everything I have said I propose to put into effect, and I expect my followers to be loyal to me in this.' Now, that is a difference for you, and that is precisely the difference between the two parties asking support at the polls on Monday.

"Mr. King was somewhat hazy about old age pension matters, too. He said that if a pension was a good thing for a man in British Columbia it should be a good thing for a man in Quebec, and that it should be on a national basis. Mr. King's attitude has been that we must not provoke anybody, especially if he lives in Washington. Mr. Bennett intends to provoke somebody, though, but he won't provoke his own people and his own country.

MAKES NO PROMISES

Now, in conclusion, I will say that I shall make no promises beyond the one that I will support my leader faithfully and at all times, and that if the citizens of Victoria request my services in anything that I can justly do for them, and for the good of the country, I will be happy to help them," concluded Mr. Plunkett.

DEALT IN FACTS

Systematically answering charges that the Conservatives were avoiding the major issues by belittling the Liberal platform, through raising the unemployment problem as the chief question of the campaign, Premier Tolmie presented a complete outline of the entire situation. He made no wild statements and left no uncertainties. He presented the facts and asked his audience to act as the jury.

The Premier at the outset declared he would dissociate his remarks from matters of provincial government, except in so far as the province was directly involved. He dealt with the decline in Canadian trade, with particular emphasis on agricultural imports and exports, because that industry still formed the backbone of the country, and he completed his address by summarizing the promises made by Hon. R. B. Bennett.

In opening, Dr. Tolmie urged the electorate to support the candidature of Mr. Plunkett, whom he described as a man proven to be active, energetic, thoroughly Canadian and thoroughly British, and one who had proven his willingness to take part in any work for the uplift of Canada and the British Empire. Mr. Plunkett, he said, would work untiringly in the interests of his constituency and would lead his opponent by "ten lengths to the wire."

The speaker urged his audience, however, to take nothing for granted but enlist the support of friends by telephone and make certain that campers and any others who might neglect to cast their votes put in their appearance at the polls. If this were done, he said, Mr. Plunkett and Mr Dickie would show two record majorities. (Applause.)

KEEP DOLLARS AT HOME

"After nine years of Liberal administration, there is nothing that can revive the country, put new life into the people and restore confidence better than recording a vote for Mr. Bennett and a Conservative Government for the benefit of Canada for the next ten or fifteen years," declared Dr. Tolmie. "I am not going to blame the Liberal Government for the world-wide depression, but they could have kept the dollar at home and insured that it would be kept working."

Dr. Tolmie stated there had been certain talk that the Provincial Government had something to do with an adverse decision of the Supreme Court in connection with the Minimum Wage Act. This, he said, was casting a reflection on the judiciary of Canada, and the talk was too absurd to require an answer. In explanation, he stated, the court had found that the act passed by the former Government had been beyond the scope of the Government in that it undertook to place a minimum wage on certain industries when it should have been confined to occupations. It was for that reason, he said, a new act had been passed and a new board formed, with the same chairman. It was a pioneer piece of legislation and had to operate without precedent. It could not be placed in operation quickly, but progress was being made and the Government was willing to receive suggestions at any time.

EVADED THE ISSUE

Dealing with unemployment, Dr. Tolmie stated that, while Premier King had evaded the problem as an issue, it had been coming for some time. It appeared first in the coal industry on the Atlantic Coast, then in the Crow's Nest and on Vancouver Island. That unemployment was approaching was well known, for advice had been given it would result from slackening of the lumber markets and falling prices for metals.

"No man in Canada did not realise it was coming unless he was blind," the speaker asserted. "The problem is not near at this time by any means, yet Mr. King, at Kamloops recently, said there were three major problems in the election and he did not include unemployment, preferring to regard it as the business of the provincial and municipal governments.

"The first function of a Government, as I see it, is to see that the people are employed at a fair wage. For that reason it is the concern of the Federal Government as well as of the other governments."

Reviewing events which should have brought the attention of Mr. King to the problem, the speaker told of a Winnipeg conference of representatives from Western Canada on Junary 29, 1930, when a resolution was passed stating unemployment had got beyond the powers of the provincial governments, and asking for Federal assistance, particularly for ex-service men.

Then, on February 22, Dr. Tolmie sent a wire to Premier King concurring in a resolution from the Manitoba Government, which drew attention to the severe financial strain arising from unemployment and requested Federal assistance. Two days later he received a reply from the Prime Minister's secretary stating the matter would be given "every consideration."

IS CONSIDERING IT YET

"And he's considering it yet," the speaker interjected, to laughter and applause.

On February 26 J. H. McVety, superintendent of the employment service of Canada in British Columbia, attended an unemployment conference at Ottawa, representing the province. On March 1 the Heaps resolution, demanding that immediate steps be taken to deal with the problem, was voted down by the Liberals, but not with the the support of the Conservatives, Labor, and some of the Independents. On July 22 Mayor Ralph Webb, of Winnipeg, the Premiers of three Western provinces and of Ontario, appealed to Mr. King for assistance in unemployment relief.

"All this, I would think, would be enough to convince Mr. King that unemployment was a serious problem and a major issue," Dr Tolmie remarked grimly, "but still he claimed that no appeal had been made for Federal assistance. He forgets that on February 26 he said he could not understand why aid of the Federal Government was sought in times of slight financial strain, at the same time admitting he had received an appeal from Premier Tolmie."

The speaker stated that on July 18, at North Bay, Ont., Mr. King had charged Conservative provincial Premiers with deliberately withholding funds from unemployment assistance as part of a huge scheme to divert attention from his plans for trade within the Empire.

FACED PROBLEM SQUARELY

While Mr. King was dodging and sidestepping the issue, President Hoover, he said, was facing the situation fairly and squarely. Through Congress he had voted $500,000,000 for roads, trails, harbor improvements and other public works, with the proviso that the states affected share dollar-for-dollar in the expenditures and thus placing $1,000,000,000 at the disposal of the country for assistance in unemployment.

"President Hoover has recognized Federal responsibility and has faced the situation fairly and without hesitation. Mr. King has sidestepped and dodged," Dr. Tolmie charged.

"What right have the provinces to ask for assistance? Simply because it is almost impossible to carry out any proper scheme without Federal assistance. The provinces have no control of immigration; yet we are supposed to provide work for newcomers as well as our own people, whether we can do so or not.

"What is the difference between Mr. King and Mr. Bennett? While the Premier is going from one end of the country to the other quibbling over unemployment, Mr. Bennett has promised to call a special session of Parliament to deal with the situation, if necessary, immediately he is elected. He promises immediate action, while the best Mr. King can do is to promise some sort of conference later on."

ANSWERS KING'S CHARGE

Answering the charge that the province had held up work to increase unemployment and embarrass the Government, Dr. Tolmie outlined what had actually occurred. At the last provincial session Hon. N. S. Lougheed, Minister of Public Works, had warned there would be serious unemployment in logging camps and sawmills. Hon W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines and Labor, had predicted that, due to the low price of metals, many mines on low-grade ore would be forced to shut down, thus throwing hundreds of men out of work. In spite of severe criticism, the largest appropriation in the history of the province was made for public works. The attitude of the Liberals was reflected, the speaker stated, in the action of Hon. Ian Mackenzie, who sponsored a want-of-confidence motion because of the appropriation.

"The result of this appropriation is that public works are being carried on throughout the province, from the forty-ninth parallel to the farthest points north. At Nanaimo and Fernie extra work has been provided and $5,000 extra is being spent at the former city and $11,600 at the other. We are providing a day's work at a fair day's pay. We are establishing no soup kitchens. We do not believe in doles or charity, and the right man wants work and not a hand-out."

"While most of the work is being done on the day labor plan, where contracts have been let we have inserted a clause stating that preference shall be given to local residents. On the P.G.E. we are employing one hundred extra men who otherwise would have been laid off a month ago. Everywhere we are providing as much work as possible, at the same time the province is receiving benefits from the work. We have men employed while all the talking is going on."

GENEROUS DONATIONS

Dealing with "generous" donations Mr. King has given the provinces, Dr. Tolmie stated that the subsidies were fixed at the time of Confederation, and that Mr King had nothing whatever to do with the amounts received by the provinces.

Comparing other donations, the speaker said in 1921 the Conservatives contributed $662,000 to the provinces for highways, while nothing was received from Mr King in 1930. British Columbia received $69,199 for agricultural instruction in 1922 and nothing in 1929-30, and $69,000 was provided for technical education in the same year and nothing last year. Employment offices received $30,000 in 1922, and $18,000 in 1930. In 1922, British Columbia received $207,242 for unemployment relief and nothing last year.

British Columbia received nearly $1,000,000 less last year from the Federal Government than in 1922, in spite of Mr King's generous donations, Dr. Tolmie thundered.

"He was a howling success at emptying the country," declared the speaker, when touching on Hon. Robert Forke's work as Minister of Immigration. He stated that in Mr. Forke's twelve years in the office, $28,000,000 had been spent to bring in 1,083,550 immigrants, while in the same time that number and another 195,000 Canadians had left the country.

DECLINE IN TRADE

Dealing with trade under the Liberal administration, Dr. Tolmie made particular reference to imports and exports of agricultural products, at the same time stating that the value of the farms in the Dominion was one-third that of nine years ago. There had been a decline of 65 per cent in livestock exports. The number of breeding hogs had decreased 15 per cent, while in New Zealand, in the same period, there had been an increase of 30 per cent.

In 1920, Canada supplied 26,000,000 pounds of bacon to the British market and only 2,500,000 pounds last year. In 1920 Denmark supplied 12 per cent of the British demand and in 1929 that small country supplied 60 per cent, taking the trade from Canada.

"There is no doubt Canadian grain made that trade of Denmark possible," he said. "It was fair trade and they earned it, but what they were able to do we should have done."

Imports of lamb and mutton, he said, had grown to 4,000,000 pounds a year, with no export, while ten years ago Canada exported 1,250,000 pounds, with no imports.

Export of eggs dropped from 6,250,000 dozen in 1921 to 782,000 dozen in 1929, Dr. Tolmie stated.

Railway cars used in 1929 for the shipment of livestock numbered 7,000 less than in 1928, and in 1928 the number was 6,000 less than in the previous year. This decrease in the use of railway cars, he said, contributed largely to the fact that 22,000 railway men were unemployed.

"They left the markets open to be enjoyed by others," the speaker declared. "We must go about Empire trade in a systematic manner and a businesslike way. We must make no concessions, and eventually we shall have those who have been hitting at our trade knocking at our doors."

BENNETT AT LONDON

As to who should represent Canada at the Empire Conference this Fall, Dr. Tolmie declared Mr. Bennett was a man of high ability, keen business sense and great education. He was well known in London and would be well received.

"He will command the respect of the conference in a manner that will make all Canada proud of him," the speaker declared to hearty applause.

Touching briefly on other issues, Dr. Tolmie declared Mr. Bennett promised a rail outlet from the Peace River district to the Pacific, whereas Mr. King was going to wait for six months to see what the railways were going to do about it. Mr. Bennett promised nationalization of old age pensions in order that old people everywhere in the Dominion might enjoy the same privileges. This, he said, would mean an annual saving of $630,000 to British Columbia.

Mr Bennett promised to assist in the construction of highways, and Dr. Tolmie drew attention to the fine highways in the State of Washington, which were the result of Federal assistance. Mr. Bennett would assist, also, in technical education, another benefit to all, the speaker stated.

TOOK FALSE CREDIT

Brig.-Gen. J. A. Clark gave the audience the inside story of the pension revision for returned soldiers, and showed that the giving of the benefit of the doubt in all borderline cases in favor of the returned man was the result of the combined action of the House, carried out in a nonpartisan way.

The proposals, he said, had been drafted by the special committee which had between fifteen and twenty Conservative returned soldiers and five Liberal returned soldiers as members. The committee had acted in the matter in an absolutely nonpartisan way, and had been unanimous in its finding. The speaker scored Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King for seeking to take credit for this redress of pension problems affecting the veterans, in the face of Hansard and of the memory of the last session of Parliament.

"As this is still the open season, I would like to take another shot at Mr. King," continued Brigadier-General Clark. "Mr King stated in February, and it's in Hansard for all the world to read, that there was no unemployment problem, that we had no right to call it so, and that everything was prosperous! He said that there had been no representations made, and that there were no delegates from the provinces at the unemployment conference.

"I was there when the delegation came to see Mr King and his Cabinet. They crowded them into a small room off the Privy Council Chamber."

C. H. DICKIE IS CONFIDENT OF PARTY VICTORY

Candidate Contrasts Policies Pursued in United States and Canada

LINDLEY CREASE IS SPEAKER AT SIDNEY

Nearing the close of his campaign, C. H. Dickie, the Conservative candidate for Nanaimo, made a strong appeal for the suffrage of the residents of Sidney and vicinity last night. An ardent supporter of protecting the home industries, and the employment of the sons and daughters of Canada in their homeland, he sees in the signs of the election a return to power of the Conservative party and the realization of his hopes. It was therefore a heartfelt appeal that he made to the electorete, that he might be permitted to see smokestacks dotting the country instead of following a policy of dependence upon the United States.

In contrasting the policies of the two countries Mr. Dickie called attention to the course of the United States in setting aside $500,000,000 for the stabilizing of the agricultural conditions in the country. That immense sum was being spent with the avowed intention of constituting pools whereby farm production would be stablized as to price.

In addition to this there was consideration being given by the Government of that country looking to the appropriation of $1,000,000,000 for the purpose of stabilizing the industrial end of the business. The United States, in a time of prosperity, had replenished its treasury and was able to do these things. The country had passed through a period of prosperity and was preparing to adopt means for the rapid return of such conditions

POLICY OF DRIFT

The policy of drift on the part of the Liberal Government of Canada was in strange contrast with this. This Dominion had idly stood by and watched the resources of the country transported in a raw condition to the United States. It had not raised its hand to prevent the leaving of native Canadians to follow these products to the other side of the boundary line and there take part in the manufacture of them into the finished products, which in many instances were shipped back to Canada with the cost of fabrication and profits therefrom added, and which was paid by Canada.

The Dominion, he pointed out, was buying from the United States $900,000,000 worth of goods in the course of a year, and of this there was no reason why $500,000,000 worth should not have been manufactured within the Dominion, thus keeping raw material here and Canadian workmen to fabricate it.

It was his hope, said Mr. Dickie, to see the time when this condition of affairs would be righted and Canadians would think in terms of Canada. The tremendous resources of the country, if they were properly administered, were such as to make Canada one of the greatest countries in the world.

In the face of the example set by other nations it was utter folly on the part of the Liberal Government to refuse to accept the policy of protection. He was glad to feel that the time was now approaching when Hon. R. B. Bennett would be able to take over the conduct of affairs and a new condition of things would prevail.

Before attending the meeting in Sidney, Mr. Dickie addressed a very well attended and attentive meeting at James Island. This meeting commenced at 7 o'clock.

MR. CREASE'S ADDRESS

Before the candidate's arrival at the Sidney meeting, Lindley Crease, K.C., of this city, addressed the gathering on the questions of the day.

Mr. Crease pointed out that in building up the Empire in a co-operative way it was necessary that each part of the great commonwealth should look first to its own interests. In this way the Empire as a whole would be best balanced up and maintained. This policy was true with respect to the provinces of the Dominion. The residents of each province thought first of that province, while at the same time remembering the common good of the whole Dominion. From this the duty went to thinking of one's own Dominion in the upbuilding of the Empire as a whole.

Canada, he contended, stood in need of a constructive policy such as Mr. Bennett was advocating. He favored a protective policy which would rectify the situation which existed in the Dominion where only 33 per cent of the goods used in the country were of home manufacture. The remainder was imported.

Mr. Crease went into some features of the Liberal policy which affected the local industries, including that of the fruitgrowing line. The absence of antidumping legislation on the part of the Government had meant disaster to many of the producers in the district. It was also true of the egg industry and the dairy production. These had been sacrificed, he showed, and Canada had been the loser.

He spoke highly of the ability of Mr. Dickie as a representative and urged the electorate to cast their ballots in favor of him and of the Conservative cause.

Mr. Dickie will conclude his campaign this evening at his home city of Duncan, where he will address the electorate and remain over for election day.

Plans Laid for Pure Seed Rally At Point Grey

Plans are all laid for the pure seed rally to be held on August 1 at the U.B.C. Farm, Point Grey. One hundred and twenty boys and girls, members of the junior agricultural clubs of the Langley district, will attend. Indications are that many farmers of the Fraser Valley will avail themselves of this opportunity to visit the experimental seed plots of the college farm and to have the various phases of the work explained by experts in charge.

Those assisting with the programme are Hon. William Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture; President L. S. Klinck, University of British Columbia, Dean F. M. Clement, University of British Columbia; J. B. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture; C. Rice, field crops commissioner; E. M. Straight, superintendent, Dominion Experimental Station, Sidney; W. H. Hicks, superintendent, Dominion Experimental Farm, Agassiz; George McMeans, Dominion Seed Branch, Vancouver, R. O. Sutton, district agriculturist, New Westminster, and Dr O. O. Moe, University of British Columbia.

SETTLERS OF PEACE RIVER ARE PRIASED

OPPORTUNITIES FOR YOUNG PEOPLE MANY

POUCE COUPE, July 25.—Because he wished to see the "glorious Peace River country and the block which has just been returned to our province" as the reason for the visit this week to the Peace River by Hon. R. Randolph Bruce, Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, he stated in speaking at a well-attended banquet here under the auspices of the Pouce Coupe Chamber of Commerce. This is the first time that a Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia has visited the Peace River block.

"The people who are building up this country are really Empire builders; our ports are merely the outlets for what is produced in the Interior," said the Lieutenant-Governor.

EYES TURNED TO NORTH

"I have just got back from the Old Country, where I was asked about the Peace River country, and I wanted to be in a position to answer at first hand. Many eyes are turned to the North today, not only by Canadians, but by Old Country people.

"There are as great—if not greater—opportunities for a young man here as perhaps in another part of the country. It being a comparatively new country. The more one penetrates it the more one realizes what a wonderful country we have in British Columbia. You in here have done a great deal, and you certainly startled the world when the Peace River country won the world's prize for wheat, and the same farmer also won the first prize for oats. The Peace River country derived the greatest possible amount of publicity from these achievements.

TWO GREAT EVENTS

"Two great events have happened in the history of the Peace River block this year. First, the block has become part of British Columbia and will form the Peace River district; second, the Northern Alberta railways being built through to Pouce Coupe. We feel certain that the time is not far distant when you will see a complete outlet to the Pacific (applause). It will be a wonderful thing when we get direct access to the Coast. The province is importing up to $22,000,000 worth of farm produce every year; $8,000,000 worth of beef and beef products; $6,000,000 to $7,000,000 worth of dairy products, all of which can be produced in the province, and in addition we can become an exporting country.

"I most sincerely thank you for your welcome and hospitality," he said. "I hope you will reap the reward you so richly deserve. May the sun of prosperity continue to shine on you, and may health, wealth, peace and contentment be yours."

Walter Clayton presided at the banquet, and other speakers were: M. S. Morrell, Government agent, Pouce Coupe; James Travis, district agriculturist, and J. W. Berry, M.P.P., who is here viewing conditions on behalf of Premier S. F. Tolmie.

GUESTS OF CHAMBER

Other guests present were: A. M. D. Fairbairn, secretary to His Honor, Mrs. Walter Clayton, Mr. and Mrs. James Travis, Mrs. M. S. Morrell, Dr and Mrs. E. Watson, Dean Procter, Rev. Mr Rogers and Mrs Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. A. Chalmers, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Tuck, A. Fisher, L. P. MacRae, Norman Dow, J. H. Clark, T. F. Haksins and L. A. Christian.

This morning's programme is much more formal in character. Opening at 9 o'clock, it will be addressed by Mayor Anscomb, who is extending greetings on behalf of the city, and in the course of the morning the following speakers will be heard: R. J. Sprott, of Vancouver, head of the Sprott-Shaw Schools of Vancouver and Victoria, who will talk on "Effective Methods of Teaching English"; Mrs. F. E. Raymond, of San Francisco, whose subject has been arranged "For Those Who Have 'Had' English"; P. E. Curry, of the San Francisco Publishing Company, who will "Look at the Northwest Through the Eyes of a School Man"; W. B. Barger, of Tacoma, who is to talk on "Greater Profits Through Smaller Advertising and Selling Costs"; J. J. Oinsta, of Tacoma, "Business College Ethics"; Fred L. Ulen, of Lewiston, Idaho, "The Influence of Temperament in Employment."

IS OPTIMISTIC

C. E. V. Porter, secretary of the National Association, who addressed yesterday's midday gathering, struck a definitely optimistic tone. Coming from New York State, also on the New York State Legislature, and therefore closely in touch with the financial pulse in America, he was listened to with especially keen interest when he spoke confidently about the business outlook in the United States at the present time. Things were rapidly righting themselves, he said, and the future was not nearly so black as some pessimists would like one to believe. Mr. Porter's subject was double-titled, "The Financial Situation in This Country, and Promotion of Better Standards for Business Education." Under the second he gave the origin and history of business education as it is known to the modern business world, and paid special tribute to the two great pioneers of business education in the United States, Mr. Packard and Mr. Miller. It was quite apparent from the character of Mr. Porter's talk that business education is his special hobby.

A. E. Kane, of Spokane, president of the association, was in the chair at this meeting and Charles Walker, secretary of the N.A.A.C.S., acted as secretary. Among the more distinguished other guests who were present were Charles Walker, of the Northwest Business College, Portland; I. W. Walker, of the Behuka-Walker Business College, Portland; William Knapp Knox Modern Business College, Tacoma (Mr. Knapp is also chairman-elect of the Western Division of the National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools); A. A. Peterson, of Wilson's Modern Business College, Seattle, Mrs. Rogers, of Everett Business College; W. Griffin, of the Griffin-Murphy School, Seattle; Miss Douglas, Metropolitan Business College, Seattle; Mrs. Williams, Success Business College, Bellingham; C. E. Curry, of the San Francisco Publishing Company; H. Hyatt, who is connected with a Seattle publishing company, W. C. Wright, of La Salle Extension University, Chicago; Mrs. F. E. Raymond, of San Francisco, representative of the Western Division of the National Association in seven foreign countries; Mrs. Kane, of Spokane, and J. H. Beatty, of Victoria.

A NEW DEVICE

During the morning demonstrations were given of the "stenotype," a new device for taking shorthand.

BRITISH C. E. IS GROWING

Although the Christian Endeavor movement has about spent itself in Canada, the recent convention at Northampton, in England, showed an increase of 303 new societies, with a membership of 8,400, during the past year. The same rate of growth is being maintained annually in spite of the shrinkage in church membership and decline in Sunday school attendance. A great procession of witness, led by the president, was accompanied by three brass bands and extended over a mile. The pledge commits the members to attend the weekly devotional service and to take some part in the monthly covenant meeting. The eighth convention of the World Christian Endeavor Union will be held in Berlin, Germany, August 5 to 11.

GREAT BRITAIN OR U.S.A.?

The figures of the Federal Department of Trade and Commerce afford the most conclusive answer to the latter-day, pre-election protestations of the Liberal Government at Ottawa that it prefers to trade within the Empire rather than with the United States. Its alleged preference in this regard is by no means borne out by the results of the fiscal policies it has devised during the past nine years. On the contrary, the massed preferences have always been in the direction of fostering trade with the United States, and more particularly in giving our neighbors larger and larger opportunities to sell their goods in Canada. Here are figures which show trade trends in imports under the Mackenzie King regime.

The foregoing figures are some of hundreds which might be quoted to show that the tendency of the Liberal Government has been to trade with the United States. So much so has this been the case that American sales in Canada have risen from $515,958,196 in 1922 (when the Liberals took office) to $868,012,229 in 1929. The Liberals have made this Dominion the best customer of the United States. This is the boast of the people of the United States. They have no fear whatever that their trade with Canada will suffer so long as Mr. Mackenzie King holds office. On the contrary, they regard our Prime Minister as the best fiscal friend they have among the nations of the world. The figures quoted and the perennial attitude of Mr. Mackenzie King towards fiscal developments must be taken into consideration. The evidence of the Liberal desire to trade with the United States, as opposed to the development of trade within the Empire, is apparent so that all who run may read.

NANAIMO AND COMOX-ALBERNI

The campaigns carried on by Mr. C. H. Dickie and Mr. Thomas Graham, the Conservative candidates in Nanaimo and Comox-Alberni respectively, have involved a great deal of hard work. The electoral districts are large, sparsely settled in parts and with diversified interests. Every credit is due to the energy displayed by the Conservative candidates. They deserve well at the hands of their respective electors, and they are men who command confidence on Vancouver Island and much farther afield.

Mr. Dickie, who is again seeking the representation of Nanaimo, is an experienced parliamentarian, having sat at Ottawa for the past nine years. He is thoroughly equipped for parliamentary duties, has been active throughout his political career in the interests of the Nanaimo electoral district and is appealing again for support with an assurance that the Conservative cause throughout the Dominion is much stronger than it has been for a long number of years. Mr. Dickie's personality has been one of the factors in his uniform political success. It is again standing him in good stead, and coupled with it is the strength of the policies that he endorses and their appeal to such a constituency as Nanaimo. With so many other parts of Canada Nanaimo has suffered because of the existing depression. Mr. Dickie, as a supporter of Mr. R. B. Bennett, has pointed the way to prosperity by fiscal legislation designed to wipe out existing ills. He is a keen student of the doctrine of Protection, and a substantial believer in its efficacy as a solvent of many of the present handicaps under which the Dominion labors. Nanaimo will make no mistake in again endorsing Mr. Dickie and in giving him an even larger majority than he achieved in 1926.

Mr. Thomas Graham, who is fighting for the Conservatives in Comox-Alberni, is a newcomer to the political field, but he is a well-known resident of Vancouver Island. Owing to his long association with the coal industry he has a more than usually deep knowledge of economic affairs and this he has illustrated in the course of his election campaign. His candidature has been received with enthusiasm. His meetings have been largely attended. His personal characteristics have made a deep impression on the people of Comox-Alberni. He has waged a stout fight and he can look back on his campaign without a single misgiving. Conservatives throughout the country wish him the success he deserves. Comox-Alberni has for too long failed to fall into line with the rest of Vancouver Island in its Federal outlook. The opportunity it now has of electing a representative of the calibre of Mr. Graham should not be missed. It would be an excellent thing if, in view of the conditions that exist and the problems that face the Dominion, British Columbia made itself unanimous in support of Mr. R. B. Bennett in the policies he has enunciated for the restoration of our prosperity.

FISCAL PATRIOTISM

The election of Monday next should arouse the patriotic conscience of all self-respecting Canadians. This country has got to take a definite step in self-defence to prevent the Dominion from becoming an economic appendage of the United States. The fiscal policies of the past nine years have made Canada the Tom Tiddler's ground for American manufacturers. The United States sell us $870,000,000 worth of goods annually. A very substantial proportion of these could be produced at home and the money spent on them kept in circulation in the country. Because they are not produced here means not only unemployment in the Dominion but emigration of hundreds of thousands of our citizens because denied the opportunity of earning a living at home.

We have the friendliest of possible relations with the United States, but that constitutes no reason why we should render ourselves in any way fiscally dependent on that country. Mr. Mackenzie King does not believe in giving fiscal offence to our neighbor. He has carried this doctrine to an extent which means he has legislated in the interests of American manufacturers. Our own industries have suffered in proportion. The results have been an exodus of our people to the United States and a growing unemployment problem at home. What a travesty these occurrences are on the type of fiscal statesmanship displayed at Ottawa. What a tragedy they constitute for Canada.

This country, as fortunate as any on earth because of its wealth of natural resources, sees its citizenship dwindle, its markets invaded by foreign manufacturers of products which abound at home and could just as easily be manufactured here, and many thousands of our people searching in vain for work. Is this the character of economic governance that Canada wants? The voters can perpetuate these conditions by endorsing Mr. Mackenzie King at the polls. On the other hand, they can effect a notable change and build up Canada for Canadians by putting Mr. R. B. Bennett in power. The Conservatives are still one hundred per cent strong for the National Policy of Sir John A. Macdonald, which is the foundation stone of the structure of the prosperity of the Dominion.

AMERICAN PREFERENCES

We are told with an unction that were it not so palpably absurd might hoodwink the people that the Liberal Government's policy is "to shut out goods of foreign countries which erect tariff barriers shutting out Canadian goods." During the Liberal regime at Ottawa the Federal Government of the United States has raised tariffs against this country on three separate occasions. The Fordney tariff legislation alone shut out our exports to the United States to the value of $100,000,000. Far from retaliating, by "shutting out" American goods, preferences were given to these.

The figures speak for themselves. Our imports from the United States were: In 1922, $515,958,196, 1923, $540,989,738, 1924, $610,256,447 and in 1929, $868,012,229. The longer Mr. Mackenzie King has been in office the greater the volume of purchases this country has made in the United States. The more the Americans have raised their tariffs against Canada the more Mr. Mackenzie King hath given his cheek to him that smiteth him.

Lest you should think he never could recapture
The first fine, careless rapture."

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

I have done the State some service, and they know it;
No more of that. I pray you in your letters,
When you shall these unlucky deeds relate,
Speak of me as I am, nothing extenuate.
—Othello.

One more day and the hurly-burly will be done and the battle fought and won. All will be over except the shouting. What has been described as the most momentous political campaign in the history of Canada did not appear as if it were going to be very exciting until the big guns began to boom. Right Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King opened the proceedings with some speeches which were as nice and polite and ineffective as the speeches he usually makes when he addresses audiences upon abstract subjects having no special application to anything in particular. The Premier was calm and unmoved because of an apparent conviction that his administration was as secure as the rock of Gibraltar.

There were no personal references nor no bitter recriminations in any of Mr. King's first speeches. But when he had covered a large portion of the country the shock of discovery that public sentiment was plainly hostile and that when the time for shouting came, the plaudits of the multitude might be more of the nature of a solemn funeral note than a paean of victory, then his equanimity was disturbed and he began to say things about his political opponents that were not quite worthy of a statesman. The Premier had lost all his suavity, his poise, his confidence; even his dignity. As in the case of the notorious nickel speech in Parliament, he lost control of his temper completely and became indiscreet. He called the leader of the Opposition a Mussolini and the leader of the Ontario Government a humbug and a disloyal subject of the Empire. Mr. Bennett paid no attention whatever to such recrimination. He treated the extraordinary charge with contempt, probably because he made allowance for the condition of the mind of the man.

But Mr. Ferguson's provocation was greater and he accepted the challenge of the Premier. Speaking at Hamilton, Ont., he said: "It ill becomes a man who spent the years of the war working in the United States to cast aspersions on the loyalty of men who never worked for anyone outside Canada." The increased British preference provided by the King Government was described by Mr. Ferguson as a "humbug, intended to deceive the people." In his "panic" Premier King had "given up following the Stars and Stripes and was going to get into the procession and follow the Union Jack."

"Mr. King," said the Ontario Premier, "asks where Ferguson, the great patriot, stands on the issue of Empire trade. I challenge anyone to compare my record with Mackenzie King's and see where I have always stood and where I stand today.

"I have lived all my life in Canada. I have always worked in Canada. I have never worked an hour for anyone outside of Canada. I have got that much of a start on Mackenzie King.

"When our fellows were over there in France and Flanders, taking all the risk fighting for John Bull, this fellow King was working for Rockefeller. When our fellows were getting $1.10 a day in mud and blood and in suffering, he was getting almost $1.10 a minute writing a book in somebody's back parlor.

"I do not want to cast any reflections on anyone," Premier Ferguson stated, "but I resent it when a man like Mackenzie King casts reflections on my loyalty or my fidelity to the Empire."

Now while speeches like that remind us of the old times when politicians fought without gloves and handled one another roughly, we have lived so long in Victoria, where the people prefer tranquility to turbulence, that we are inclined to deprecate such retorts, even though the provocation be great and the temptation irresistible. And the charge of disloyalty was not the sole provocation. Mr. King has always resented Mr. Ferguson's position as a public man. He resented the election of Mr. Ferguson as the leader of a Tory Government. He was deeply resentful when Mr. Ferguson as the strong leader of a powerful Tory Government threw his hat into the political ring and alongside the leader of the Federal Tory Opposition challenged the position of Mr. King as leader of a Liberal Government. Mr. King is in a panic at the prospects of the election on Monday and his attack on Mr. Ferguson was precipitated in his panic.

And the panic of the Premier is not the whole of the story of the panic. The panic has permeated the whole of the body of the Liberals from one end of Canada to the other. It has affected the whole of the battle line. It is not particularly noticeable in Victoria, for we are slow in our reaction to emotions. We met the candidate of the Liberal party on the streets of Victoria the other morning, and he appeared to be cheerful and optimistic as to the result. But that is one of the characteristics of Mr. Henderson. He has been so successful in the cases he carries to the Bar of the Courts that he believes he cannot fail when he carries a case to the Court of Public Opinion, but the present case is one which must be determined upon facts, not upon subtle technicalities. If the resourceful and astute lawyer believes that the construction of a new court house in Victoria depends upon the continuation in power of the Government of Right Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, we venture to predict that for a very long time Mr. Henderson will plead all his legal cases in the old court house.

Considering the turn events have taken, we shall be glad when the election is over. And we notice that writers for many newspapers are delighted at the immediate prospects of having something more inspiring to discuss than politics. Three of the Toronto newspapers already have turned from politics to pies and strawberry shortcakes, such as mother used to make, and juicy melons such as father used to grow. They declare that pies and cakes are not what they used to be; that even the deep apple pie as it is made today is but a poor thing compared with pies of ancient days. But what do they know about real pies, those hungry editors of the East? Have they ever tasted a deep loganberry, a deep blackberry or a deep apple pie made of fruit picked in their own back gardens? They have not, and they never will until they come to British Columbia, where everything is just right and sound digestion waits upon good appetite.

The Rhyming Optimist

NEVER ALONE

Never alone you go,
Never alone,
For every road you know
Others have known.
Others have set their feet
In those same ways,
Others had dreams as sweet
To bless their days.

Never alone in mirth,
Singing or tears;
All men upon the earth
Share changeful years.
And it is sweet to know,
In love or toil,
All men alike must go
On common soil.

Never alone, but part
Of one great band.
Cheered that each brother's heart
Can understand.

BROKEN PLEDGES

Sir,—I would like to quote to you the yearly averages from the official records of the Federal Department of Labor on the cost of living under the Mackenzie King regime. They were:

1924	$20.70
1928	$21.27

When Mr. Mackenzie King appealed to be returned to power in 1921 at the close of the post-war inflation of prices, he pledged himself to reduce the cost of living. The figures show how his pledge was not redeemed.

His pledge for reform of the Senate is another one that has been broken. On June 4, 1926, Mr. Arthur Meighen asked in Parliament "If anything was to be done about Senate reform that session." The reply of the Prime Minister was as follows:

"I might say to my right hon. friend that the Government would not like to prolong the session unduly by introducing the subject of Senate reform at this stage."

Again, in 1928, Mr. J. S. Woodsworth, late Labor member for Winnipeg Centre, asked if it was the intention of the Government to take any action looking to the reform of the Senate. The answer was that there was no notice of a question dealing with the appointment of Liberal Senators. Thus the matter was again shelved.

The record of the Government in this and other matters is one of unredeemed promises. I would suggest that on Sunday, the eve of the election, the ministers in our churches should take as their text that saying from Sermon on the Mount: "Do unto others as you would they should do unto you." Then the people of the Dominion, including the poor and lowly unemployed, will know how to deal with Mr. Mackenzie King.

WALTER INWARD.

LIBERAL TACTICS

"Since I commented briefly, a couple of weeks ago, on rumors that Liberal campaigners in Quebec were seeking to revive the conscription issue by manufacturing the spectre of a war in India, these rumors unfortunately have been confirmed. And the regrettable part of it is that this method of electioneering is not confined to back-benchers from the House of Commons and other insignificant candidates, but is indulged in by ministers of the Crown and members of the Senate of Canada. Reports in the Montreal press of campaign speeches reveal the lengths to which some of Mr. King's colleagues do not hesitate to go to incite racial prejudice and distract attention from the real issues of the election. Mr. Bennett is being called an 'Imperialistic serpent,' and the French-Canadian electors are being told that should he be returned to power they will become 'serfs of the British,' and that Canada will revert to the status of a colony. It is being solemnly stated to them that were he Prime Minister their sons would be carried off to fight a British war in India. And yet Liberal Cabinet ministers talk of their desire to promote harmony in Canada."

Only a few short weeks ago Mr. Mackenzie King told us that he and his party stand for the Imperial connection, and that it was Mr. Bennett who is opposed to it. It appears that in Quebec his Cabinet colleagues are telling the French-Canadians that it is Mr. Bennett who stands for the British connection, and the Liberals who are opposed to it. No doubt in the Prairies, where the population is mainly from Southern Europe, he will tell the people of the reduction in the tariffs on over 200 items of American imports, and in the section where the British preponderate he will point out the same number of items where the British preferential rates have been reduced, but he will forget to mention that, at the same time, he has also reduced the rates on imports from the United States, so that actually the British preference remains the same.

When he gets to Ontario he will be able to find a number of items in the Dunning budget where the tariffs have been increased, but he will omit to say that there are many items where both the British preferential and the tariffs on United States goods have been reduced, in some cases as much as 18 per cent, so that the Ontario manufacturing interests will be thrown open to further competition by the American manufacturers.

Truly, the Dunning budget has been a wonderfully "scientific" budget, for it has sought to fool all sections. He got away with it in 1925, but the question is, can he get away with this this time? You know what the late Abraham Lincoln said: "You may fool all the people some of the time; you may fool some of the people all the time, but you cannot fool all the people all the time."

Can we trust the destiny of Canada to a man who is so slippery, and who is such an adept at duplicity?

This Week's Great Day

July 26—The Darien Expedition

Two hundred and thirty-two years ago, on July 26, 1698, the Darien expedition sailed from Leith, Scotland, with the object of establishing a Scottish colony on the Isthmus of Darien, which is the eastern portion of the narrow neck of land connecting Central and South America.

The original promoter of the ill-fated scheme was William Paterson, who had played a prominent part in the founding of the Bank of England, and his idea was to build up trading ports on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts, and to construct a road between them across the isthmus. This would permit the rich products of Asia being landed at the Pacific port, carried overland to the Atlantic, and there placed on ships sailing to Europe; thus avoiding the long and perilous voyage around the Cape of Good Hope, and effecting a considerable saving of time and money. For the purpose of the project Paterson secured a charter from the Scottish Parliament in 1695 to form a trading company, and this charter was formally ratified by William III of England. At first nothing was mentioned as to the company's intention of taking possession of the isthmus of Darien, which belonged to Spain, although the Spaniards had never made any attempt to colonise the spot owing to the deadly nature of its climate during a part of each year. When the real purpose of the company became known, the whole project was repudiated by the English King and Government, neither of whom had any desire to involve their country in a war with Spain, but they were powerless to prevent the company from proceeding with its scheme, as it was operating under a patent granted by the Scottish Parliament.

ENTHUSIASTICALLY RECEIVED

The project was taken up enthusiastically by the Scottish people, who regarded the English attitude as trade jealousy, and they eagerly subscribed the £200,000 asked for by the company. Twelve hundred persons sailed away on the expedition, which reached the isthmus in the month of November, a period of the year when the climate was cool and healthy, and the ships returned to Scotland with glowing accounts of the country and the wonderful prospects of the company.

At first all went well with the settlers at Darien, but in a short time the arrival of the hot season brought with it fever and pestilence, which exacted a heavy death toll among the colonists, who were finally compelled to abandon their settlement. In June, 1699, they embarked on three ships, and after a terrible voyage, during which the majority of the survivors died, a mere handful of emaciated men landed at New York.

SECOND EXPEDITION SENT

In the meantime a second expedition had been fitted out in Scotland, and this arrived at Darien four months after the first settlers had left. The newcomers, 1,200 in number, fared even worse than their predecessors, for they had expected to find a flourishing colony awaiting them, and were but scantily provided with the necessities of life. It was, however, again the cool season when they landed, and the disappointed men commenced to rebuild the deserted settlement, but the approach of Summer once more brought sickness in its train, and it soon became apparent that the second group of colonists would also have to make its choice between death and flight.

This inevitable end was hastened by the arrival of a Spanish fleet and, after a feeble resistance, the settlers were compelled to make terms with the rightful owners of the isthmus, and quit the pestilential spot. Thus ended the Darien expedition, which ruined thousands of Scottish families, who had invested all their savings in the ill-fated project.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt Drydock at any tide, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Songhees drydock add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

A radio programme of interest to all Scotsmen and many others will be broadcast from KOMO, Seattle, at 2.45 p.m. today, in the form of a Burns concert. It will include the reading of the article which Robert Burns wrote on his attitude towards the American Revolution.

First Classman—Well, dearest, what did your father say when he found that I wanted to marry you?

She—At first he demurred because he didn't want to lose me, but I explained that he could have me, and that he would have you to boot.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of July 26, 1880.)

A London newspaper says that in the English metropolis round-shouldered young men, who walk with bent knees and a sort of crab-like movement, are frequently met on the streets. The deformity is said to be caused by the use of bicycles.

At San Francisco, on the 22nd inst., there was formed a combination, to go into effect August 1, raising the price of coal 50 cents per ton. The retailer who departs from this standard to be fined $50 for the first offence, $100 for the second and for the third will be debarred from procuring coal from any wholesale yard.

The annual picnic of the Ancient Order of Foresters will take place on Saturday, July 31, at the picnic grounds, Cook Street. A spacious platform has been erected for dancing, and an efficient band will be in attendance. During the day a grand tombola will take place. The prices of tickets will be 12 cents each.

Gandhi Interviewed By Moderate Leaders

POONA, India, July 26.—Mahatma, Indian Nationalist leader, today again saw Sir Teu Bahadur Sapru and M. Jayakar, Liberal leaders, who have been trying to bring a settlement of the civil disobedience campaign. The two Liberals had a conversation lasting more than four hours with Gandhi yesterday, but thus far have refused to reveal the outcome of the conversations.

Suspension, on certain conditions, of the Indian civil disobedience campaign is believed to have been suggested by Mahatma Gandhi in a letter confided to Sir Tej Badhadur Sapru and M. Jayakar, Liberal leaders who visited him in Yeroda prison.

MAHATMA'S FRIENDS DO NOT EXPECT ANY CHANGE IN CAMPAIGN

BOMBAY, India, July 25.—Indian politicians who know the Mahatma Gandhi intimately today foresaw nothing but long negotiations growing out of the visit of the Sapru-Jayakar commission to the "holy one" in the Yeroda jail, which led a long discussion and the writing of a letter to the leader Nehru, at Allahabad.

The opinion was ventured by observers Gandhi did not commit himself to any cessation, compromise or change of the campaign of civil disobedience which his salt raids beginning in March set in motion.

"CHINESE VILLAIN" PAYS BRIEF VISIT

Oriental Film Star on Way to Hollywood to Play in "East Is West"

Sojin Kamiyama, one of the outstanding Oriental stars in the motion picture business, was on board the Empress of Canada when she touched at Victoria late yesterday afternoon.

Mr Kamiyama, who, although he is Japanese by birth, has chiefly been east as a villainous Chinese character in American films, is a small man, quietly dressed in orthodox European clothes, the only Oriental touch in his equipment being furnished by a magnificent cane of carved ebony, from which he is reported to be inseparable.

He will be remembered as "the sinister Chinaman" in several of the films, which have been shown in Victoria during the past twelve months. His performance in "Seven Steps to Satan," and in talking film, "Welcome Danger," which featured Harold Lloyd, and was concerned with the Oriental underworld of San Francisco, will not easily be forgotten.

Mr. Kamiyama, on the deck of an ocean liner, and Mr. Kamiyama as a bloodthirsty ruffian, decorated with weapons as a Christmas tree is decorated with candles, are two very different people. He has a thin, somewhat aesthetic face, with high cheekbones and rather mournful brown eyes.

He has just sailed from Tokio after a six months' stay in Japan, and is now on his way to Hollywood to take part in the making of a new Universal picture, "East Is West," which will be directed by Mr. Montabell. In September he will return to Japan, where he will play the lead in a picture, whose title, translated as nearly as possible into the English language, will be "Law Must Have Human Qualities."

Immediately after the completion of this picture, Mr. Kamiyama proposes to take a holiday in Europe, where, to use his own expression, "I intend to be 'It,' and to do no work for some time."

SAY ORGANIZED LABOR IS SICK OF KING GOV'T

B.C. PREMIER URGES CHANGE AT OTTAWA

LANGLEY PRAIRIE, July 25.—Speaking at a well attended meeting here Thursday night in support of W. G. McQuarrie, candidate in New Westminster, Premier Tolmie said that he knew of nothing that would put more "pep" into the people and restore their confidence than a change of Government.

In advancing the Conservative policy of protection, he stated that Russia, with its cheap massed production, was flooding the markets. He said that competent engineers from the United States were now employed in that country, and the output in tractors was estimated at 100,000, which would account for the ploughing of many acres. In Russia, coal was dug by the women, the regular wages of a Russian being 54 cents a day. It was small wonder that they lived on candle soup.

Accusing Premier King with general laxity in watching the interests of the people of Canada, Premier Tolmie said that the former had permitted coal to be shipped into Montreal, while very depressed times were being experienced by Canadian coal miners. The Conservative party had worked against unfair Oriental competition, Premier Tolmie said, and he quoted Lord Derby as saying that he thought some form of protection was necessary to protect the worker and the farmer.

Mr. McQuarrie read a telegram from Hon. R. B. Bennett to the effect that the people of Canada had turned against the policy of Premier King. George H. Hardy, former councillor in South Vancouver and late organizer for the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said that in his trips across Canada he had found that organized labor was heartily sick of the King administration, and the feeling among workers in this respect had brought him out on the Conservative platform, although he was not a Conservative and belonged to no party.

Mrs. Reese Burns strongly advocated a change of Government and made a slashing attack on Premier King, whom she charged with insincerity of purpose and political dishonesty.

DAVIES PARTY NOT IN DANGER

put the party on the boat, and who has the party's exact itinerary day by day, stated to The Colonist last evening that Dr. Davies and his companions left the earthquake zone three or four days ago, and, as they were not due to leave Venice until Thursday, July 24, the date of the hurricane at Treviso, which caused several deaths and blew down hundreds of homes, he is certain they would be routed north to Austria via Trieste in order to avoid all possibility of misadventure. Had they not reached Innsbruck, Austria, at the appointed date, July 25, he is certain Victoria would have had information to this effect from the Innsbruck representatives of the Chicago & Milwaukee Railway.

NO MISHAP

"I am absolutely positive that none of the members of the party have met with mishap or suffered in any way by the Italian disaster," Mr Marshall insists. "Had any misadventure overtaken any of them I am confident the Chicago & Milwaukee Railway people would have been notified immediately. Friends here may feel perfectly assured that Dr. Davies and the other members of the party are safely out of the earthquake and hurricane zone, for at the slightest intimation of trouble anywhere along the route the officials would see to it that the route was changed. I feel certain that the moment the news of the hurricane reached Venice the itinerary would be altered so that the party would journey to Innsbruck via Trieste instead of Treviso."

This reassuring news will be welcomed by anxious relatives here, who, ever since the news of the chain of disasters in Italy began to filter through, have been trying anxiously to get authentic information concerning the whereabouts and welfare of the travelers.

The party landed at Naples on on Monday, July 14, and their itinerary, which was to be strictly adhered to, was drawn up as follows:

July 16, leave Naples for Rome; July 17 to 20 inclusive, visiting Rome; July 21 and 22 inclusive, Florence; July 23 and 24 inclusive, Venice; July 25, reach Innsbruck, Austria.

The party is spending some further time on the Continent, visiting Austria, Germany, France, etc., and will then proceed to England. They will sail from England on August 16, reaching New York on August 24.

MEMBERS OF PARTY

Those in the party are: Mr and Mrs. W Moore, Mr. and Mrs. W J. Shields, Miss Betty Shields, Mrs. Ward, Mrs. A M Reed, Mr and Mrs. A. Schroeder, Miss Thelma Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs E. Branchflower, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Heyer, Miss A. Osbourne, Miss C. Macaulay, Mrs. Fred Parsons, Mrs. L. C. Brossi, Miss Anita Brossi, Miss Maymie Mawer, Mr. and Mrs George Steily, A Rhodes, H Siebenbaum and Dr. and Mrs. Davies.

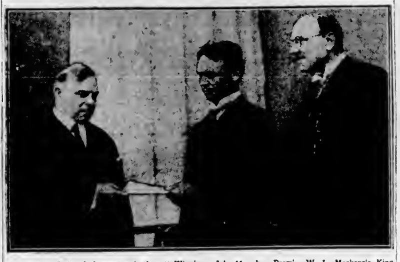
A Cheque to Make Any Man Smile



AN event of historic interest took place at Winnipeg, July 15, when Premier W. L. Mackenzie King handed over a cheque for $4,822,842.72 to Premier John Bracken of Manitoba. The cheque was payment for natural resources alienated from Manitoba since 1870. Premier King is seen handing the huge cheque to Premier Bracken, while Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, stands by, smiling.

Obituary

HOWLETT—There passed away at the residence, Leach Street, on Thursday, Mrs. Sarah Love Howlett, widow of the late William Howlett, aged seventy-two years, born in Sussex, England, and residing in Victoria for the past twenty years. She leaves two sons, Frederick Howlett, of Victoria, and Raymond Howlett, of Alberta, one daghter, Mrs. Peacock, of Alberta; one sister, Mrs. J. Mooson, of Portland, and one brother, James Carley, of Michigan. The remains are reposing at Hayward's B.C. Fueral Chapel, from where the funeral will take place this afternoon at 2:20 o'clock. Interment will be made in Ross Bay Cemetery.

FLOOD—The funeral of Miss Effie Flood took place from her late residence, 102 Moss Street, yestarday afternoon at 2.30, Rev. Dr. W. J. Sipprell and Rev. Hugh Nixon officiating. The hymns sung were "How Firm a Foundation" and "He Leadeth Me." Many friends were present, and the casket was covered with beautiful floral offerings. The pallbearers were L. Fyke, W. Edmonds, G. Bohlander, N. H. Hendricks, H. Liffiton and O. Garneson. Interment took place in Royal Oak Burial Park. The funeral arrangements were in the hands of the B.C. Funeral Co.

HAWKINS—The funeral for Mrs. Freda Louise Hawkins, who passed away in this city on Tuesday, was held yesterday afternoon at 2:20 o'clock from the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home. There was an unusually large number of sympathizing friends present and a second car was necessary to transport the many beautiful floral tributes to the cemetery. Rev. Dr. W. J. Sipprell conducted an impressive service, during which the hymns "Jesus Is Tenderly Calling" and "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me" were sung. Mrs A Dowell rendered as a solo "My Jesus, as Thou Wilt." The following gentlemen acted as pallbearers. F. A Holmes, H Hudson, H. Stephenson, J. Pannell, L. W. Greenslade and W. Pedder. Interment was made in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

MAR CHEW—The death occurred on July 24, at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, of Mar Chew, aged fifty-three years, a native of China and a resident of Victoria for the past thirty-five years. He is survived by his widow and three children. The funeral will take place from Thomson & Fitterly Funeral Home on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Chinese Cemetery.

NOTED CANADIAN TO SING TODAY

Much interest is being shown in the announcement that Mme Winifred Lugrin-Fahey, of Toronto, formerly of Victoria, is to sing at the Empress Hotel this afternoon during the tea hour. This is the only occasion on which Mme. Lugrin-Fahey will be heard in Victoria during her present visit to the Pacific Coast, as she has to hurry back to Vancouver tonight in order to sing at the First Baptist Church there tomorrow, and after that will leave almost immediately for the East, as she has accepted an engagement, beginning August 1, as soloist at the Timothy Eaton Memorial Church, Toronto.

Mme. Fahey does not confine her energies or talents to concert work, although she does a great deal of this. She has done quite a lot of broadcasting, is teaching constantly, and four times last year produced an opera of her own composition, "The Spirit of the Nile." In connection with her teaching she has devised a form of public recital which enables her to make her programmes interesting. Musical cameos are written which offer a part for each girl and the costuming of the roles aids further interest, both from the audience's and the student's point of view.

A Challenge to Stomach Sufferers

HELCO

THE HERBAL MEDICINE—FREE FROM DRUGS

HELCO, the herbal remedy, tells how you can quickly perfect digestion, attain sound sleep and healthy bowel action—without drugs.

No matter how long, nor how badly you have been troubled with stomach disturbances, heartburn, bad breath, sluggish liver and other disorders due to constipation, you will happily see an immediate improvement in your health with the use of HELCO.

Since taking HELCO, hundreds of local folks no longer suffer from weakened, run-down condition—constant headaches—heartburn—and, above all, poor appetite, muddy blood and sluggish bowels.

Hundreds of users who have used this remedy in the treatment of such symptoms as dizzy spells, liver disorders, indigestion, sleepless nights, kidney and bladder troubles have already written in praise of HELCO.

This is the verdict not only of thousands of former stomach sufferers, but of physicians and health leaders throughout the land.

HELCO is a herbal medicine—free from drugs. It pays proper attention to stomach needs which ordinary laxatives do not do. It is a most modern and natural adjunct and is a great help in eliminating irritants from the system. It is a natural remedy.

Don't wait. Start taking HELCO today. It does not gripe because it is a natural tonic. You will feel a change after the first bottle. You will enjoy renewed vigor—"a new grip on life."

HELCO is on sale at your druggist. Ask him about it.

NEW WESTMINSTER, July 25.—Spreading over about 1,000 acres, the forest fire near Vedder Crossing is reported to have reached standing timber, but no great damage has yet been done, according to a statement by Edward Walmsley, Dominion timber agent. Although hampered by high winds the men fighting the fire are stated to have kept it to the ground at the standing timber and to have checked it in other directions.

D. B. Plunkett Has Solid Backing of Victoria Electors

Vancouver City Council, said that that city was spending over $500,000 in unemployment relief this year. Still Mr. King persisted there was no unemployment," continued Brigadier-General Clark

A LIFE WORK

"Is it any wonder we look askance at the pledges of the Mackenzie King administration? Mr. King, at Edmonton in 1924, promised he would provide an outlet for the Peace River district to the Pacific Coast as 'soon as it was humanly possible.' If it has not been humanly possible for Mr. King to see about this from 1924 to 1930, will it be humanly possible for him to do it in the balance of his lifetime?" asked General Clark, amid laughter.

"Mr. King takes credit also for inventing the idea of the British preference," he continued. "Yet it was Mr. Bennett, our Conservative leader, who made an eloquent appeal to the House asking the Government long ago to invite representatives of the Mother Country and the other parts of the Empire to Ottawa for an economic conference.

"He pointed out that the British Empire involved one-quarter of the area and the population of the world, and that, if these various units could get together, much would be done towards establishing betterment of conditions generally. Mr King took no action on that suggestion. He was not, I suggest, interested in British preference then."

KEEP MONEY AT HOME

Brigadier-General Clark discussed the Dunning budget, showing that the countervailing duties affected but $14,000,000 of the import trade of Canada from the United States, which ran to close on $900,000,000 last year. If but $200,000,000 of the total sent by Canada to the United States had been spent in industrial development at home it would have provided a payroll for 175,000 workers, and, through correlated buying power, have affected many more.

"There is the difference between these two parties," continued Brigadier-General Clark. "Mr King and his supporters have boasted that they gave the Imperial preference and asked nothing in return. I say they failed in their duty when they gave that preference and asked no return. We don't buy goods anywhere without getting some return. It's business," said the speaker

Brigadier-General Clark gave facts and figures for the serious depletion of British Columbia markets for canned salmon abroad. Russia and Japan were now shipping 82.5 per cent, compared with Canada's 11.5 per cent, and this year the Canadian total would drop to under 10 per cent, he predicted. Canada, he said, was entitled to a fair return for any preferences extended, and nothing less could have been expected of her.

DROPPED $500,000,000

The same story could be told, he said, of Canada's purchases from the United States, which mounted and mounted, while her exports dropped, until there was an adverse trade balance against this country of about $100,000,000 last year. Canada had had a favorable trade balance of $401,000,000, so that in the last five years it had suffered a reversal in this situation to the extent of some $500,000,000.

Protection was "bunk," Mr. Motherwell had said, and similar sentiments had been freely expressed by other Liberal Cabinet members who now posed under another mantle, continued the speaker. Hon. R. B. Bennett had shown the way out for Canada, and that way was through the manufacture of raw materials at home; the development of useful, needed projects at this time, and the driving of a better bargain for Canada all round.

Brigadier-General Clark closed with hearty endorsation of the candidacy of Mr. Plunkett, who, he said, had served his constituency faithfully and well.

R. A. Wootton, president of the Victoria Conservative Association, announced the speakers, and invited those present to attend at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium on Monday evening, when a bulletin service will be established and election results announced as they are brought in.

Present on the platform in support of Mr. Plunkett were Hon. Dr Tolmie and Mrs. Tolmie, Hon. R. H Pooley and Mrs. Pooley, Senator R. F. Green, Reginald Hayward, M.P.P.; Mrs. A. J. Gillis, president of the Women's Conservative Association, and Mrs. M J Roberts, vice-president of the Women's Conservative Association.

NEW TERROR FOR ITALY'S QUAKE AREAS

Unofficial announcement was made after the King's departure that the Government had decided to exempt from all taxes for at least ten years the inhabitants of the earthquake zone.

King Victor alighted from the royal train at Rochetta Sant Antonio, in the heart of the earthquake zone, at 3:20 p.m., just about the time the three slight shocks occurred.

PALACE COLLAPSES

At Melfi, the Pacchiolo Palace collapsed and many houses developed dangerous fissures. The town jail was badly shaken, one wall crumbling, and seventeen prisoners tried to escape.

All were panic stricken, but were held at bay by two guards with drawn revolvers. They were later taken in irons by special train to the jail at Foggia.

His Majesty planned to spend the night in the royal train at Avellino, capital of the stricken Avellino Province. He will visit other centres tomorrow and probably return to Rome on Sunday.

RELIEF MEASURES

Help for the stricken population of quake-torn Southern Italy was pouring into the devastated region today as the Italian Government threw every resource into relief measures.

Monsignor Spirilin Chiapetta, a special envoy of the Pope, started a tour of the region and reached Benevento, which also suffered heavily in the disaster.

The number of the dead in the great quake was somewhat obscure tonight and the Government was compiling a detailed account, which will be made public as soon as possible.

NAPLES, Italy, July 25.—Tired, worn out refugees stumbling along the dusty highways with huge packs on their heads, bewildered children and domestic animals closely huddled together following in their wake, demoralized men comforting wailing wives who seem to have forgotten how to pray—these were the pitiful scenes enacted the whole night through before visitors to Avellino, a territory which today resembles a veritable "no man's land."

Besides the numerous dead of such towns as Lacedonia, Aquilonia, Villanova, Montecalvo, Trevico and Ariano, many isolated farm houses dispersed over the stricken region were destroyed and their owners killed

BUILD ROUGH COFFINS

A group of copper-skinned middle-aged men at Villanova was busy throughout the night either building rough coffins for the victims or sitting for hours around the spots where the relatives and friends were buried alive, patiently awaiting the soldiers to dig them out.

In any number of hilltop villages, cries of goats, horses and donkeys can still be heard under the heavy debris. Soldiers and Fascist militia who have not slept a wink or eaten a square meal since the terrific shock Wednesday morning express the view that probably they will not be able to reach the covered animals until nightfall, when it is expected a large number of livestock will be found dead from starvation.

Pitiful scenes take place at Ariano, city of 24,000, of whom 200 are dead, when relief workers bring to the streets the bodies and personal effects of victims. Not all of the dead could be buried in the village cemetery for want of space. Special trains are carrying bodies to other centres for interment.

POPE PRAYING FOR THEM

Cardinal Ascalesi has received from Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, Undersecretary of State in Vatican City, a brief telegram in which assurance is given that the Pontiff is with his faithful in this hour of distress and is continuously praying for them. This morning the bust of the Patron Saint Gennaro, was exposed in the cathedral before a packed gathering.

Tonight the last solemn Te Deum of thanks for deliverance will be held in the cathedral in the presence of the Cardinal himself, who will impart his blessings to thousands of followers.

The biggest bank in the city, namely, the Banco di Napoli, has offered a generous gift of 500,000 lire (about $25,000), to alleviate the suffering in the afflicted regions. Swarms of tourists who experienced an authentic Italian earthquake are none the worse, since fortunately enough they were stopping at the biggest hotels, where the only inconvenience was a hasty getaway in the cool morning sea breeze, clad only in pyjamas and their underclothes.

It's a most extraordinary coincidence but when a man is right he holds the same opinions as you do.

Marry for money and that is all you get.

Pipers' Concert — It was announced last evening that next Friday's concert of the Canadian Scottish pipers at the Parliament Buildings, would be at 7 p.m. instead of 7:30 as heretofore.

Will Welcome Delegates — Mayor Anscomb will extend a welcome on behalf of the city to delegates to the National Association of Business Schools at the Sprott-Shaw School this morning at 9 o'clock.

Coal Office Entered—The office at Walker's coal wharf, Johnson Street, was entered Thursday night, according to a report filed at the city police station. Entrance was gained by breaking the glass in the door at the front of the building. Some money was stolen.

Two Bush Fires—Burning bushes at Linden Avenue and Dallas Road at 10.16 o'clock yesterday morning were extinguished by the fire department. Twenty minutes later another bush fire near the flagpole at Beacon Hill Park needed attention.

To Go on Air—A cordial invitation to visit Victoria during August will be extended to residents of the Pacific Northwest in a radio address, to be given by Mayor Anscomb over a Seattle radio station on or about August 3. Arrangements for the broadcast are being made through George I. Warren, of the Chamber of Commerce.

City Prosecutes—Prosecutions against dog owners, who fail to take out licences for their pets at the city treasury, have started, it was announced at the City Hall yesterday. J. Stevens was assessed the amount of the licence and $2.50 costs in a case brought by the corporation in the city police court yesterday morning. Other cases are pending, it is understood.

Thanks Committee—The Plumbing Bylaw committee of the Real Estate Board of this city was given the thanks of the organization at the luncheon meeting of that body yesterday for the work accomplished by it. This committee consisted of J. C. Bridgman, Fred Landsberg and David Leeming. It was authorized to continue in existence until the whole matter was disposed of.

Dismissed Case—In the police court yesterday morning, Magistrate Jay dismissed the case against W. B. Townley, charged with obtaining room and board contrary to law. Mrs. E. Grant, keeper of the rooming-house where Townley and his wife had obtained accommodation, gave evidence. The accused had left the premises after informing Mrs. Grant that he would be away for a few days only. The magistrate felt that there was not the evidence to show that fraud had been contemplated, and dismissed the action.

Discuss Willows Work. — New fencing at the Willows Agricultural Grounds will be considered at a meeting of the public works committee of the City Council, called for this morning. Alternative plans before the committee include one for the partial fencing of the property on its northern limits at a cost in the neighborhood of $500, and the complete replacement of the necessary boundary fences at a cost approximately $1,500.

Pheasants on Display — Fancy pheasants from the Catalina Island Bird Park, operated by William Wrigley, Jr., are on display at Beacon Hill Park. Four pairs of birds were shipped here as the gift of Thomas I. Worthington, of Los Angeles, to the city. The birds arrived in good shape after their long boat trip from the South and were cleared through the customs here by E. B. Michell, city purchasing agent, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Dean Laird's Party—Victoria will be host to nearly 100 men and women prominent in Eastern Canadian business and professional circles on July 31, when another annual travel party, under Dean Sinclair Laird, of the Macdonald College, Quebec, will arrive in the city for a brief stay. Mayor Anscomb has been invited to receive the guests on behalf of the city at a dinner engagement to take place at the Empress Hotel on the evening of their arrival here.

British Pilot Broad Leads Around-Europe Flyers Into Germany

MUNICH, Germany, July 25. — The British pilot, Broad, led the around-Europe flyers into Munich today, arriving at 9.54 a.m.

He was followed five minutes later by Butler, of Capetown. Both reported they had battled nasty weather.

The international circuit flight, to cover 4,500 miles, started from Berlin Sunday with sixty entries. The route covered France, England, Spain, Switzerland, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland and back to Germany.

WOOLEN MILL HERE INJURED BY LIBERALS

condition from which Canada was suffering today, he said, was due to the Government making it more easy for the goods of other countries to enter Canada.

There was a decrease in railway traffic and railway freight for this reason, Mr. Bennett declared. "We have permitted the goods of other countries to be dumped into Canada," he continued, "and we have taken work from Canadians and given it to the other people. Is there any answer to this? Who is responsible?

"The Conservatives," a female voice called out.

"The Conservative party has not been in power for the last eight years let me remind you," the Opposition Leader answered. The audience applauded.

The Conservative party, Mr. Bennett continued, knew as every thinking person knew there had never been more capital available than now, "but the instability and vacillating policy of Mr King has made it impossible for men to risk their money here, and more," Mr. Bennett declared, "under the present Government thirty woolen mills in this province have been reduced to six."

He had seen the spinning wheels idle in his recent visit to Sherbrooke, Que., the Opposition Leader continued. Cotton mills were half idle and half working, he declared. Throughout the country idle mills and closed factories were to be seen. A change in the textile tariff had thrown employees out of work in the woolen plant at Victoria.

JAPANESE COMPETITION

The whole situation had been produced, Mr Bennett declared, by a "policy of uncertainty as to whether an industry would be destroyed tomorrow."

Canadian hosiery plants, he proceeded, were compelled to meet the unfair competition of the "product of Japanese factories where the girls are paid 12 cents per day."

The opposition leader further charged that Premier King was unable to deny that the policy of the Conservative party for Empire trade was the only one which meant lasting benefit to the Empire. "He seeks to becloud that fact by an appeal to Empire sentiment which comes less fittingly from him than any other man who has led a great Canadian party."

For the recent statement of Premier King to proceed with the building of the St. Lawrence waterways and a "dollar-for-dollar" contribution toward unemployment where the provinces and municipalities could not bear another burden, Mr. Bennett had caustic references.

"Did you read the speech of the Prime Minister last night?" the Conservative leader asked. "Now he says he is going to build the St. Lawrence waterways by act passed by Parliament. Two weeks ago he said he could not take the power from the province. He could not do it two weeks ago, but now he says he is going to do it. There has been no change in the constitution since. And the Canadian people are not so credulous that they cannot see through this."

On unemployment, too, the Opposition leader continued, the Prime Minister had changed his attitude. "He says," Mr. Bennett proceeded, "that he would give dollar for dollar if," he paused and went on. "You never heard him make a statement yes or no. He said 'if' the municipalities and the provinces would say they would not take care of the situation."

"CONFERENCE KING"

Categorizing the Prime Minister as the "greatest conference man" he ever met, the Opposition leader ridiculed the suggestion for a conference on unemployment "when everybody knows the facts and conditions."

He referred also to the reported Barrie utterance of Premier King, "I stand for Great Britain first." "Do you think," Mr. Bennett asked his audience, "that Premier MacDonald would say "I stand for Canada first" or that the Premier of New Zealand would say "I stand for Canada first?"

Health and Diet Advice

DR FRANK McCOY

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, July 27.

Sunday—Breakfast: Coddled eggs, Melba toast; stewed or fresh figs with cream. Lunch: Steamed carrots with parsley butter, cooked celery; sliced tomatoes on lettuce. Dinner: Tomato and celery soup; roast veal with Melba toast dressing, string beans, stuffed beet salad; ice cream.

Monday—Breakfast: Crisp waffle, broiled ham; apple sauce. Lunch: Melon, or fresh fruit (one kind) as desired. Dinner: Broiled steak, souffle of squash; combination salad; baked peaches, with dash of whipped cream.

Tuesday—Breakfast: Eggs poached in milk, served on Shredded Wheat Biscuit (retoasted); stewed prunes. Lunch: Corn on the cob, spinach, shredded lettuce. Dinner: Roast mutton, baked ground turnips and beets; McCoy salad (lettuce, tomatoes and cucumbers); Jell-O or Jell-Well.

Wednesday—Breakfast: Cottage cheese, fresh pineapple. Lunch: Cream of spinach soup, celery; Avocado salad. Dinner: Baked ham and whole tomatoes, string beans, salad of shredded raw cabbage, baked apple.

Thursday — Breakfast: Coddled eggs, crisp bacon, Melba toast; stewed raisins. Lunch: Pint of buttermilk, ten or twelve dates. Dinner: Roast beef, carrots roasted with meat, zucchini; salad of quartered cucumbers; ice cream.

Friday—Breakfast: Toasted breakfast food, with cream (no sugar); stewed apricots. Lunch: Corn and string beans en casserole, lettuce. Dinner: Baked whitefish, artichokes; salad of stuffed tomatoes. Jell-O or Jell-Well.

Saturday—Breakfast: French omelet, crisp waffle; pear sauce. Lunch: Cantaloupe a la mode. Dinner: Stuffed pork chops, cooked greens, mashed turnips; salad of chopped cabbage and parsley, apple sauce.

Corn and string beans en casserole—Cut tender string beans into small pieces and cook in a small amount of water for about fifteen minutes. Cut an equal amount of corn from the cob, first scoring each row of kernels with a sharp knife. If any liquid remains on the beans, drain and save for soup, add beans to corn with a little cream and bake for twenty minutes, allowing to brown on top.

Corn may be used in this way with celery, asparagus, spinach or young carrots. When using the fresh spinach, shred very fine and do not cook before mixing with the corn as with the string beans, but put all into casserole and bake at once.

CHANGE OF WEATHER CHECKS MENACE OF B.C. FOREST FIRES

VANCOUVER, July 25.—Change of weather conditions, with rain in some places, has checked the forest fire menace, it was reported by forestry officials here this afternoon. Many of the outbreaks have been brought under control, it was stated.

Four fires near Ladysmith, Vancouver Island, which were declared of incendiary origin, have been controlled. Two of these outbreaks, at Crystal Lake, covered an area of about 300 acres, and were fought by seventy-five men. Rain assisted in the work, and also aided in subduing the two fires at Haslam Creek, twelve miles from Crystal Lake.

The blaze at Trout Lake, west of Menzies Bay, north of Campbell River, Vancouver Island, is also said to be under control. No new outbreaks were reported today, officials said.

Yachting Clothes Must Be Seaworthy

WHEN one takes to the water in a boat, the three requirements of a costume are that it be seaworthy, simple and smart. True, when a woman is at the helm, she may don trousers and slip-on sweater as nautical attire, but the average woman will find herself well dressed on a small sailboat or large yacht if she keeps the three qualifications above in mind. Washable silks, cotton, especially pique and linen, are perfect solutions. If the sun will fade the color, it is not the right selection. Consequently, white is the first choice, with navy blue, red and sometimes brown played up in accessories. As for the design of the costume, simplicity and smartness are the tests. The question of warmth and protection is answered by the regulation double-breasted reefer, usually of flannel. Hats, too, must be seaworthy. The Basque beret is, perhaps, the most serviceable and is especially becoming to the young girl, but felt or straw hats with small brims and tailor bands serve to shade the eyes, if necessary. The flat-heeled, rubber-soled Oxford is the most considerate to varnished decks, but if one does not want to go to that extreme, the brown and white spectator shoe with a solid leather heel will see the day through. On the left above is a smart flannel sports coat, while on the right are a few ideas in nautical costumes sketched by Vogue.

SOUND AUCTION and CONTRACT

Forcing Take-Outs Should Be Based Upon Possible Action of Responsive Bidder

Contract and Auction Bidding

	1st. Rd.	2nd Rd.	3rd Rd.
South	1 ♠	2 ♠	3 N.-T.
West	Pass	Pass	Pass
North	2 ♥	3 ♦	Pass
East	Pass	Pass	Pass

It cannot be stressed too thoroughly that the safest of all forcing take-outs is that in which the take-out bidder is prepared to return to partner's suit.

Take the above hand on which South, the Dealer, opens the bidding with one Spade and West passes. North has an enormous hand in view of the fact that partner has made an opening bid. There is, however, one serious drawback, namely, that he is void of partner's suit and does not know whether or not he may be able to utilise that hand. If he were void of Clubs and held three small Spades, then he would have an excellent forcing take-out, for if partner should deny a forcing take-out of three Hearts, he could return to Spades with every assurance of game, even though partner had been bidding on a four-card suit. Partner's trump strength could not be sapped by being forced to ruff an opposing suit since he, himself, holds the Hearts and Diamonds and can trump the Clubs. But in view of the fact that his hand is a semi-two-suiter, he is not warranted in forcing the bidding to a high point before first ascertaining what may be the best contract between the two hands.

Granted that the forcing take-out of three Hearts be made, South would have no choice whatever but must rebid the Spades. Over this bid of three Spades North would naturally bid four Diamonds, and as a result of this bid South would be placed in a very uncomfortable position. He cannot read North's hand with any degree of accuracy, for as far as the bidding goes his holding might be five Hearts, five Diamonds, six one one and four of the other, or, as was actually the case, six Hearts and but four Diamonds. To bid four Hearts with but a singleton King would seem foolish; yet, on the other hand, if North cannot utilise the Spades in South's hand, five odd in Diamonds would be very unlikely.

If the bidding were lower he might readily bid the No-Trump, trusting that the Q-10-x of Clubs would prove a stopper, as it must if North holds anything therein, or that the outstanding Clubs may be so divided that there are not more than four in hand of either opponent. To launch a No-Trump where the bidding has reached four would be very dangerous indeed.

As a matter of fact, it would make no difference whether he bid four Spades, four Hearts, four Diamonds or four No-Trumps. Three is the maximum that can be made on the hand at any declaration.

If North, instead of making the improper forcing take-out of three Hearts, simply bids two Hearts, South rebids his Spades, North bids three Diamonds and South then bids three No-Trumps, arriving at the proper contract.

SALIENT POINTS OF THE BIDDING

Contract and Auction: The proper bidding, as well as the improper, has been described in the preamble. There does, however, occur a feature that is rather unusual with such large hands, namely, that the bidding should be the same both at Auction and Contract.

THE PLAY

West opens his fourth best of the unbid suit, Clubs. East takes the trick with the Ace and returns the Nine. Since South's Queen is trapped, East and West make four Club tricks, but North and South must of necessity take the remaining tricks—three Spades, three Hearts and three Diamonds, all top cards.

Radio Popular for Home Entertaining

Popularity of the radio and the imminent probability of it becoming the major factor in home entertainment is being shown almost every day.

Evidence of this is seen in the rapid way in which the carload of Brunswick sets delivered to Radio Distributors Ltd., of 169 Pender Street West, Vancouver, was distributed to dealers; eighty-eight sets being sent out the day of its arrival and the balance going out today, according to Richard Thompson, president of the company.

The Brunswick radio has been taken over by the Brunswick Radio of Canada Ltd., Canadian representatives of Warner Brothers, big motion picture firm, while the distribution in British Columbia has been awarded to Radio Distributors Limited, Vancouver, B.C.

Service has always been the slogan of the Brunswick radio people, and to this end J. W. Johnson, sales engineer, of Portland, is visiting headquarters of Radio Distributors, seeing that all the sets are up-to-the-minute before going to dealers and customers. After a sale is made this service is continued, thus giving a guarantee to the user of efficiency in the particular set purchased.

Many points of interest are noted in the new Brunswick model, such as the one dial feature, tone control, armored chassis, the individual feature of the cabinet and others. The Canadian model of the Brunswick is 100 per cent Canadian, the sets being built exclusively in Toronto.

Mr. Thompson reports another five cars due in the course of a few days and anticipates no difficulty in having the same rapid disposal of these as in the first car. At the recent show of all makes of radio, held at San Francisco, many dealers expressed a preference for this make of radio, states Mr. Thompson.

There is nothing about conscription in the article, but La Presse correspondent adds to it fictitious rumors in England that R. B. Bennett, if returned, will at the next Imperial Conference for Imperial Defence, propose a mild form of conscription.

RACIAL APPEAL

Drawing further on his imagination, La Presse correspondent points out that French-Canadians will be in danger of conscription for service in Egypt and India.

Senator Dandurand, Government leader in the Senate, followed this lead and makes a vicious racial appeal. He makes a bitter attack on Conservatives for their war activities, claims they are only waiting the hour to again conscript French-Canadians, and calls on his compatriots to defend their hearths and homes by voting Liberal.

This had aroused the most bitter feeling in Eastern Canada. It is not confined to English-Canadians, but leading French-Canadians condemn these unworthy and untrue appeals in the strongest terms.

PREMIER RESPONSIBLE

La Presse canard and race appeal occupies the whole front page. It is headed in large type "The Menace of Conscription." Other headings are: "The Imperialists of England are relying on the arrival of the Conservatives of Canada to power to submit, at the next Imperial Conference in London, the question of defence of the Empire and a scheme of military conscription for the Dominions." "An article resounding from Mr. Newman and sensational rumor which is spread in London." "The great crisis which has arisen in Egypt places Great Britain in need of troops, and Great Britain seems to want to count on contingents from overseas."

CONTEXT OF CABLE

This is the cable published in La Presse:

"Major E. W. Polsen Newman, author of Great Britain in Egypt, in the course of a long article in The Sunday Times of London, of July 22, on a new crisis in Egypt, says that Great Britain may have to face a situation involving military operations on a great scale and the expenditure of large sums of money. This article seems to confirm the rumor prevalent here that should the Conservatives be returned to power in Canada, continuing the policy pursued by them during the Great War, they are to submit for discussion at the next Imperial Conference, apart from constitution and economic questions, that of Imperial defence in view of imposing military conscription. The bravery of the Canadian voyageurs during the Nile Expedition of 1882, when they supported Khedive Tewfik Pascha, under Colonel Remington, of Three Rivers, Que., being well known and appreciated, it is felt that men of such type would be very useful in an emergency in Egypt or Bombay."

DANDURAND'S STATEMENT

After this cable, with its false statements, La Presse has a statement from Senator Dandurand headed "Food for Thought" and "The Honorable Senator Dandurand puts his compatriots on guard. In this the leader of the Senate and Premier King's cabinet colleague, says.

"There will be discussed at the London conference questions touching the defence of the Empire and regarding the contributions which will be asked from the Dominions." Men and women electors who are listening to me—would you give the task to the Tory party to represent our most sacred interests in this conference?

SUPPORT TO TROOPS UGLY

"Do not forget that the party traditions and mentality of men do not change easily. Remember that when in 1922 the country was nearly bankrupt the Conservative was still ready to answer the silly appeal of Lloyd George, who was requesting Canadian troops to go and fight the Turks in the Dardanelles. The Tory spirit revealed itself to us in all its ugliness in 1917, when laws were voted sanctioning the electoral fraud and the theft of elections. Quebec unanimously answered, and was the cause of the Conservative party disappearing. Listen to the voice coming from Toronto. It is that of Premier Ferguson, which, with the aim of uplifting the jingo passions against Mr. King, accuses Mr King of not having worked for John Bull during the war. It is this voice which would dominate only if you committed the error of upsetting the King-Lapointe Government.

"The bread that you would eat would taste of Tory dough which has already given you some heartaches. Do not put any faith in their promises. Mr. Ferguson, in the presence of Mr. Bennett, was asking Mr. King yesterday what had been his contribution during the war. Mr King has been able to answer at that time, 'I have never failed any one nor have I persecuted any one.'

"What did Mr Bennett do during the war? As chief of the national service he came into our province. He asked our clergy to help and sign the indentification cards of all the members of all our families, assuring them that these cards wouldn't be used for conscription.

"You know what this promise was worth. The wise child fears the fire. The King Government is composed of faithful trustworthy friends. Do not, I pray you, take such a chance with any one of them. You have not the right to take the slightest risk when the fate of yours and your country is at stake."

DIPLOMAS OF NURSES GIVEN AT RESTHAVEN

Platform Is Banked With Flowers From Friends of Graduates

ADDRESS IS GIVEN BY REV. C. B. HAYNES

DEEP COVE, July 25.—In the customary setting of flowers and throngs of friends, the graduating class of the Resthaven Hospital and Sanitarium training school for missionary nurses, Wednesday evening, received their diplomas and badges.

Flowers were more numerous than ever, the entire platform being banked with bouquets, which represented the tributes of numerous friends of the young graduates. The occasion was honored by the presence of Rev. C. B. Haynes, of New York; G. W. Anderson of Australia; Miss Cave-Brown-Cave, of Vancouver and other members of the United States board of directors, as well as many from Victoria.

As the graduating nurses took their places on the platform, the processional march was played by Mrs. Cave-Brown-Cave, and the formal part of the programme was opened with the invocation by Rev. C. A. Ruskjar.

Rev. C. B. Haynes addressed the graduating class. Referring to the long and difficult period of study, through which they had just passed, congratulating them on realization of the end toward which their efforts had been bent for the past three years.

DIPLOMAS PRESENTED

Dr. Samuel W. Leiske, in making the presentation of the diplomas, reminded the nurses of the significance of character in a profession such as theirs. More important than the number of hours' work which a person did every day was what a person put into those hours. Nursing was a noble profession, and they, as graduates would, he felt sure, remember this.

The badges were pinned on by Mrs. C. F. Courser.

Those who graduated were: Misses Edith Pearl Myers, Muriel Neomi King and Florence Allee Wendland.

PROGRAMMES

Processional, Miss B. Cave-Brown-Cave; song, Hymn 414; invocation, Rev. W. A. Clemenson; piano solo, Miss Gertrude Streight; address, G. W. Anderson, of Australia; piano solo, Miss Cave-Brown-Cave; benediction, O. Ray Lukens.

Wednesday's commencement programme:

Processional, Miss B. Cave-Brown-Cave, invocation, Rev. S. A. Ruskjer; vocal solo, "Let Me Live," Mrs. J. A. Orent; address, Rev. C. B. Haynes; violin and piano duet, Miss O. Straight and Delbert Le Marquand; presentation of diplomas and badges Dr. S. W. Leiske and Mrs. C. F. Courser; vocal solo, Mr. Haynes; benediction, J. M. Le Marquand; recessional, Miss Cave-Brown-Cave.

CHILDREN DELIGHTED AT QUALICUM BEACH

Four Cambridge Undergraduates to Join Service Camp in August

QUALICUM BEACH, July 24.—Many happy groups of children can be seen on the sands south of the Grandview Camp, playing organized games under the direction of the leaders of the Children's Special Service Mission. Each morning there is a short service or song at 10.45, followed by games of various kinds, and each week a campfire sing-song after dark.

A tide-fighting competition was organized, Ronald Hodgson and Philip Smith choosing sides, and after a hard struggle against the tide, Mr. Smith's fortress was the last to go. On another occasion the children fought the tide with individual castle building, in which Ransome Cook was first, Joan Jermain, second, and Shirley Walker, third.

In the sand drawing competition five ranked equally as firsts. On another day there was a text-drawing competition with seven firsts.

Great excitement was caused by a treasure hunt when Michael Kennedy, after following a long trail, discovered the treasure.

The camp has been running all July and will continue during August. It consists of a happy party of fifteen workers under the leadership of S. V. Ware, of the Children's Special Service Mission, London, England, and Mrs. Laycock, of Victoria. On August 8 the group will be joined by four undergraduates from Cambridge University.

SCHOOL MEETING HELD IN SAHTLAM DISTRICT

Mr. J. D. Pollock presided at the annual meeting of Sahtlam school district. Of the $350 voted to meet the expenses of the coming year, $50 is to be spent in clearing the school grounds. One hundred dollars is expected to be needed for high school tuition fees.

A motion was passed that the trustees be asked to take up the question of Orientals and other non-taxpayers becoming eligible for high school fees. As the ratepayers are taxed an additional one mill, to be used towards paying the teacher's salary, the trustees were also asked to ascertain what this tax would amount to on the whole.

During the past year a well was dug and a pump installed, the school kalsomined, blackboards painted and the woodshed paid for.

Thanks were expressed to the chairman, trustees and the retiring trustee, J. E. Jordan. T. R. S. Horsfall was appointed auditor.

BOY SCOUTS RETURN

NANAIMO, July 25.—The troop of Nanaimo Boy Scouts who have spent the last ten days at Camp Byng on the Mainland, returned home last evening. They came back as they went, by the Frebertel, from the Reliable Boathouse, and they had a fine trip both ways. The boys got back in good shape and report having had a great time in camp.

INCENDIARISM IS SUSPECTED

Mysterious Outbreaks of Forest Fires Occur in Several Districts

POLICE REWARD OFFERED

Offer of a reward of $250 for information leading to the conviction of persons for intentionally starting forest fires is announced by the Provincial Police. Approval of the offer was given by Hon. R. H. Pooley, Attorney-General, on Friday.

A number of mysterious outbreaks have occurred recently in the Francois Lake district, and provincial forestry officials believe some of these were of incendiary origin. Some of the fires are completely out of control, with the situation such that fire fighters are forced to confine their efforts to saving personal property and preventing, as much as possible, the spread of the flames to valuable timber stands.

So far the fires, for the most part, have been confined to second growth and small timber areas, but sections of valuable commercial timber are threatened. Already large areas where fine young forests were making good headway have been destroyed.

Forestry officials have also been experiencing a number of mysterious outbreaks in the vicinity of Crystal Lake, near Ladysmith, and in both districts there is a strong belief that some of the fires were of incendiary origin.

On Friday the forestry department appealed to the Provincial Police for assistance in dealing with the situation. This was promised and the offering of a reward was given approval.

PLANES RUSH MEN AND EQUIPMENT TO FIGHT SASK. FIRES

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., July 25.—District fire rangers in Northern Saskatchewan tonight centred their forces on ten roaring conflagrations that radio reports today said were running through valuable pulpwood stands along the Churchill River. Equipment and men to fight the flames were rushed by airplane from Forestry headquarters here. The situation was caused by electrical storms during the past few days.

Unless the North country experiences a period of drought in its timber land, Forestry officials believe the fires can be brought under control without difficulty. The stricken area is about 200 miles north of here.

Jameson's Coffee"
"Yes, I want another package of Jameson's Coffee."
"Yes, I do use a lot of it, because my family always want an extra cup at each and every meal, they enjoy it so."
"But really it goes farther than any other Coffee I ever used. Because of its full strength, I do not require quite so much of it to serve the same amount. I am so glad you induced me to try JAMESON'S COFFEE."

Island Golf Club Is At Home to Friends

The Salt Spring Island Golf Club was the scene of a gay gathering last Wedensday when the members were "at home" to a large number of Island residents and visitors at "Barnsbury," the attractive club home and headquarters of the popular Salt Spring Golf Club. The entertainment committee in charge of the day's proceedings was Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Morris and Mrs T. F Speed, ably assisted by Messrs. T. F Speed, A. Inglis, W P. Evans, Mrs. C. Springford, and others. The beautiful afternoon attracted about a hundred and fifty guests, many of whom took part in the competitions and other amusements such as quoits, Aunt Sally, etc., for which prizes were awarded. The driving competition was won by Mr. Dermot Crofton; putting competition was tied for by Mr. P. Penrose and Mr W. A. McAfee; ladies' putting was won by Miss Doreen Croftin; clock golf by Mrs T. F. Speed. During the afternoon the president, Mr. W. E. Scott, announced that the Ladies' Perpetual Challenge Cup, donated by Mr. W. A. McAfee, had been won by Miss Doren Crofton, and he congratulated that young lady on her success and also on the fact that this happened to be her birthday. He then asked Mrs. Scott to present the cup. A prize, also donated by Mr. McAfee, was presented to the runner-up, Mrs. T. F. Speed. Tea arrangements were in the hands of Mrs. Speed and Mrs Morris and helpers; ice creams, Mrs. Frank Crofton.

Surprise and Shower

CUMBERLAND, July 25.—Mr. and Mrs. D. Bannerman entertained on Wednesday evening at a delightful surprise party and shower in honor of Miss Margaret Bannerman's marriage to Mr. George Rennison, which will take place at Christ Church Cathedral, Vancouver, on August 1.

There was a large number present at the surprise party and the rooms presented a gay appearance, decorated in a scheme of pink and white, with Summer blooms used lavishly. The honor guest was escorted to a seat of honor to the strains of the Wedding March, played by Miss A McLeod. Miss Bannerman was then presented with a magnificent bouquet by Mrs. Dawson, of Courtenay.

Games of all kinds were played during the evening and several contests held. Refreshments were served and Miss Bannerman was presented with a number of beautiful and costly gifts.

The bride-to-be was until a few years ago a popular member of the teaching staff of the Cumberland Public School. For the past few years she has been on the teaching staff of the Revelstoke Public School. The groom is also a resident of Revelstoke, being manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in the Interior city.

Showing Watercolors

A display of water-colors by Miss Jean C. Forster is attracting notice in the window of C H Smith's art store, 618 View Street, where the pictures will remain on view until this evening. The subjects are almost entirely British Columbia scenery, which is represented in its gayest colors. Many of the scenes are in and around Jasper Park and Banff National Park, but there are one or two Vancouver Island pictures also. Among the themes chosen were "Old Man Mountain," Jasper; "Mount Rundle," Banff, "Morning, East of Jasper;" "Chinook Pass," Banff; "Old Trees," Jasper; "Mount Assiniboine," "The Chinook Arch," "Autumn," Calgary; "Butchart's Gardens," "Moonlight" and some Oak Bay scenes.

London Wedding of Interest to Canada

THE recent wedding of the Earl of Ava and Miss Maureen Guinness at St. Margaret's, Westminster, was not only one of the smartest and prettiest of the current London season but also is of interest to Canadians since the groom is the grandson of Canada's third Governor-General, the late Lord Dufferin, who was here from 1872 to 1878. The bride is the daughter of Hon. Ernest and Mrs. Guinness and a niece of the present Earl of Iveagh.

"He's a clever boy," said the teacher, "but he's very much given to lying." "I don't know where he learned that," said the father. "His mother never tells lies, and I'm so little at home."

TO EXCHANGE PULPIT WORK

Rev. A. K. McMinn, of Kelowna, to Preach at First United

TO BE HERE FOR A MONTH

Interchange of pulpits will begin tomorrow between Rev. Dr. Wilson, of First United Church, and Rev. A. K. McMinn, B.A., of Kelowna, B.C. Dr. Wilson, accompanied by his wife and daughter, left on Wednesday by motor for Kelowna, where he will preach for the next four Sundays. Mr McMinn arrived here on the same day and will reside during the coming month at the manse, 777 Pemberton Road. Mr McMinn was formerly minister of the former Congregational Church in this city and shortly after church union in 1925 became co-pastor with Dr. Sipprell, of Metropolitan Church. For several years he has had a successful pastorate at Kelowna, having been especially successful in young people's work. He was president of the British Columbia Conference in 1929-30. A preacher of considerable power and marked evangelistic fervor, the ministry of Mr. McMinn is being anticipated with pleasure by the First Church congregation. His subjects tomorrow are as follows: 11 o'clock: "God Reasoning With Man"; 7:30: "A Season of Trust and a Day of Reckoning"—an exposition of the parable of the talents.

Pasadena Envoy Will Be Speaker At Army Citadel

Envoy and Mrs. Hawkes, of Pasadena, Cal., will lead the meetings at the Salvation Army Citadel, Broad Street, at 11, 3:15 and 7:15 o'clock. Brother and Sister Hawkes have both given years of service as Salvation Army officers in earlier days. They are interesting speakers and new songs and choruses are features of their meetings. Mrs. Hawkes was perhaps better known as Mrs. Brigadier Potter, and at one time was secretary for women's social work in Western Canada. They have visited the citadel on several occasions and their meetings are always well attended.

OAK BAY TO HAVE MONTHLY MUSICAL

The pastor, Rev. W. A. Guy, will have charge of both services on Sunday at Oak Bay United Church. To the juniors will be told the legend of the "Sunflower." The sermon-subject will be "The High Office of Sympathy." At the evening hour the usual monthly musical service will take place. Congregational singing and special numbers by the choir. A short Summer evening talk will be given by the minister on the thought of "Dog Days in Sleepy Hollow."

The church school will close for the month of August and Labor Sunday. Church attendance will concentrate upon the morning hour.

MR. KENWORTHY TO 'MAINTAIN MALIGN POWER OF FEAR

"The Sustaining Infinite" will be the subject of Mr. Kenworthy's address on Sunday morning at the New Thought Temple, 720½ Fort Street, and "The Elimination of All Fear" will be the evening theme. Mr. Kenworthy will maintain that fear is at the root of all disease and failure, poverty and suffering, and that the elimination of fear will result in the healing of every disease that afflicts mankind. Captain W. Ellis will be the soloist, rendering "As Pants the Hart," from Spohr's "Crucifixion." Barbara Fraser will give one of her delightful piano solos, "Cavatina," by Raffe.

There will be the usual Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday evening lectures. The reading room is open daily, except Monday.

"Truth" Listed For Christian Science Theme

All churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, branches of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., will have the subject of "Truth" for their lesson-sermon on Sunday with the following golden text from Psalms cviii 3, 4: "I will praise Thee, O Lord, among the people and I will sing praises unto Thee among the nations: for Thy mercy is great above the heavens: and Thy truth reacheth unto the clouds." Sunday services are held in First Church of Christ, Scientist, Victoria, in the morning at 11 o'clock. Evening services are at 7.30 o'clock. Wednesday evening services, which include testimonies of healing, are held at 8 o'clock. A free reading-room for the public is maintained in the Sayward Building.

CARTOONIST TO BE HERE FIVE NIGHTS

Rev. E. J. Pace, the cartoonist of the Sunday School Times and other Christian papers, is visiting Victoria and will give a series of addresses in the Bishop Cridge Memorial Hall, under the auspices of the Reformed Episcopal Bible Class, from Monday to Friday, July 28 to August 1.

Mr. Pace is just completing an extensive tour of this country and the British Isles, working among all denominations from coast to coast. In all these addresses, stereoptician slides and cartoons drawn by Mr. Pace are used to illustrate.

The visiting cartoonist was for ten years a missionary in the Philippine Islands, and six years on the faculty of Moody Bible Institute.

Mrs. Flora Frampton Will Give Address On Spiritual Gifts

Mrs. Flora Frampton, pastor of Universal Spiritual Church, Harmony Hall, 724 Fort Street, will take as her subject tomorrow evening, at 7:30 o'clock, "Spiritual Gifts." The afternoon service commences at 3 o'clock. On Monday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, there will be a public circle, and each Wednesday afternoon from 1:30 to 5 o'clock, Mrs Frampton will be at the hall to meet with those wishing personal interviews and readings.

BRANDON PREACHER AT METROPOLITAN

Rev. J. Anderson, Formerly of India, Will Speak Here Tomorrow

The preacher at Metropolitan for Sunday will be Rev. J. Norrie Anderson, of Brandon College, and formerly a lecturer in Madras Christian College, North India. Dr. Anderson is a graduate of Edinburgh University and has spent five years in India. He is highly spoken of in the middle West, where he has supplied some of the leading pulpits.

The soloists for the day will be Charles Sherwood in the morning and Miss Marjorie Watson in the evening.

CONTRALTO FROM LOS ANGELES TO SING AT CHURCH OF OUR LORD

The regular monthly service of praise will be held on Sunday evening, commencing at 7.30 o'clock. The special soloist on this occasion will be Mrs. Olive Dundas, contralto soloist at All Saints Episcopal Church, Los Angeles, California, who will sing "Abide With Me" (Liddle) and "The Holy City" (Adams). The choir will sing "The Radiant Morn" (Woodward) and "Nunc Dimittis" (Stanford). Organ voluntaries are "Pastorale" (Faulkes) and "The Answer" (Wolstenholme).

MRS. GORDON GRANT TO TELL STORY OF COURAGEOUS WOMEN

At Unity Centre, 739 Yates Street, the speaker will be Mrs. Gordon Grant. At 11 o'clock the general subject will be the deliverance of Israel from bondage through the leadership of a courageous woman, the prophetess Deborah; also the deliverance of Israel from death through the courage of Queen Esther. Miss Grace Harding will be the soloist.

In the evening service at 7:30 o'clock the talk will be an unusual one. The subject will be "The Christ and What He Means to the World Today." Miss Eyre will be the accompanist.

REV. F. C. CHAPMAN TO TAKE BOTH SERVICES

The services at St. Paul's Garrison Church, Esquimalt, tomorrow are: Holy Communion, 8 o'clock; Matins and sermon, 10.30, and Evensong and sermon, 7 o'clock.

TO TELL STORY OF CANNIBALS

Miss Yerbury, deputation secretary of the World Evangelization Crusade Society, is making an extended tour of the world. She has lately been in Australia, where she addressed sixty audiences in a month and was wonderfully received. She comes to Victoria on August 4 and remains till August 14. Miss Yerbury has lately been with Miss Muriel Harmon, of Victoria, among the cannibals in the heart of Africa and has a wonderful story to tell of God's dealings in the wilds of Africa. Meetings are being arranged for afternoon and evening, and Rev. A. deS. Owen would be glad to fill up any dates not already taken.

MONTREAL MINISTRY MAKE MERRY MUSIC FOR MACAULAY CAMP

Thirteen ministers in the city of Montreal are getting a reputation for the high quality of their work as a choir, both in concert programmes and singing of a more devotional kind. The choir is composed entirely of ministers of the United Church of Canada resident in Montreal. The conductor is Rev. R. G. Katsunoff, minister of the Church of All Nations, Montreal. The work of this choral group, the study and practice of good music, is, of course, a great source of pleasure to its members, but they have also found abundant opportunity of helping others. Their singing was the chief feature of the three concerts given this Spring in aid of the Macaulay Camp at L'Orignal, Ont., for under-privileged boys and girls, and during the two weeks before Easter they were of great help at the evangelistic meetings conducted in the different noon-hour service held at the C N R shops on Wednesday of Passion Week.

SOCIETY REPORTS SUCCESSFUL YEAR AMONG SHANTYMEN

The activities of the Shantymen's Christian Association in British Columbia are reported in the last issue of The Shantyman. Statistics show that in the twelve months ending ending March 31, 1930, 204 camps were visited, 122 services held, 1,050 homes visited, and 1,080 of D. L. Moody's books, 2,000 tracts, 2,550 Scripture portions and 5,800 Shantymen were distributed. By these means, with but one missionary in the field for eight months, and two for the balance of the year, 11,400 people were reached with the gospel.

The following services will be held at St. Mark's Church, Cloverdale, tomorrow: Holy Communion at 8 o'clock, Matins and sermon at 11, and Evensong at 7 o'clock. The vicar will take for his sermon-subject in the morning, "God's Love and the World's Pain," and at Evensong his subject will be "The Unpardonable Sin."

Congregationalists Laud Action of Lambeth in 1920

WORLD Congregationalists meeting in Bournemouth, England, have sent to the Archbishop of Canterbury a resolution expressing appreciation of the action of the Lambeth Conference of ten years ago in making the question of unity a live one. "We, too, pray for the day," the resolution reads, "when in God's good providence and in his own perfect way the difficulties in the way of complete fellowship may be removed."

Dr. J. D. Jones, of Bournemouth, leading figure of British Congregationalism, was chosen Moderator of the International Council, which meets, like the Lambeth Conference, every ten years.

REV. H. P. S. LUTTRELL TO GO ON HOLIDAY

Prairie Province Ministers to Supply St. Andrew's Pulpit During August

Preaching on his last Sunday before vacation, Rev. H. P. S. Luttrell, minister of St. Andrew's Church, corner of Broughton and Douglas Streets, will take for his morning's theme "A City of Truth" (Zech. viii, 3-8). In the evening he will speak on "The Master's Secret of Power" (Matt. xiii, 54; xxvi, 53), as arising from his prayer life. Rev. Dr. J. H. Woodside, of Calgary, will preach in the minister's vacation on the first three Sundays of August, and Rev. H. R. Thorne, of Regina, will occupy the pulpit on August 17 and 24.

President of Conference to Visit Churches

Mr Sanford, who is president of the B.C. United Church Conference, leaves on Monday for an extensive visitation of the Prince Rupert and Cariboo presbyteries. He will attend the presbytery meeting of Prince Rupert at Terrace, and, among other places, will visit Bella Bella, Ocean Falls, Prince Rupert, Port Essington, Port Simpson, Stewart, Anyox, Smithers, Prince George, Quesnel and Williams Lake, devoting the entire month of August to the trip.

During August the Victoria West Church will have Rev. W. E. Galloway for three Sundays and Rev. J. D. Hobden for two Sundays, both being leading preachers of Vancouver.

Church Unity Progresses in North India

While church union in South India is to the fore and is one of the main topics of the Lambeth Conference now in session, there is also a strong movement towards union in the vaster territory in the north. The churches now concerned are the Scottish, the Irish, and the American Presbyterians, the United Church of Canada and the Congregational Church of America. Dr Stanley Jones has been urging that the American Methodists also come in, and there is hope that the union will yet include all the Protestant churches in that region.

NANAIMO CHURCH MAKES APPEAL FOR REBUILDING FUND

An appeal is being made by Rev. Harry V. Hitchcox and Wardens John F. Newman and C. R. Lee, of St. Paul's Church, Nanaimo, for contributions to a rebuilding fund. "Fire having destroyed the church and other buildings we are," says the appeal, "for the moment homeless, and not in a position to carry on the good work which was started in Nanaimo seventy years ago. Circumstances compel us to appeal to the generosity of the public in order to re-establish ourselves and the church committee has authorized this appeal for funds."

Donations may be made through the banks, the wardens or the rector. Cheques should be made payable to St. Paul's Rebuilding Fund.

WILL TAKE OLD TESTAMENT TALE

At Victoria West United Church, Rev. O. M Sanford will preach in the morning on "The Wayside Ministries of Jesus," and in the evening on "Guard the Supreme Interests," the latter being based upon an Old Testament story of great dramatic power.

McMASTER NOW AT HAMILTON

McMaster University, the leading educational institution of Canadian Baptists, moved in July 8 from Toronto to Hamilton, where commodious grounds and a science building have been donated by the citizens. Dr Whidden, formerly of Brandon College, is Chancellor and President of McMaster.

In St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Victoria West, on Sunday at 11 o'clock, the minister, Rev. J. S. Patterson, will preach on "Beacon Lights of History; William Carey, Translator," and in the evening at 7:30 o'clock Rev. J. Barnes, of Granum, Alberta, will take for his theme, "The Church in the Home."

REVISED BIBLE WAS EAGERLY RECEIVED

Diamond Jubilee of New Scripture Version Is Recalled

On June 22, 1870, the epoch-making work of the Old and the New Testament Revision Companies began at Westminster, the former in the Chapter Library and the latter in the Jerusalem Chamber. The initial step had been taken in February, when a resolution was carried in the Upper House of the Convocation of Canterbury, calling for the appointment of a joint committee to report upon the desirableness of a revision of the Authorised Version. After that events moved rapidly, and two large companies of distinguished scholars were appointed to undertake the task, which in the case of the New Testament took ten years, and in the Old Testament fourteen. By a wise decision it was agreed to invite the cooperation of scholars of other churches.

When the book was placed on the market on May 20, 1881, traffic in London was suspended all day on account of the rush of buyers. In New York the truck that conveyed the books to the sales warehouse was guarded by policemen. As a version the revision was disappointing and it has never come into general use. An editorial in The Colonist on May 24, only four days after publication, voiced the general attitude toward the new book: "A writer in The London Standard makes a savage and by no means unjust attack upon the revised edition of the New Testament and its revision. The original text has been mutilated as to be unrecognizable in many places, and even the Lord's Prayer has not escaped." A brisk correspondence was carried on the columns of The Colonist. The Old Testament appeared four years later, but excited little comment. Both have now passed into desuetude.

MISSIONARY BOAT WILL PATROL WEST COAST OF ISLAND

A new mission boat will shortly begin its benevolent patrol of the West Coast on behalf of the United Church of Canada. The new vessel will take the place of the Broadcaster and will run out of Bamfield. She is named the Melvin Swartout, after a heroic missionary of the former Presbyterian Church who lost his life in 1904 while on his way to one of the Indian villages along the coast, and is a tribute also to the memory of his wife, who carried on her husband's work for a number of years after his death.

This addition to the United Church's fleet in the Pacific waters was built by Captain Wm. Oliver, a veteran missionary of eighty, who, on his retirement from active service, was presented with a splendid illuminated testimonial by the British Columbia Conference at the recent meeting in Vancouver. Captain Oliver continues his service as designer and builder of mission boats for the church.

The Melvin Swartout is now at Queen Charlotte, Skidegate Inlet, for outfitting, and when completed will be the seventh mission boat in continuous service among the settlements, canneries, logging camps and Indian villages, besides one emergency hospital during the fishing season. The six vessels are the famous Thomas Crosby, running out of Ocean Falls; William Oliver, from Queen Charlotte City; Sky Pilot, from Alert Bay; Edward White, from Quathiaski Cove, and Melquack from Bella Bella. The Melvin Swartout will be in charge of Rev. J. Dear as missionary, with K. C. Hansen as engineer.

MANY CATHEDRALS ARE BEING BUILT

Never was there such an era for cathedral-building, says The Canadian Churchman. In the American Episcopal Church alone, cathedrals are in course of erection, or else have been recently completed, in New York, Washington, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Spokane, Hastings (Neb.); while Baltimore and Philadelphia are having plans prepared. It is significant that the religious life desires to be expressed as impressively as possible, and after all, it is true that a beautiful cathedral never ceases to preach from the moment that it is planned.

VACATION READING OF DR. P. CADMAN

According to The Christian Herald, Dr Cadman, the famous religious leader in the United States and well known to a large radio audience, is apparently not accustomed to take much light reading with him on his holidays. The Christian Herald states that on one vacation he took with him by way of recreation browsing the Encyclopedia Brittanica and a few books on art, literature, science and religion.

Unique Character Is Evangelistic Leader in Japan

ORATOR, novelist, labor leader and slum worker, Dr Toyohiko Kagawa continues to take an enlarging place in the church life of Japan. He is the chief evangelist of the Kingdom of God movement, which aims at trebling the Christian membership in that country. His story is told in tomorrow's issue.

Put in Nomination For Moderator

REV. T. ALBERT MOORE, D.D.
Secretary of the United Church of Canada, Has Been Nominated by Newfoundland Conference for Chair of Presiding Officer.

CANON TO GIVE NATURE STUDY

Hour's Service at St. John's Church Includes Prayer for Lambeth

There will be Holy Communion at St. John's Church at 8 o'clock, Morning Prayer at 11 and Evensong at 7.30. During the Summer months the rector of St. John's, Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick, has been delivering a series of exceptionally short sermons, in length about ten or twelve minutes, thus keeping the whole service almost within an hour's duration. Continuing this series tomorrow, Canon Chadwick will base his morning address on the Scripture appointed for the day, and in the evening will give a short nature study entitled "The Message of the Cornfields."

An organ recital will be given by Mr. G. Jennings Burnett before the evening service, commencing at ten minutes past seven. Special prayers for the Lambeth Conference will be offered during the services of the day.

Layman to Take Pulpit Work at Fairfield United

The pastor of Fairfield United Church, Rev. Hugh Nixon, who is supplying the pulpit at St. Aidans' Church at 11 o'clock, will have as a substitute in his own pulpit an outstanding layman of wide experience, in the person of Mr. John K Koehn, of Lacombe, Alberta. The pastor will occupy his own pulpit in the evening, speaking on "The New Humanitarianism and Peace."

Major Watts, organist, has chosen special musical artists in the person of Mrs. C. Kemsley, contralto soloist, and a duet by Mrs. Kemsley and Miss Grace Platt. In the evening, Mr. E. Pearson is the soloist, and an anthem by the choir.

Fairfield Vacation School will be held August 4 to 15. Mr. M P Bette, of Calgary, will address the Sunday school at 9 45 o'clock.

Church Briefs

"God and the Eagle" will be the sermon-subject at James Bay United Church, corner of Menzies and Michigan Streets, Sunday evening at 7.30 o'clock. A warm welcome awaits everyone who would worship at this church. Service at Esquimalt United Church at 10.30 o'clock in the morning. The minister, Rev W. R. Brown, will be the speaker at both services.

The gospel open-air meeting in Beacon Hill Park is proving of interest and it is decided to meet on Sunday again at 3 30 o'clock. Favorite old hymns will be sung and short addresses given. Mrs Robertson, of Vancouver, soprano, will be the soloist. Sunday school boys and girls are especially invited to assist in the gospel choruses.

At Knox Presbyterian Church, Stanley Avenue and Pembroke Street, the usual services will be held on Sunday. Sunday school at 9 45 o'clock, church services at 11 and 7.30. Rev E Barnes, of Granum, Alberta, will preach in the morning and Rev. Charles Thomson in the evening.

Services will be held in the Douglas Street Baptist Church, Cloverdale, tomorrow at 11 o'clock and in the evening at 7 30. Rev F. W. McKinnon, the pastor, being on holiday, the service in the morning will be conducted by Mr Blackallar and in the evening by Dr. William Russell. Prayer meeting Wednesday evening, and the B.Y.P.U. Friday.

VANCOUVER WOMAN TO BE PSYCHIC SPEAKER

The Society for Psychic Research meets in the S.O.E. Hall on Sunday at 7 30 o'clock. The speaker for tomorrow is Mrs. Hulme, of Vancouver. Messages at close of the lecture. Public is welcome.

"Mr. Masefield found his public in 1911," according to The Church of England Newspaper, "with his long narrative poem, 'The Everlasting Mercy.' I remember reading the poem aloud to a company of men and women soon after it was published, and I shall not forget how it thrilled them. The stark realism and power of the lines grip the mind and make one's blood tingle." His Nativity play, "The Coming of Christ," was played some time ago in Canterbury Cathedral.

General Council of United Church Will Meet Setember 17

THE Fourth General Council of the United Church of Canada will meet in St. Andrew's Church, London, Ont., on September 17. Commissioners to attend this high court of the church have been elected by conferences and presbyteries at their latest sessions. This will be the fourth since the union of 1925, previous councils having been held at Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg. The Moderators have been Revs. Drs. George Pidgeon, James Endicott and W. T. Gunn, the last named relinquishing gavel and gown at the opening session in favor of his successor to be elected that evening. Nominees that have been named by provincial bodies include Revs. Drs. W. T. O. Brown, of Kingston, Robert Laird, of Toronto, E. H. Oliver, of Saskatoon, and T. Albert Moore, of Toronto.

POWELL RIVER MAN TO SPEAK TOMORROW

Rev. T. H. Nuttall, M.A., Formerly of Columbia College to Be at Centennial

Rev. T. H. Nuttall, M.A., of Powell River, formerly principal of Columbian College, will be the preacher in Centennial Church next Sunday. In the morning he will address the question, "Is Christianity Worth While?" and give Paul's answer thereto. "The Brevity and Value of Life" will be the subject at the evening service. The services at Centennial are being well sustained, and it is hoped that large congregations will greet Mr. Nuttall next Sunday.

The soloists will be Miss Irene Foster in the morning and Miss Mary Samuelson in the evening service.

WILL NARRATE HIS LIFE STORY

Rev. W. O. Weston will close his mission at the Tabernacle of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, Yates Street, tomorrow. He will preach in the morning at 11 o'clock and in the afternoon at 3:30, "The Coming King," and in the evening at 7.30 o'clock he will give his life's story, narrating how he was given up to die. Class meeting at 10 o'clock; Sunday school at 2:30.

Sir Oliver Lodge, who was a churchwarden of the little church at Wellsford, near his home at Normanton, and frequently read the lessons, told an interviewer of The Methodist Times that "our greatest need is that we should get back to Christ."

"POET MYSTICS": DEAN'S SUBJECT

Cathedral Pulpit Will Continue Series of Summer Sermons

BRITISH VOLUNTARIES

The Dean of Columbia is announced as the preacher at both morning and evening services in Christ Church Cathedral tomorrow. At the 7 30 o'clock service the Dean will preach on "The Mystical Poets of the Church of England," in continuation of a series of sermons on "The Mystical Element in Religion."

Holy Communion services will be held tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock and 9 30, and a service for children will be conducted in the Memorial Hall chapel at 11 o'clock.

According to a notice appearing in "The Cathedral Leaflet," the organ voluntaries at the cathedral for the next four Sundays will be devoted entirely to works by British composers, further details being given each week in the leaflet.

Next week's services will include Holy Communion on Monday morning at 10 30 o'clock, and on Thursday at 8 o'clock and 10 30. Morning Prayer is said daily in the northeast chapel at 8.30, with the Litany on Wednesday and Friday and Evensong at 5·15.

Rev. F. McKinnon To Preach Twice At First Baptist

The services at the First Baptist Church tomorrow will be conducted by Rev. F. W. McKinnon. At the morning service he will have for his text "Christ or Chaos." Billie Inglis will be the soloist. In the evening the subject will be "Love's Greatest Question." Mr. Percy Edmonds will render a bass solo at the evening service.

A week from Sunday (August 31, the pulpit will be occupied by Rev. C. T. Morris, superintendent for missions throughout the province. On Monday evening the usual weekly meeting of the young people of the church will be held at 8 o'clock, and on Wednesday at the same time the midweek service of the church will be held for prayer and praise.

Divine service will be conducted at the Gorge Presbyterian Church, Tillicum Road, tomorrow at 11 o'clock, and at Erskine Presbyterian Church, corner of Harriett and Lurline Roads, at 7 o'clock. Rev A. O Thomson, B.D., the minister, will conduct the services at both churches, his sermon-subject to be "A Basket of Summer Fruit." Prayer meeting Wednesday, when the subject will be a continuation of a series of studies upon "Modern Religious Liberalism and Its Effect Upon the Christian Church."

Australia Scores 275 Runs for Seven Wickets in Test Against England

Cream of Aussies' Batsmen Fall as Wicket Aids Bowlers at Old Trafford—Bradman Loses Wicket After Scoring 14 Runs

(Canadian Press)

MANCHESTER, Eng., July 25.—Was the judgment of W. M. Woodfull, captain of the Australian cricket team, at fault when, after winning the toss, he put his own team in first against England in the fourth test match which began at Old Trafford today? The answer can be visualized by the havoc Clarence Grimmett, Australia's premier bowler, must have wrought where the comparatively raw English attack attained such success. Australia lost seven wickets for the comparatively small score of 275 runs.

A sudden change in the wicket was brought about by an almost imperceptible streak of sunshine which licked the sodden ground at intervals. Critics feel Australia should have been back in the clubhouse, with England ready to take advantage of a batsman's wicket tomorrow. The English bowling fell just short of greatness though it must be admitted one Australian batsman, A. F. Kippax, lived through a desperate situation by miracles to materially help out his side's score.

Riper hands than England's three green test match bowlers, I. A. R. Peebles, T. M. Goddard and M. Stanley Nichols, were needed to send home subtler thrusts when Australia cracked after Woodfull and W. H. Ponsford had given them such a great start off. Peebles did one thing that won him credit: he was the master of Don Bradman, Australia's phenomenal batsman, who fell a victim to the Oxford University bowler's wiles.

PONSFORD HIGH SCORER

Perhaps A. P. F. Chapman, the English skipper, took too long to realize Peebles' value, and might have cut short the opening stand earlier through him. As it was, Woodfull and Ponsford put on 106 for the first wicket, the former scoring 54. Ponsford went on to get 83, top score of the day.

Possibly Bradman's recent indisposition affected his game. At any rate he never looked like staying, although Peebles truly deceived him with a splendid ball.

The bringing on of Wally Hammond, in the afternoon, was a master stroke, and he snuffed out the life of a first-class batsman in V. Y. Richardson.

The fielding of the Englishmen was consistently excellent, and no real chance was missed. England's prayer for fine weather tomorrow seemed to have been answered, for there was a gorgeous sunset of mottled blue and gold tonight. Only a little warm sun is required to completely dry out the turf.

DERBY CHALKS UP ANOTHER VICTORY

Defeats Surrey by 199 Runs—Kent Wins on First Innings From Somerset XI

LONDON, July 25. — Derbyshire scored another victory when they defeated Surrey in an English County cricket match at the Kennington Oval by 199 runs today.

Scores were:

Derby, 162 and 305 for four wickets, declared (Smith 107, Townsend 102); Surrey, 158 and 110 (Slater, five wickets for 46 runs; Mitchell, four wickets for 40 runs).

The match between Yorkshire and Northamptonshire at Harrowgate was abandoned on account of wet weather.

Kent won on the first innings from Somerset at Maidstone. Kent made 207 for nine wickets (Chardinge, 76; White, seven wickets for 81 runs), and Somerset, 121.

Lancashire had a first innings win over Essex at Leyton. Lancashire scored 261 for eight wickets declared, and 60 for one wicket, declared; Essex, 139 and 66 runs for no wickets.

Worcestershire were also ahead on the first innings against Hampshire at Bournemouth. Worcester got 483 for nine wickets, declared and 114 for one wicket (J. Fox, not out), and Hants, 312 (G. Brown 113; Boyes, 70).

Other first innings wins were scored by Nottinghamshire against Sussex at Brighton and Middlesex against Warwickshire at Birmingham. Notts got 283 (Payton 116, not out), and Sussex, 25. Middlesex scored 338 (Hulme 117, not out), and Warwick, 179 and 17 for two wickets.

Boxing Getting to Be "Foul" Game

FOUL!!
IN THE MODERN HEAVYWEIGHT FIGHTS THE LOSER IS STANDING AND THE WINNER CARRIED OUT
THE LOSER
THE WINNER
Al Demaree

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Just what is the reason for the epidemic of fouls that has broken out in the battles of the heavyweights in the last year? In the old days when the average boxer trained in a barroom and fought for a pitifully small purse or side bet, and was illiterate and tough as they make them, he always fought fair and gave the customers a run for their money.

Some of the epic battles of the past would never have occurred if those old gladiators had the complex, or whatever you want to call it, to foul out of a tough spot.

Jim Jeffries didn't take the easiest way out against Jack Johnson when he was all in and the title and supremacy of the white race in the ring at stake.

What is the attitude of mind of the average heavyweight today? Maybe it's as George Stallings used to say about some ball players.

Play-Offs For City Softball Title, Aug. 7-15

The city softball champions will be named between the dates of August 7-15, according to a decision reached at a recent meeting of the Lower Island Softball Association. Jokers, winners of the Westholme League championship, will clash with the Victoria and District League titleholders in a three-game series at the Royal Athletic Park.

The games will be played under the provincial rules. Umpires for the play-offs will be announced later. The winners of city honors will meet the Mainland champions for the British Columbia laurels. New Westminster Pharmacy are the present provincial champions, having defeated Victoria West last year in the finals.

Entries for B.C. Tennis Meet Will Close Tonight

ENTRIES for the British Columbia tennis championships, which will start at the Victoria Tennis Club, Monday, will be received at the Willows clubhouse up to 6 o'clock, and at Phone 173 until 8 o'clock tonight. The list will be closed following the latter time and the draw made for the opening rounds.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Hindu With Two Mouths—This Hindu, who is about thirty years of age, has an accessory mouth above the hyoid from which his tongue can be protruded and deglutition performed. Though mastication must be performed by the upper mouth, the man can drink liquids in his second mouth as easily as with his normal one. He has never been ill, is of ordinary intelligence and lives on an ordinary diet. An account of this medical curiosity appears in a recent issue of The Indian Medical Gazette, and is verified by Dr. A. R. Alexander, 446 Kingston Avenue, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Ben Burbidge Caught Eight Gorillas With His Bare Hands—Mr. Burbidge has headed five expeditions to Africa making a scientific study of wild animals. On these expeditions he has captured eight gorillas in hand to hand struggles, and Professor Yerkes, of Yale University, gives him credit for being the only white men to catch a live gorilla successfully. Mr. Burbidge's book "Gorilla" is an excellent treatise on its habits and life. He is also author of many newspaper and magazine articles on that subject, and has marketed a motion picture, "Ben Burbidge's Gorilla Hunt."

STRIBLING READY FOR SCOTT FIGHT

American Winds Up Training for Bout With British Champion Monday Night

YOUNG STRIBLING

Last night the pride of Georgia slept near the battlements of old Windsor Castle, confident will put him on the threshold of a world championship duel with Max Schmeling and will be short and decisive in his favor.

Stribling's final heavy workout was before invited guests and anybody else who wanted to come except Charles Rose, British manager of Scott, whom "Pa" Stribling invited to leave the ringside.

"You can watch the boy skipping rope, but it's hardly fair to see him box," explained the elder Stribling. "We haven't been to Scott's camp and I see no reason for your presence here."

NEW BREAST STROKE SWIM MARK CLAIMED

MANCHESTER, England, July 25.—A new world's swimming record for 300 yards, breast stroke, for women, was claimed today for Celia Wolstenholme. She swam the distance last night in 2 minutes 56 seconds, beating the former record by ten and a half seconds.

The officially listed world's record for the 200-yard breast stroke swim, in a 25-yard pool, is 3 minutes 3 seconds, set by E. King, of Great Britain, at Glasgow, in 1927.

SCHMELING RESCUED AFTER BOAT CAPSIZED

BERLIN, July 25.—Max Schmeling, world's heavyweight champion, today was rescued from Charmuetzel Lake, southeast of Berlin, when his motor boat capsized during a storm.

The champion was spending his boat when it upset in rough water. Another motor racer coming behind hauled Max out, and he appeared none the worse for his spill.

LARGE FIELD TO START IN TIMES SWIM

Eighteen Natators Will Take Plunge in Annual Through-Victoria Grind

GEORGE BURROWS IS DEFENDING TROPHY

Event to Start From Causeway at 2:30 o'Clock This Afternoon

Fourteen senior competitors from Victoria, Vancouver and Up-Island points, will line-up on the float in front of the Empress Hotel at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, waiting for the report of the gun that will send them on their way in the annual Times Through-Victoria swim from the Causeway to the Gorge. Along with them will go four juniors, who, with three under eighteen swimmers, will strive for the junior cup, which will be awarded to the youngster reaching Point Ellice Bridge in first place.

When the natators take the plunge, all eyes will be focused on George Burrows, Vancouver's star distance man, and last year's winner of the coveted piece of silverware. Burrows is a powerful swimmer and will take the water today a strong favorite to retain his laurels, although the formidable entry is expected to force him to the limit from the start to the finish.

"Y" FLASH ENTERED

Denny Walker, Y.M.C.A. youngster, who has made great strides in the aquatic world during the past twelve months, will be a strong contender for the honors, although only a junior. Walker will compete for the junior silverware and then continue the race for the senior honors. Percy Norman and George Driscoe are two other senior competitors from the Mainland, who will have to be watched.

Great interest has been taken in this year's fair sex entrants. Carrie Gray, formerly of Chemainus, Winnie Pollard, Crystal Garden Swimming Club, and Alice Taylor, unattached, will face the starter as the favorites in their class. Thelma Aspinwall and Lillian Anderson will be starters.

The best of facilities have been provided for the swimmers. Changing accommodation will be at the Crystal Garden and the J.B.A.A. headquarters at the Gorge.

Competitors who find it impossible to continue the grind are asked to flag one of the launches for assistance from the water.

The entry list follows:

SENIOR

W. C. Cooper, H.M.C.S. Vancouver; Bill Jennings, H.M.C.S. Vancouver; Denny Walker, Y.M.C.A.; Ed. Roskelly, Y.M.C.A.; Robert Robel, unattached; C. Rasmussen, Garrison; Alex Thomson, Ladysmith; Will Pollard, Crystal Garden; Alice Taylor, unattached; George Burrows, Vancouver; Percy Norman, Vancouver; George Driscoe, Vancouver; Bill Findlay, Crystal Garden, Carrie Gray, Crystal Garden.

JUNIOR

OFFICIALS

Officials follow—Lloyd M. Sallaway, starter; H. B. Witter and Alderman James Adam, judges; A. W. Trevett and W. Duncan, timekeepers; Dr. W. Bapty, doctor; Art Stott, announcer; Captain Hanson, of the Marine Department, clerk of course.

NICOL THOMPSON, SR. HAS SINGLE STROKE EDGE ON BIG FIELD

Home Pro Adds 71 to First-Round Score of 66 for Total of 137—Manero's Two 69's Places Him in Second Berth With 138—George Von Elm Low Amateur With Total of 141

Walter Hagen and Johnny Farrell Bracketed in Third Place With 139

ANCASTER, Ont., July 25.—It was a day of surprises, of unexpected changes, and in some cases of distinctly poor putting at the Hamilton Country Club's course today, when the second round of the Canadian open golf championship was played. In the sifting process, Nicol Thompson, Sr., Ancaster professional, regained his lead by the narrow margin of one point; Tony Manero, the excitable Italian from Elmsford, N.Y., a caddy not so long ago, moved into second place; Walter Hagen and handsome Johnny Farrell tied for third place, another point behind. Farrell went near the top by virtue of a spectacular 66.

Nicol Thompson, playing over his own course, shot a 71 today, but with yesterday's remarkable 66 his score was still good enough to keep him in front of the high-class field, giving him 137 for the two days. His putting was largely responsible for the five extra strokes over yesterday. He took thirty-two putts against twenty-nine yesterday.

FARRELL EQUALS RECORD

Farrell shot the finest round of the day, 66, equaling the course record set and repeated by Thompson, and more than making up for his 73 yesterday. Farrell, debonair as ever, shot five fours, three threes and a two in his first round of 31, four under par. No one has excelled this 31 for the outward journey.

After the first four came Al Watrous, Birmingham, Mich., and Emmet French, of South Pines, N.C., each with a thirty-six-hole total of 140. Watrous, 1922 winner of the open title, turned in a 72, four strokes higher than yesterday. French turned in a 68, two below par.

In the 141 bracket, as the day's play finished, were some of the most formidable contenders. Here were included Leo Diegel, titleholder and four times winner; Macdonald Smith, superb stylist, winner in 1926; Charles Lacey, of Pine Valley, Pa., and George Von Elm, Los Angeles, former winner of the United States amateur title.

C. Ross Somerville, of London, former Canadian amateur champion, the next highest Canadian, has a two-day total of 142.

LOCAL GOLFERS TO SEEK STATE OPEN LAURELS

Phil Taylor and Walter Gravlin to Play in Washington State Tourney

ATTRACTIVE FIELD WILL FACE STARTER

When one of the most attractive fields in the history of the event tees off in the annual Washington State open golf tournament, which gets under way Monday at the Bellingham Golf and Country Club, included among the entrants will be Phil Taylor and Walter Gravlin, professionals at the Victoria and Uplands golf clubs respectively.

Both local members of the paid brigade will leave here tomorrow, and will reach the scene of the tourney in time for a little practice before the barrier is sprung. Taylor and Gravlin are playing well at the present time, and are expected to be heard from when the distribution of prizes takes place.

The tournament opens with two days of medal play, seventy-two holes in all. The meet is open to low handicapped amateurs and members of the Washington State Professional Golfers' Association, and to others to whom the organization may invite. Besides the two local pros, several other British Columbia salaried exponents will be among the contenders.

With such players as Neil Christian, Johnny Jones, Bill Jefferson, Dave Black, Don and Dune Sutherland, Mortie Dutra and Walter Pursey from the professional ranks, and Bon Stein, Forest Watson, Johnny Shields, Alex Duncan, Clark Speirs, Lee Steil and several younger Simon-pures, the open classic is expected to be recorded in the books as the most successful in the history of the meet.

PRIMO CARNERA TO GET HEARING

Giant Italian Granted Interview With U.S. Officials to Discuss Deportation Order

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Primo Carnera, huge Italian prize fighter, will be given an opportunity Monday by immigration officials to show why he should not leave the United States.

Carnera's six months' leave in the country has expired and he has been ordered overseas. His representatives protested and the board of review today fixed the date for the hearing. Meanwhile no penalties will be imposed for his remaining here.

Carnera has been fighting over the country under a permit given many foreign entertainers and visitors, entitling him to remain six months.

If he wished to stay here permanently he would be obliged to obtain a status as a quota immigrant from his own country, but the Italian quota at present is very difficult to enter. The hearing will be held in Washington.

LANGFORD TENNIS

LANGFORD, July 24.—Results of the local tennis tournament, which has excited much interest, follow:

Ladies' Singles Handicap — Won by Mrs. F. A. Sparks from Mrs. A. P. Bayles by default.

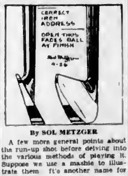
Open doubles—Mrs. A. P. Bayles and H. C. C. Bennett defeated Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Le Quesne, 6-2, 6-3; Miss C. Setchfield and R. A. Pennington defeated Mrs. F. A. Sparks and S. Turner, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4; Mrs. A. P. Bayles and H. C. C. Bennett defeated Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Brown, 6-4, 6-2. Final Mrs. A. P. Bayles and H. C. C. Bennett defeated Miss C. Setchfield and R. A. Pennington, 6-0, 6-2.

Duffer Should Use Straight Ahead Shot



By SOL METZGER

A few more general points about the run-up shot before delving into the various methods of playing it. Suppose we use a mashie to illustrate them. It's another name for a No. 5 iron.

To play a ball straight ahead with a mashie you would address it as I have sketched it at the left of the accompanying illustration. To get a bit of fade or slice to the ball with this club, one very simple way is to address the ball as I have sketched at the right of the illustration. Then, by swinging the club in a normal way, just as you would for the straight-ahead shot, you would impart a cut to it that would cause the ball to fade and slice to the right.

Such a ball will not hold its line. So it must be played well to the left of the pin. No one can tell you what allowance to make for it. Experience alone, gained by much practice, determines that for the golfer. So, it seems much better for the duffer to play his run-up straight ahead. Far less to think about and to allow for. Next—"Cyril Tolley's Run-up."

MARJORIE LEEMING REACHES TENNIS FINAL

Lehman Crushes Phil Perkins in Western Golf Semi-Final

Chicagoan Burns Up Course in Surprise Win Over Britisher

Windy City Star Scores 8 and 7 Victory—Ira Couch Reaches Other Final by Downing Bob McCrary, 2 and 1

CHICAGO, July 25.—The Western amateur golf championship was made safe for Chicago today as Johnny Lehman and Ira Couch, two of the Windy City's highest ranking young stars, crowded into the finals with surprising triumphs.

Lehman, co-medalist and conqueror yesterday of the defending champion, Don Moe, Portland, Ore., galloped into the final round with a crushing 8 and 7 defeat of England's last hope, T. Phillip Perkins. Couch, never before a victor in an important tournament outside of Chicago, reached the round by defeating Bob McCrary, Des Maines, 2 and 1. Of the triumphs today that of Lehman was the most startling. The methodical Briton who dazzled the championship Beverley Country Club course yesterday with a record equalling 69, went into the fight a three to one favorite.

GIVES PAR TRIMMING

Lehman, former Big Ten champion, won his duel with Perkins by par-fracturing golf on the in nine of the morning round, and on his outward journey under a blazing sun in the afternoon. The first nine holes resembled more or less of a dog fight. After halving the first hole, Lehman started bagging a par five on the second when the Briton started the hooking epidemic that robbed him of his usually fine game. Perkins squared the match for the first and last time on the third with a par 3, and at the quarter turn Lehman had him one down.

The second nine was almost a massacre. Playing his groove swing perfectly Johnny shot seven perfect holes, went one over par on one and squared his accounts with par by getting a birdie for a nine hole score of 35. The outburst on the tough course hiked his margin to a big five up as he went to lunch.

Going out in the afternoon Lehman was better than ever, shooting a 35, one stroke under par, while Perkins stumbled along with a bad 40 and made the three-quarters turn eight down. The 28th and 29th were halved in pars, and it was all over.

Stymies enabled Couch to stop McCrary. Four times he stymied the Scot, and three times the obstacle meant lost holes.

GEHRIG PRESSING BIG SIX LEADERS

Yankee First Sacker Cracks Out Homer, Triple and Single to Raise Average to .389

Lou Gehrig tossed a little excitement into the Big Six batting race yesterday as he moved a long step nearer the .390 class, while his rivals were making little or no progress. Lou hit his twenty-ninth home run of the year, a triple and a single in five times at bat, raised his average three points and went into fourth place ahead of the idle Riggs Stephenson. Al Simmons was the other serious hitter, getting two blows, one a homer, in five times up to hold his mark at 393.

LOU GEHRIG

Frank O'Doul failed to hit in four attempts, but with the aid of semi-official revision, which took away one time at bat, dropped only to 404, remaining two points ahead of Chuck Klein, who lost a point by getting only one hit in four times up. Babe Ruth failed to connect in his two official times at bat and fell off three more points.

J. Savident and R. Cran Capture Hibben-Bone Cup

Jack Savident and R. Cran captured the Hibben-Bone Cup at the Uplands Golf Club, Thursday evening, by defeating H G English and A. Woodcroft in the finals, one up. It was the second play-off for the silverware, the first, last week, having ended all square.

MANITOBA TO HAVE NEW GOLF CHAMPION

WINNIPEG, July 25—Manitoba will crown a new amateur golf champion tomorrow. Alex Weir, of Niakwa Club, seeking to defend the title he won a year ago, succumbed to the brilliant irons and deadly putting of Dave Arnott, Assiniboine veteran, in the semi-final today, and will match strokes in the final with Dan Kennedy, broad-shouldered Rugby star of the St. Charles, who eliminated "Chuck" Hodgman, Niakwa.

Arnott downed Weir 1 up after a seesaw struggle. Kennedy, clinging to par figures, except when he stroked under them, was always in front of young Hodgman, champion two years ago.

Chief John Fry Is Appointed Starter For Cycle Events

CHIEF of Police John Fry will act as official starter in the Canadian bicycle championships, which will be held next week at the Royal Athletic and Beacon Hill Parks, according to an announcement yesterday by G. Robinson, of the Victoria Cycling Club. Police Commissioner Walter E. Staneland has been appointed as one of the judges. Other officials will be announced later.

In a slugging bee, Elks' balltossers, checked in with a 10-5 victory over the lowly Eagles in a Senior Amateur Baseball League fixture at the Royal Athletic Park last night. The tribe took the lead in the first inning and held it until the fourth, when the antlered crew climbed out in front and were never headed.

McDonald, veteran slab artist who did the heavy work for the Eagles, was nicked for fifteen safeties, six of which went for extra bases. He breezed four. Wade Steele, on the mound for the Elks, was touched for ten hits, four going for extra bases. He breezed the same number as McDonald.

Doc. Webster, covering the initial cushion for the Elks, had a great night with his trusty willow, collecting four safeties out of four trips to the plate. These included two triples and a double.

Bill Brousseau led the tribe's sluggers with a triple, a double and a single out of four times to bat.

MEMBER OF BRITISH POLO TEAM INJURED

BEAUFORT PARK, Wiltshire, England, July 25.—Aidan Roark, member of the British polo team, which will invade the United States in September, was injured today when he was tossed from his pony in the fourth period of a match between the Hurlingham and Beaufort Park teams. Roark fell on his head receiving a concussion.

Hurlingham, with Captain R. George, Gerland Balding, Capt. C. T. Roark and Lewis Lacey defeated Beaufort Park quartette, 10-8. The Beaufort Park team consisted of Capt. M. Kingscote, H. C. Walford, Major E. G. Atkinson and Aidan Roark. After Roark's injury, H. P. Guiness went into the line-up.

France and U.S. Break Even in Tennis Finals

Bill Tilden Scores Victory Over Borotra and Cochet Defeats Lott in Opening Singles—Doubles Carded Today

PARIS, July 25.—Big Bill Tilden, United States Davis Cup tennis veteran, today defeated Jean Borotra in four sets, 2-6, 7-5, 6-4, 7-5. Thus he justified his last-minute inclusion in the invading American forces. Two hours later little Henri Cochet had taken his revenge for Wimbledon by sending young George Lott to the showers with a straight set defeat, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2. The score, when the evening shadows settled over Auteuil, was America one, France one, and the fate of the Davis Cup for 1930 still hangs in the balance. The doubles match will be played tomorrow and the final singles Sunday.

Bill Tilden

TILDEN NERVOUS AT START

After a nervous start, Tilden swept through to his second major tournament victory in succession over the bounding Basque. The match was bitterly fought and was featured by a turbulent scene in the third set when Borotra scored a service ace after the American had lifted his hand to indicate he was not ready to play. The umpire ruled Tilden had motioned too late and gave the point to Borotra.

Tilden, already rallying mightily after erring frequently in the first set, rose to new heights after the upsetting incident, and trounced Borotra. Parading through to the first victory of the challenge round with only the final desperate effort of the Basque in the fourth and deciding set, holding him up temporarily. The Basque rallied in the final set after Tilden had run the count to 5-1 in games. The Frenchman reeled off four straight games, but could not hold the place and dropped the deciding set, 7-5.

FRENCHMAN TIRED

Once Tilden, favorite to beat the Basque, hit his stride, there was no stopping him. His cannonball service aced Borotra repeatedly, and he ran the Frenchman ragged from base line to base line in the third set. Borotra was very tired when the players stopped for a ten-minute rest after the third set, while Tilden appeared fresh and eager.

Tilden's victory, although not surprising to the French, was far more decisive than expected. The American No. 1 star for the past ten years, drawn into the challenge round at the last moment, defeated Borotra at Wimbledon the last time they met, with the greatest difficulty, winning in five sets after being behind in the last set.

While Tilden was the Big Bill of old in beating Borotra, the bounding one, whom he had conquered seven straight times in major tournaments up to today, Lott was no match for Cochet, upon whom the French pin most of their hopes for retaining the cup. Lott pulled into a 4-3 lead in games in the opening set, but was hardly a contender thereafter in the face of Cochet's fine condition.

TODAY'S LINE-UPS

Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon will team for France tomorrow against Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, of the challenging United States team in the doubles match of the 1930 Davis Cup final. Announcement of the pairings was made after France and the United States split the opening pair of singles matches today.

The choice of Allison, the Texan, and Van Ryn, former Princeton star, as the United States doubles team, was a formality, but the French had more than one possible combination.

If successful in both singles today France had hoped to pair Christian Boussus and Jacques Brugnon against the American team that beat the French last year and won the Wimbledon doubles championship this season in a gesture that would almost have conceded defeat. After splitting the singles, however, France has called upon one of her strongest possible combinations in an effort to win the single point tomorrow.

Local Girl Wins Way To Last Bracket in Canadian Tourney

Victoria Ace Defeats Mrs. Coke in Three-Set Duel to Meet Olive Wade Today—Will Team With Sister Hope in Doubles Final

(Canadian Press)

TORONTO, July 25.—From far West Victoria, B.C., cyclonic Marjorie Leeming today breezed into the final for the Canadian lawn tennis title in ladies' singles. After the elimination of Walter Martin, of Regina, Sask., in the men's singles yesterday, she bore the West's last hope for an individual championship of the Dominion.

Tomorrow the girl from Vancouver Island steps on to the courts against Olive Wade, who brought the Canadian title to Toronto last year. This afternoon Miss Leeming rallied to oust Mrs. E. F. Coke, of Toronto, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, while Champion Olive Wade was eliminating Jean Burrit, Ontario champion, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3.

Though Martin is out of the singles fight, he has entered the men's doubles final with Gilbert Nunns, Toronto, who plays Dublin's Lyleton Rogers in the final of the singles tomorrow. Martin and Nunns, after eliminating the Irish Rogers and Aikman, of Montreal tackle Fritz Mercur, of Bethlehem, Pa., and Gilbert Hall, of East Orange, N.J., the Martin-Nunns win was hard taken by scores of 6-5, 3-6, 6-1, 3-6, 6-4.

With her sister, Hope, Miss Leeming stepped into the finals of the women's doubles, and tomorrow the Victoria pair meet the Toronto Bickel-Symons team. They won today over Mrs. Woodbury and Miss Currie, of Halifax, N.S., by 6-2, 6-4. Ranked with J. Proctor, Toronto, Marjorie Leeming entered the semi-finals of the mixed doubles by ousting Olive Wade and F. McCausland, 6-4, 1-6, 6-6.

Nunns qualified for the singles final by eliminating Mercur, 4-6, 6-4, 5-4, 5-4, while Rogers ousted Hall, 6-2, 0-6, 9-7, 6-3.

BURNSIDE BOWLING

The Burnside Lawn Bowling Club green will present an attractive appearance this evening, when many bowlers, men and women, will be present in unique attire to participate in the second annual comic costume match which is scheduled to commence at 7 o'clock, and a small fee will be charged. The game will consist of twenty-one ends and rinks will move from one green to another on the seventh and fourteenth ends.

Tomorrow the Duncan team will play a Burnside team at Burnside, as a Greater Victoria League fixture. The Duncan team has been playing in exceptionally good form since the start of the season, and a win against Burnside tomorrow will insure their position in first place in the second division.

Mr. George Vallance, who has arrangements for the big international lawn bowling tourney in hand, reports that entries in all events are coming in thick and fast, and he expects that all the greens in the city, Victoria, Burnside and C.P.R. which are capable of accommodating twenty-eight rinks at a time will be taxed to their limit during the tournament week, August 4 to 9. Many entries have been received from points in the United States as well as Canada, and a large number of visitors will be seen in Victoria during the tournament.

COLD STORAGE GIVES CHANCE TO PRODUCERS

Committee From Real Estate Board Enthusiastic Over Possibilities

INVESTIGATION WILL BE CARRIED FARTHER

The special committee of the Real Estate Board of the city, which has had in hand investigations relative to the possibilities of cold storage in the handling of locally-produced vegetables, fruit and other articles of food, reported at the luncheon meeting of the board yesterday as being very highly impressed with the opportunities that exist in this connection. This committee, which consisted of Stewart G. Clark, Harold D. Patterson and F. Goad, was appointed following the visit of H. G. Brown to the meeting of the board when he explained his plans connected with the business.

The first report made by the committee yesterday showed that the members were very highly impressed with what could be done in the direction of meeting the home market throughout the year by the use of the cold storage system and also the tremendous possibilities to a shipping line that should follow.

The committee has yet to gain information as to the returns that might be expected by the producer and as to the best methods to be employed in the taking over of the produce preparatory to its going into cold storage. Some method by which the person storing the produce to the plant might receive a cold storage receipt which would be negotiable at the bank, pending the marketing of the goods, was suggested. It was stated this system was used elsewhere. The committee will continue its work.

Mr. Patterson said that he could not speak too highly of the system after an inspection of it. It was proved to his satisfaction that any vegetable, fruit or animal product could be taken care of in the plant, and kept indefinitely in good condition until needed. The great need now was for education of producers and others along the line of meeting the demand.

Mr. Goad said that the committee is now working to ascertain what the returns would be to the producers by using the cold storage plant. He had been informed that from $175 to $200 an acre from the peas produced could be made in that line. He also pointed out that there was need for arranging for the advancing of money on the product stored. There were instances of fish being carried past here from the West Coast because in Seattle advances could be made.

Mr. Patterson suggested that in the absence of any other method it might be possible for the wholesalers to take the vegetables and other produce from the farmers and carry them in cold storage. He was of the opinion that the use of this system would result in the cutting out of a lot of purchases from California in the early season of the year.

Mr. Brown had told him that he had orders for several carloads of produce following the sample shipments. He had not the produce on hand to fill these orders.

Mr. Goad gave the information that from twenty-five to thirty cars of vegetables could be sold from cold storage if they had them. The vegetables so preserved being of local production were far superior to those imported from California.

David Leeming asked if anything could be done to carry fresh lettuce raised here into the late season, as the product was far superior to that grown elsewhere.

AUTOMOBILE AND CYCLE COLLIDE; MAN IS INJURED

Pal Singh, Hindu, 672 Alpha Street sustained a cut chin and abrased hands and left knee in an accident at the intersection of Gorge Road and Government Street yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock. According to the police report, Singh was cycling south on Government Street when he was struck by a car proceeding west on Gorge Road and driven by G. N. Tubman, 143 Ontario Street. The bicycle was damaged.

The injured man was brought to the police station in the police ambulance, and first aid was rendered. He was attended by Dr. Thomas and later taken to his home.

REAL ESTATE ORATOR IS SOUGHT TO ENTER CONVENTION CONTEST

It is the hope of the Real Estate Board that at the coming convention of the Pacific Northwest Real Estate Association, which is to be held in Longview, Wash., from August 17 till August 20, the local branch will be in the competition in the hometown speaking contest. Major M. Kirkpatrick-Crockett was asked to accept the task of making the competitive oration for Victoria, but he was not sure that he would be able to attend. The executive will look after the matter of getting a competitor.

A few years ago Victoria made a strong showing in this line with A. Carmichael the orator competitor. It is the hope of the Real Estate Board that there will be a strong delegation attending this convention from Victoria.

Two women were walking across a field near a film-producing company's ground. Suddenly a man rushed towards them, waving his arms.

"Don't go up there!" he shouted. "You'll spoil it! there's a film being shot there!"

One of the women sniffed contemptuously.

"Well," she said, acidly, "if it's the one I saw last Saturday, it jolly well deserves it!"

CANONIZATION OF MARTYRS IS COSTLY

Thousands of Dollars Expended to Bring Murdered Jesuits Into Calendar

VATICAN CITY, July 25.—When the eight Jesuit martyrs whom the Iroquois and Hurons killed at the stake in Northern New York State and Canada were canonized in St. Peter's June 29, more than $50,000 had been spent in the process of securing them this highest of honors. The exact amount has not yet been calculated, but it will run between $50,000 and $75,000.

Little did Father Isaac Jogues and his fellow-martyrs think, two centuries ago, as they died under the horrible tortures of the Indians, that so many thousands of dollars—in those days, particularly, a great fortune—would be expended to bring them into the calendar of the saints.

ELABORATE DECORATION

This expense was spread out over a number of headings. The expense that the public appreciates best was that involved on the day of the canonization itself. This was mostly for the elaborate internal and external decoration of St. Peter's.

For days workmen labored to decorate the basilica within. Scores of other workmen placed thousands of oil lamps in position on the exterior of the largest church in the world with which to illuminate the basilica the night of the 29th—one of the most beautiful sights imaginable.

The cost of this item was just over $30,000. But this did not include the expense of the procession, pontifical mass and preparation of altars in St. Peter's, which meant another $2,000. Nor did it include the hangings and sacred vestments, for which $3,000 was allotted. Nor the contribution to the Vatican Chapter as its perquisite for decorations and candles, a matter of $4,000.

Another heading visible to the public is the expense involved in printing thousands and thousands of books and booklets containing the biography of the persons canonized. According to custom, the cardinals and other prelates receive exquisitely bound books, the general laity more ordinary books. But there were 70,000 persons within St. Peter's, and each one received a book.

SCORE OF ITEMS

Then came the enormous expense which the public does not appreciate because it is spread over scores of items and many years—the expense of the legal process leading up to the canonization.

Imagine a celebrated law suit involving North Americans, but heard by a court situated in Rome. The law suit has gone on for years, for generations. Lawyers have had to be hired to plead the case before the Rome tribunal. Witnesses have had to be summoned from America and sent across the Atlantic. Depositions have been taken and forwarded to Rome. Now the subject matter of the law suit had its beginning in the seventeenth century, and expert historical research workers have had to be employed to collect and compile history's confirmation of the matter in dispute.

But a cause for canonization is the same thing. It is a kind of trial extending over many years, in which advocates of the canonization present the facts of the lives of the candidates for canonization and the proof of the miracles wrought through their intercession, and ecclesiastical lawyers try to confute this evidence. The church must be careful not to canonize anyone about whose sanctity there might ever arise the slightest doubt. And hence the long, laborious trial. And hence, too, the stupendous expense.

Who pays the expense? The postulator of the cause for canonization is responsible for it. He receives it by contribution from the faithful who revere the memory of the candidates for canonization, possibly from the religious order or community to which they pertained.

"I'm very tired," said the lady at the head of the supper table one Sunday evening.

"You should not be," said her minister, who had been asked in to the evening meal; "you haven't preached two sermons today."

"No," said the lady, absent-mindedly, "but I listened to them."

Two Scots came to London with excursion tickets, and one of them was very ill on the return journey.

"Jock, mon, ah'm deein'!" he murmured at Carlisle.

"Na, na! Just haud on, Mac!" said the other. "Yer ticket does no expire till we get to Glasga!"

A vacation is about half anticipation and the other half changing tires.

Representative Japanese Arrive to Study Business And Industry in America

On an education tour of Canada and the United States, a party of six Japanese, each prominent in his particular sphere of endeavor in his homeland, and accompanied by a representative of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Yokohama, who will act as an interpreter, arrived in Victoria last evening on the Empress of Canada from Yokohama.

The party, after being taken for an auto tour of the city and its environs, went through to Vancouver, where a reception awaits them, and where they will spend some time before proceeding east on their itinerary. In the party were: N. Matsui, member of the Yokohama pasenger department staff of the Canadian Pacific, in charge of the Canadian Pacific Japanese party; Sengi Suzaki, of Tokio, who will pay particular attention to hotel kitchens in the cities visited, as well as the culinary arrangements in factories, hospitals, restaurants and other large institutions. He will also study the design and layout of kitchens in private houses and apartments. Mr. Suzaki has large hotel interests in Japan, and is an efficiency expert in connection with kitchen management and operation.

Soichoro Sato, Tokio, is the chief engineer of the Japanese Artificial Ice Company, and will make an especial study of artificial ice plants and distribution systems throughout Canada and the United States, and hopes to obtain statistics regarding the industry for the guidance of Japanese ice manufacturers. Eijiro Matsumoto, Kyoto, wealthy landowner and proprietor of the Koyoya Department Store at Sapporo, will study merchandising methods in the large stores in the cities visited. Tokubei Takahashi, Sapporo, prominent merchant, who will investigate American trading methods; Shigetaro Matsui, lawyer of Hiroshima and adviser to Hiroshima Perfecture, and a representative of the Overseas Development League of Hiroshima. Toyokichi Sakurada, Milo, pomologist, who will devote his time to gathering as much information as possible during the brief tour, of fruits, their growth and marketing.

The itinerary includes visits to Vancouver, Banff Springs Hotel, Toronto, Queenston, Niagara Falls, Montreal, Boston, New York, Washington, Chicago, Kansas City, Grand Canyon, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and Honolulu. The latter port will be reached after leaving Victoria, the party spending some time here prior to the departure of the Empress of Japan for the trip to Yokohama. Canadian Pacific representatives met the party on its arrival here last night, and J. C. Pike, traveling passenger agent of the road, will accompany the visitors as far east as Montreal.

Rear Admiral Rousseau Dies From Apoplexy Aboard Panama-Bound Steamer

By JULIAN F. BAAR

BALBOA, Panama Canal Zone, July 25.—Rear-Admiral Harry Harwood Rousseau's death from apoplexy aboard the steamer Cristobal while bound for Panama yesterday, has thrown a shroud of sorrow over old-time Canal employees, who distinctly recall his services with the Isthmian Canal Commission from 1907 to 1916, when he was only a naval lieutenant.

Admiral Rousseau was coming here for an investigation as a director of the Panama Railroad, and to renew friendships he had made during the construction days, when he personally supervised harbor work. He was particularly well known and considered the right-hand man of Major General George W. Goethals in the Canal project, and in making it a reality.

Prince of Wales In Solo Flights With Wee Plane

NEW YORK, July 25.—The New York Times today published the following copyright cable from London: "The Prince of Wales, according to an announcement in a London paper, has recently made flights unaccompanied by a pilot or any other person. The Prince's solo flights, according to The Daily Telegraph, have been made at Northolt Airdrome in a "tomtit" military training plane. He did not stray far from the landing field, but during a number of short flights demonstrated marked ability in taking off and landing.

AMERICAN MAIL SHIP ARRIVES FROM FAR EAST

FINE WEATHER FOR PACIFIC CROSSING

Arriving on schedule from the Orient, the American Mail liner, President Madison, Commander D. C. Austin, docked at Ogden Point Piers at 7 o'clock last night with a fair passenger list and an average cargo aboard. There were 179 passengers in all classes on the liner, all of whom went through to Seattle, the ship leaving for the Sound City at 2:30 o'clock this morning. For Victoria, sixty tons of freight were discharged. The captain reported a fine and uneventful crossing of the Pacific.

Among the prominent passengers aboard the boat were: Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Applegate, president of the Luzon Stevedoring Company, Manila, on a visit to the United States; Dr. Clarence L. Britt, prominent physician of Columbus, Ohio, returning from a pleasure trip to Japan; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Dirick, manager of Durkee Famous Foods Company, returning to Cleveland, Ohio, after a business trip to the Philippines; Mrs. Evelyn Furlinger, a tourist from San Francisco, on her way home after an extended tour of the Orient; Carl Greenborg, accountant of the Dollar Steamship Company, Shanghai, on leave of absence; John J. Hoffington, Provincial Governor in the Philippine Islands, on vacation leave to the United States for six months; Miss Mary A. Johnson, school teacher in China, returning to the United States on vacation; Misses Emily Miller and Abbie Sanderson, connected with the Presbyterian Mission in China, on a year's furlough, en route to the United States; Ng Ting Fong, Chinese business man from Springfield, Mississipi, returning after a visit to Hongkong; Mr. and Mrs. N. Sarandjian and two children, prominent rug merchant of New York, on his way home after an extended business trip to Tientsin, China; A. Vander Kop, representative of the Dunlop Rubber Company, Sourabaya, Java, on a business trip to the States, following which he will have a year's furlough to his home in Holland; J. McK. Williamson, student from Manila, on his way to the United States to attend school for four years; A. Willing, representative of General Motors Corporation, transferred from Manila to the home offices; Shalem Yehia, lace and embroidery merchant of San Francisco, returning from a business trip; H. Zogelbaum, bead merchant of New York, on his return from a buying trip to Japan.

JAPANESE COMPANY PASSES DIVIDEND

Although making a considerable profit during the past six months' term, the Osaka Shosen Kaisha has decided to pass its dividend for the period. The net profit realized by the company for the term under review totaled 4,790,000 yen, of which 4,774,000 yen will be devoted to reserves. The total income for the company was 32,838,000 yen, against total expenses of 28,058,000 yen.

Despite the decrease in income, expenses increased and in consequence, the profits for the period went off about 36 per cent. The company has also to set aside much money for ship depreciation. These facts have induced the company to pass the dividend, and all the directors have decided not to take the bonus.

Waiting-Rooms to Be Provided at Ogden Point

H. A. Stuart, local representative of the Canadian National Railways, announced last evening that certain changes for the comfort of passengers would be instituted immediately at the Ogden Point Piers. Commencing Monday, the portion of the shed now occupied by Snow & Co., commission agents, as well as the storage space adjoining the customs and wharf office, would be utilised for the making of ladies' and men's waiting-rooms, a dock office to be also furnished for the Nippon Yusen Kaisha. These waiting-rooms will be provided with all facilities for the convenience of people awaiting the arrival and departure of vessels using the docks, stated Mr. Stuart.

Mr. Stuart also stated that the new docks in the Inner Harbor would be completed and ready for the inauguration of the ferry service on August 12, the work now remaining to be done consisting chiefly of cleaning up the debris and putting the finishing touches to the approaches.

Empress of Canada Docks With Full Passenger List Inbound From the Orient

Inbound from Manila, Hongkong, Shanghai and Yokohama, the Empress of Canada, Commander A. J. Hailey, R.N.R., docked alongside Rithet Piers shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and proceeded to Vancouver at 5.45 o'clock. In all classes, the Canada had 462 passengers, 80 being in the first class, 67 in the second, 25 in the third and 270 in the steerage. Twenty-three first, 32 second, 9 third and 96 steerage passengers left the ship here, the balance continuing to Vancouver. In all there were 1,653 tons of freight aboard, 45 tons being discharged for Victoria consignees. Mail comprised 642 bags, 502 bags of which were for the United States and 141 bags for Victoria and Vancouver.

Prominent passengers aboard were: H. M. Levine, Manila, vice-president Bachrach Motor Company, accompanied by Mrs. Levine and daughter, proceeding to the United States on a vacation; Mrs. D. M. O'Brien, Manila, prominent resident of the Philippines, accompanied by her son, on a visit to Chicago; Mrs. A. B. Railway Company Will Build Many Refrigerator Cars

MONTREAL, July 25.—The Canadian National Railways has ordered 400 refrigerator cars. Two hundred will be built in the company's shops at London, Ont., and Winnipeg and the balance by the Eastern Car Company, New Glasgow, N.S.

RED SALMON OUTPUT INCREASING YEARLY

Year by year the production of canned red salmon has been increasing in Japan. Last year's amount was 750,000 boxes, which recent advices from the Orient state will increase to 1,000,000 boxes in 1930. Of these, 200,000 boxes are expected to be disposed of in Japan. Exports last year were valued at 10,000,000 yen, but due to the exchange rate relation, exports this year are expected to fall sharply.

As a result, eight Japanese exporters have adopted f.o.b. prices for this year of 22 shillings a box, containing four dozen pound cans, and 26 shillings a box, containing eight dozen half-pound cans. The rates price is applied to exports to England, France, Holland, Belgium and Italy. These exporters include the Mitsui, Mitsubishi, Komada, Nozaki, Furuya, Hobo and Ito fishing interests.

GENERAL MacBRIEN FORCED TO RETURN

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 25.—Major General J. H. MacBrien, president of the Aviation League of Canada, who took off from here this morning on a flight to Calgary, was compelled by poor visibility to turn back to Vancouver after he had got as far as Hope, about 100 miles east of here. He may take off again tomorrow.

WEEK-END TO WITNESS START OF DIRIGIBLE

R-100 Being Tried Out Before Departing on Atlantic Voyage

CARDINGTON, Eng., July 25.—The British dirigible R-100 left its hangar this forenoon and was attached to its mooring mast preparatory to a twenty-four-hour trial flight, starting tonight. If the test is satisfactory, the R-100 probably will start for Canada in three or four days.

The lighter than air craft will undergo a final thorough inspection during tonight's flight. If found airworthy, the ship will be returned to its mast, refuelled and provisioned. Present plans would permit the airship to arrive in Canada about August 1.

This morning provided the first suitable lull in the weather for several weeks. The launching of the airship was successfully accomplished by an emergency party, consisting only of employees at the aerodrome, and R-100 was promptly made fast to the mooring mast without mishap of any kind. Tonight the airship makes a trial cruise over Western England. If weather conditions are satisfactory, it is reported that it will leave for Canada this week-end.

At The Playhouses

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE A highly diverting and entertaining all-talking musical romance of a Broadway star and a burlesque hoofer closes at the Playhouse Theatre tonight. It is "The Broadway Hoofer," a Columbia production with Marie Saxon, Jack Egan and Louise Fazenda in the leading roles.

CAPITOL THEATRE For sheer entertainment, the English-produced and acted all-talking picture, "Rookery Nook," which opened Thursday night at the Capitol Theatre, is hard to beat. The story is well balanced, the lines are sparkling, the settings are beautiful, the photography is excellent, and the acting is altogether flawless.

COLUMBIA THEATRE An old-fashioned mountain "shindig," or dance, such as is staged in the Kentucky mountain district, with music and complete sound effects, is one of the unusual features of "Mountain Justice," Ken Maynard's latest Universal picture, now showing at the Columbia Theatre.

DOMINION THEATRE Showing for the last times today at the Dominion Theatre is Ramon Novarro, the popular M.G.M. screen star, in his latest all-talking and singing production, "In Old Madrid," with Lottice Howell, a great stage artist, supported also by Beryl Mercer.

COLISEUM THEATRE Electricians and assistant directors made up as extras and mingled with the crowd so they could better handle the lights and the players during the filming of "No, No, Nanette," First National's part-Technicolor musical screen comedy at the Coliseum Theatre.

AMUSEMENTS

On the Screen

Capitol—"Rookery Nook," starring Ralph Lynn.

Columbia—Ken Maynard in "Mountain Justice."

Dominion—Ramon Navarro in "In Old Madrid."

Playhouse—"The Broadway Hoofer," with Marie Saxon.

VETERANS WERE GIVEN PREFERENCE IN CAST

Service records among fifteen members of the principal staff and cast of "Journey's End," showing next week at the Playhouse Theatre, showed a total of seventy-nine years and three months' war service. Director James Whale, in casting for the all-dialogue Tiffany-Gainsborough production of R. C. Sherriff's great stage play, gave first preference to ex-service men, preferably veterans of the Great War.

"ALL QUIET" BOOK OF DIFFERENT TITLES

And (here's a tough one) "Lansirintamalta ei mitaan uutta." But it isn't fair to make you guess that, it is Finnish, and the publishers are Kustannousosakeyhtio Kirja, of Helsingers.

British and Dutch Join to Set Limit To Rubber Output

LONDON, July 28.—The Rubber Growers' Association today announced that its council and a majority of representatives had adopted the recommendations of the British-Dutch committee for negotiations to limit rubber production, including native, to 75 per cent of the 1929 crop.

Peter Sees a Resemblance

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

By just a look you'll sometimes find Another may be brought to mind.
—Mother West Wind.

"What's on your mind, Peter?" Jerry inquired

Have you noticed how people almost always admire in other people the ability which they do not themselves possess? Peter Rabbit admired Jerry Muskrat. He admired Jerry very much indeed, and it was largely because Jerry could do the things in the water that Peter could not do. So, in a way, Peter was envious of Jerry. It didn't occur to Peter that Jerry in his turn might be envious of him. No, sir, that didn't enter Peter's head. You see, he was so used to running and jumping and dodging that he took it all as a matter of course and didn't once think that other little people might wish that they could do as he did.

One evening just at dusk, when jolly, round, red Mr. Sun was going to bed behind the Purple Hills and the Black Shadows were creeping across the Green Meadows and had almost reached the Smiling Pool, Peter Rabbit sat on the bank watching Jerry Muskrat swim. Peter always did like to see that funny tail of Jerry's move back and forth in the water, as Jerry loves to make it when he is swimming. At last Jerry climbed out on the Big Rock. There he sat, so that Peter had a side view of him. It came to Peter, as he sat looking at Jerry, that Jerry reminded him of someone.

"Yes, sir," said Peter, talking to himself, "Jerry Muskrat reminds me of someone, but just who it is I cannot think. It ought to be Robber the Rat, for Jerry is a member of the Rat family. But somehow he doesn't remind me of Robber the Rat so very much. It is someone else. I think it is his shape and the way he sits. It certainly isn't Johnny Chuck; it certainly isn't any of the Squirrel cousins. He doesn't look the least bit like Billy Mink, or Little Joe Otter. He does make me think in a way of Paddy the Beaver. I've heard him called the little cousin of Paddy the Beaver, but I understand they are not related at all."

Just then Jerry slid into the water and swam over near Peter. "What's on your mind, Peter?" Jerry inquired.

Peter grinned. "You," he replied.

"That's too bad," said Jerry. "How am I on your mind?"

"You remind me of someone and I don't know who it is," said Peter.

Jerry looked interested. "So I remind you of someone, do I? Probably it is Paddy the Beaver."

"You do remind me of him," replied Peter, "but you remind me of someone else. Have you any relatives that I know?"

Jerry chuckled. "Of course I have," replied he. "There is Robber the Rat. Perhaps I remind you of him."

Peter shook his head vigorously. "No," said he; "it isn't Robber the Rat."

"I am glad of it," replied Jerry. "That is one relationship I am not proud of. I've got a lot of small cousins, you know, like Whitefoot the Wood Mouse and Danny Meadow Mouse."

Peter hopped right up. "That's it!" he cried. "It's Danny Meadow Mouse. If Danny could grow to be as big as you, I believe he would look very much like you."

Again Jerry chuckled. "I don't know but that you're right, Peter," said he. "As a matter of fact, Danny and I are rather closely related, though somehow I never think of it. I don't suppose Danny does either."

"If he does, he never speaks of it," replied Peter.

Son of the Gods

CHAPTER XVIII

Ever since Sam Lee's childhood he had received, on the eve of the New Year, money for gambling. Having gambled all his life, he looked upon it more as an occupation than an amusement. He had been raised in the Chinese belief that luck is a state of being, a posture, to be attained by proper preparation and under favorable conditions, and that belief still remained in him.

In spite of his Western training Sam had not entirely shaken off that idea. He still remained something of a fatalist, too, therefore he played imperturbably and without trace of cupidity.

He was winning again tonight and the table at which he played was crowded. As usual, other players had followed him and were betting as he did. Alanna Wagner sat on one of the high stools close at his side, so close in fact that her body touched his. Her bare elbows rested upon the table, her chin was in her cupped hands, her eyes followed Sam's movements. She had lost, as usual, and now she surrendered herself to the fascination of observing him.

Alanna Wagner was more than good-looking even in repose, when animated she was a dancing flame, and she was comfortably aware of it. She lost no opportunity to take all possible advantage of her feminine attractions. Her hair was reddish brown and of fine texture, but of rebellious quality and she wore it cropped like a boy's: her face was wilful and impetuous and in it were set a pair of insolent, tempestuous eyes, hazel in the sunlight, almost black at night: her brows were rather heavily pencilled for a girl, which lent her face a certain forcefulness.

Heretofore she had represented everything that was haughty, elusive and intractable, but she had finally surrendered and patrons of the Paradis Casino stared curiously at the imperturbable young man beside her, giving him credit for unusual qualities of mind or mesmeric powers of an uncommon degree.

"Come along, darling. I'm tired," Alanna said suddenly.

"Oh, quite a lot, I believe!"

"Don't you know?"

Sam shrugged carelessly. "What's the difference? I already have more money than I need."

"I gloat like a miser when I pick up a bet and I'm furious when I lose. I can't bear to lose at anything."

"If I felt that way I wouldn't gamble. There are things I enjoy infinitely more than playing. I love beautiful things — silks, ivories, jewels, marbles, paintings. I——"

"Why don't you like me? I'm beautiful." Alanna asked this question abruptly and she fixed her dark eyes upon her companion's face with disconcerting intensity. She did not heed what he said. It was only a meaningless pleasantry anyhow, but she noted a certain change in his voice and a slow alteration in his color which contented her.

They had passed out of the Grande Salon and were in the soft carpeted promenade, the Peacock Alley of Paradis, with its mellow paintings, its tapestries, its palms and cut flowers. Ahead of them was the ornate cafe, a famous rendezvous for amusement seekers; from it issued the music of the Casino orchestra, one of the finest in Europe. Many couples were dancing. It was a brilliant scene.

Together they entered the cafe; with an ostentatious flourish they were shown to a table adjoining the dance floor and a restrained riot occurred over the privilege of seating them. Sam placed his order, smiled queerly the while.

Alanna drew a deep breath. "I'd give something for your luck," she said.

Sam spoke almost harshly, "Why? Is it good luck to win the things you can't keep, and to never attain what you really want?"

"Meaning what? What do you want that you can't attain? Who is she?"

He shrugged. After a moment, she inquired.

By the way, have you got any money? Not that I care, but father was asking me. It's the first question a modern parent puts when his daughter shows interest in a fellow. If she answers in the affirmative, anxiety lessens, the conversation lags. Dad says I'm looking hatchy and beginning to cluck like a hen."

"I have nothing I can call my own," Sam declared.

"Well, so much for that. I've got plenty. Dad has more money than a bank." Dimples popped suddenly into Alanna's olive cheeks. "Now then, why is it you hate me? I'm reasonably good-looking——"

"Unreasonably! Terribly! Devastatingly!" Sam agreed.

"I'm full of that indefinable, magnetic something——"

"You are, indeed. And I adore you."

"Then, for Heaven's sake, seize me and——dance me." Sam and Alanna rose, she swayed forward into his arms and they moved away. This was intoxication.

Their table was ready when they returned to it. For a while they sat in silence then Sam began, "Did you notice those people who spoke to me? The woman looks Spanish."

"The one with the big comb? Who are they?"

"Friends of Mr. Bathurst's. The man is an oil operator from Oklahoma, she's his wife, and Bathurst told me how they met. I'd like to tell you."

"Why?"

"I——It's an interesting story, to me at least. She isn't Spanish at all. She's an Osage girl."

"A——what?"

"An Osage Indian girl, from his own state. She had known him as a child. The Osages are rich, she had been educated at an Eastern College. The upshot of it was—a real love match. I considered it quite extraordinary."

"In what way?" Alanna queried.

"Bosh!"

"Have you none? Would you marry an——Indian, a man of another race?"

"I was engaged to one—to an East Indian. It was just fun, of course, he was a dandy fellow and he wasn't very dark. I couldn't stand a dark one. You have the strangest ideas, Sam. I couldn't help marrying a man I cared for. I'm thoroughly spoiled, thank Heaven! There aren't any taboos among people of our class. I'd marry him or—nobody else would."

They danced again when the music resumed and each felt some change in the other. A new vitality, some electric quality had entered into Sam and Alanna thrilled to it; her body relaxed, came closer to his, her breath beat hotly upon his cheek. As if by mutual consent they ceased dancing at the end of the cafe nearest the open air and passed out upon the portico that overlooked the sea. Together they descended the wide marble steps. These gardens are a feature, and the very loveliest, of the famous Paradis Casino, for there French skill in horticulture has reached perfection. Beyond them and running parallel with the cliffs is the handsome Avenue of the Cypresses, equally well advertised on souvenir postcards. This avenue of stately trees was doubtless laid out as a lovers' lane in the beginning, for it affords an enchanting view of the harbor, especially on a moonlight night, and time has made it ever more beautiful and more popular among those sentimentally inclined. Suicides have happened there, too.

Here she and Sam found themselves without knowing which one had led the way. As a matter of fact, neither had led; their feet had shown them the path, but when they had passed out of the light and into the gloom, they paused and faced each other as if at some unspoken signal. Each saw the other dimly and yet with a revealing distinctness.

He had her in his arms; he was crushing her to him and bruising her lips with his; a ruthless passion overpowered him and the girl responded recklessly, unreservedly; her embrace was as close as his. It was capitulation for both, and conquest, too; a sudden bursting of all constraint, an explosive shattering of inhibitions, and the ecstacy of it was keener than a knife thrust. Intoxication, madness, abandon, bliss, triumph—words are weak symbols for emotions strong enough to paralyse the very processes of thought.

Voices sounded, people passed close by, but neither Sam nor Alanna noticed them. They were entranced, they sat a while on a convenient bench, they rose and moved on aimlessly through the shadows, absorbed in each other. Time passed, it grew dark in the gardens behind them and even darker here.

"Thank heaven, I'm no beggar," and they realised that the lights had been turned off, but the stars remained. The orchestra in the cafe had stopped long ago.

"A thousand times I've dreamed about holding you like this," Sam murmured. "I seem to experience feelings I've always known." He was profoundly interested in this phenomenon. "I've thought about you constantly, every night I've fallen asleep haunted by your voice. It was like the music of some stringed instrument sighing in the moonlight. I've breathed the fragrance of your hair and it was like sweet-scented honeysuckle."

"That's father's soap," Alanna told him. "The odor lasts."

"He asked you if I had money and I told you——"

"Don't tell me anything, darling. What does it matter? What does anything matter? Tonight I'm not his daughter. I'm not flesh and blood; there's nothing sane or sensible about me. I'm the Sleeping Princess who is still rubbing her eyes. You might be a stranger, some beggar—it wouldn't make any difference."

I dare say I have as much as your father has, or even more. Some day at least——"

"I'm sorry you told me that. I don't want you to be anybody or to have anything but me. I wish you were—'less than the dust.'"

"But why?"

"If you don't feel the same about me, I can't explain. Don't ask me to think or to talk sensibly. I've just learned who I am and——"

"And I must tell you who I am."

"Not tonight. Don't dare! Sam, darling."

When finally they mounted the steps to the Casino, it was dark. A watchman on his rounds halted and eyed them suspiciously, then shrugged and turned away.

"I had no idea what time it is," Sam faltered as he peered at his watch. "What will your father say?"

Alanna laughed and drew his arm closer about her waist. "He's a sensible person. He'll probably say it's better for a girl to be out late than never."

(To Be Continued)

Four electric power transformers, each weighing twenty tons, have been shipped from the Westinghouse factory at Hamilton, to be installed at the Jordan River plant of the B.C. Electric Company. Their total cost when in place will total a sum approaching $500,000. They will be used to step up the 60,000 volts to be delivered by the 18,000-horsepower generator.

WIDOW USES PLANE IN SEARCHING FOR HUSBAND'S BROTHER

SEATTLE, July 28.—The widow of Dr. Kenneth Parker, Portland physician, who died early today, was flying this afternoon in a chartered plane in search of his brother, to bring the message to him. The brother, Dr. Carl Parker, also of Portland, was cruising in British Columbia waters on the seventy-foot yacht Deerfleet, of Olympia.

Mrs. Parker left here by plane at noon, and expected to find Dr. Parker near Jarvis Inlet within a couple of hours.

Last Minute Trade Brings Slight Advance in Prices; Copper Shares Strengthen

NEW YORK, July 25.—The bulls gave the stock market a little boost today, but they waited until almost the last minute to do it.

Until the final quarter hour trading promised to be the dullest of the year, with prices declining under fitful short selling and an apparent lack of interest. When the decline had amounted to 1 to 3 points in the favorites, however, pool operations for advances were resumed, and closing quotations averaged nearly a point higher.

The copper shares strengthened on the increased sales of the metal, indicating that a normal relationship between supply and demand was being established.

The recovery was led by U.S. Steel, which converted a loss of about a point into a net gain of 2 3-8. American Telephone turned a similar drop into a 1-point advance.

Fluctuations in many of the active trading stocks were narrow.

There were advances of 1 to 2 points in Bethlehem Steel, Foster Wheeler, Gillette, International Harvester, Vanadium, Westinghouse and Radio. National Cash Register was sold for a loss of more than a point.

Foreign securities were quiet. Sterling and the French franc were steady, while the German mark rose a shade.

Fixed income securities on the New York Stock Exchange gave an indifferent performance today. Progress was nominal, with some recession in evidence in spots, and trading slowing down with the approach of the week-end.

Surplus Money Seeks Safety

During the speculative fever, which ended in disaster for so many last year, money in large amounts was withdrawn from the conservative bond field and used in the stock market. Most of the surplus earnings of individuals was used in the same way.

At this time funds as they accumulate are seeking safe, income-bearing securities, which must be reflected in higher bond prices.

We are constantly advising our clients to keep funds employed while present interest rates are available.

BANK OF MONTREAL ISSUES CROP REPORT

Synopsis Given of Telegraph Reports From Branch Managers

Under date of July 24, the Bank of Montreal has issued the following report of crop conditions. It is a summary of information received by telegraph from managers of the bank's branches throughout Canada.

GENERAL

Fairly general rains have benefited crops in the Prairie Provinces, especially in parts of Alberta where moisture was urgently needed, but excessive heat in Southern Saskatchewan and the earlier drought in Southeastern Alberta have caused deterioration and yields in those areas will be below average. In Quebec Province the weather on the whole has been fine and warm and crops generally are progressing favorably. Warm, dry weather is now essential. In Ontario the state of the crops on the whole is satisfactory, although some areas urgently require rain. In the Maritime Provinces good growing weather has been experienced and the crops generally show improvement. In British Columbia hot, dry weather throughout the province is causing rapid growth. Details follow:

PRAIRIE PROVINCES

Alberta: Northeastern Area—Wheat is 80 per cent headed out, and, following rain, indications are for a fair crop. Some isolated hail losses are reported. Southeastern Area—The whole district has benefited by rain, but because of earlier drought the yield will be only fair. Western Area—Following rain, the crops are making good progress and the moisture is now sufficient until harvest. Wheat is 75 per cent headed out. Some hail damage is reported. The sugar beet crop is in a very satisfactory condition.

Saskatchewan: Northern Area—Crop conditions generally continue favorable, with sufficient moisture. Present indications are for a good average yield. Southern Area—Summer fallow and breaking crops are standing up fairly well, but the recent excessive dry heat has caused too rapid ripening of stubble crops and white tips are reported, particularly in the Southeast. Prospects are for a yield considerably below average.

Manitoba: Weather conditions continue favorable for the maturing of crops. Wheat is all headed out and is now in process of filling. There are some indications of rust, but they are not extensive and no damage is reported so far. Losses from all causes are slight.

PROVINCE OF QUEBEC

Haying is being carried on under satisfactory conditions and a crop larger than average and of good quality is being harvested. Oats are heading out well and a good crop of barley is indicated. Both corn and roots show a general improvement and an average crop of peas is anticipated. Pastures are excellent.

PROVINCE OF ONTARIO

Haying is nearing completion and an average yield is expected. The cutting of Fall wheat is becoming general and threshing has commenced with an average yield of good quality. Spring grains are commencing to ripen rapidly and prospects are encouraging. Canning peas are a heavy crop. Pasturage, although drying up in some districts, is reported fair to good. Corn and root crops are satisfactory, but require moisture in certain areas. Small fruits are plentiful and grapes and peaches are promising. Tobacco requires immediate rain.

MARITIME PROVINCES

Continued fine warm weather is needed. Hay making has been hindered by rains, but a crop above the average in many places is being harvested. Grains are heading out and promise well. Potatoes are progressing satisfactorily. Apples continue to size well and the crop is estimated at approximately 90 per cent of the average for the last five years.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Tree fruits are doing well in the Okanagan and Kootenay districts and there should be sufficient irrigation water for the season. Tomatoes are coming on well and with continued warm weather the crop may be 100 per cent of average. Good yields of potatoes and other root crops are expected. Field crops are suffering from heat in some districts, but very fair yields are anticipated. Hops are doing well and indications point to a good yield on reduced acreage. Pasturage is in good condition, but water is running short on the cattle ranges.

CHICAGO CORN MARKET STRONG

Best Prices on Present Upturn Are Reached During Session

EXPORT WHEAT ACTIVE

(B.C. Bond Corporation, Ltd.)

CHICAGO, July 25.—Wheat prices averaged lower in sympathy with Liverpool and on hedging pressure, but strength in corn had considerable influence at times and there was a strong rally from inside. Offerings of Russian wheat abroad were reported. There was an active demand for North American wheat at seaboard, and the basis at the Gulf was firmer.

It is estimated that since July 1, North America has sold around 60,000,000 bushels of wheat for export, about half of which was hard winter. The local spot basis was firmer. Liverpool closed ⅛d to ⅜d lower. London cables claimed Russia had sold 4,000,000 bushels of wheat so far which was causing buyers abroad to hold back. Beneficial rains were shown in the Canadian Northwest.

The corn market was unsettled, but showed a strong undertone the greater part of the day, with the best figures on the present upturn witnessed shortly before the close. Shorts covered freely after a break due to profit taking, and found offerings light on the way up. Numerous favorable crop comments were received from a wide area, but they were offset to some extent by forecast for showers over a good part of the corn belt with somewhat lower temperatures. The market is generally regarded as a weather affair.

Oats were firmer with corn, but the trade was not large. Rye was somewhat higher but trade was not large.

Keeping track of your investments pays.

"I heard that Blank & Company are going to pay dividends," remarked a man on the train. "Seems to me I have some of that stock. I'd better look it up. We've moved twice since I was in touch with them and I have notified them of my new address."

No stock is so good that it should be laid aside and forgotten. Nor is much stock so worthless that it might not come to life.

All investments should be checked up periodically:

1. To make sure that all money due you is paid.
2. To take advantage of the opportunity for a profitable sale.

Sometimes a good market develops most unexpectedly. If the owner of the stock is on the job he can take advantage of such an opportunity for profit. But if the sale is not made at just the right time, the profit may be entirely lost.

BOND INVESTMENTS ARE IN GOOD DEMAND

Various Factors Combine to Make Present Position Favorable

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

The appreciation in bond values is resumed at an auspicious time. Many sound influences are now operating. Many essential and important factors have of late indicated quite clearly that there will be a continuation of the upward movement in high grade security values and bonds are showing pronounced strength on more active buying than has been witnessed for several months past. Seldom in the past have so large a number of such factors been in a favorable position at any one time.

FAVORABLE FACTORS

(1) "Cheap money." The cheapness of money at the present time is emphasized by the Federal Reserve Bank discount rate of 2 1-2 per cent, the lowest in the history of the system. Since the purchaser of a bond is in effect the purchaser of a given income, the cost of the bond is in reality a price for the income. Bond prices are always responsive, therefore, to cheap money. Cheap money tends to drive capital into the bond market and force prices up with a corresponding lowering of yield towards a parity when money returns.

(2) "Declining commodity prices." With the average price of commodities lower than at any time since 1921, and with important staples such as wheat, cotton, sugar, coffee, rubber, copper and others back to or below prewar levels, this development is strongly bullish on bonds because it means an increase in the dollar's purchasing power, hence proportionately greater value for the fixed dollar income derived from bonds, lessened capital requirements for the financing of manufacturing and trading operations, with a corresponding increase in capital available for other forms of investment.

(3) "Low prices and generous yields." These now prevail over all classes of bonds except for the very highest grade tax free, and succession duty free issues which are normally subject to a more sensitive supply and demand.

(4) "Passage of the speculative craze for common stocks." This has brought an increasing appreciation to the people that a sound investment programme should be built around carefully selected bonds and preferred stocks with only a small portion of the investment funds in speculative securities. The effects of this change in sentiment in the long run will be to divert a large aggregate of capital savings from the stock market into the bond market.

(5) "Increased equities back of good bonds." This arises from the fact that during the last four or five years an unprecedented amount of new financing has been done by the sale of common stock. Furthermore, equities have been built up by ploughing back surplus earnings accumulated during the recent extended period of prosperity and in many cases as a result of conservative common stock dividend payments. This is particularly true of public utility bonds.

(6) Large bank reserves which accentuated the ease of credit and indicated that it will be prolonged. These bank funds are going into bonds and absorbing the floating supply, thereby strengthening the market's technical position.

(7) Probability in the opinion of leading economists and advisory organizations that the worst of the business depression is over, and that a recovery will have definitely set in by next Fall. A recovery in business would be particularly favorable to more speculative bonds such as junior debentures and convertible bonds. The favorable inferences outlined above lead us to believe that investment funds now available should be invested in sound bonds where a desirable income is obtainable, and appreciation in value is to be expected.

NEW YORK SUGAR

NEW YORK, July 25.—Raw sugar was quiet early today. Both Cuban and duty frees were on offer at 3.25c for spots duty paid, and at this price an operator purchased 25,000 bags of Cuban for August shipment.

In the refined market, withdrawals continued to be of fair proportions, but new buying was limited to purchases of resale offerings at 4.62 1-2 to 4.65. Refiners' list quotation on fine granulated was 4.70c.

DEALERS AWAIT WHEAT HARVEST

Meanwhile Winnipeg Market Marks Time—Cutting Has Begun

NEWS MOSTLY BULLISH

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, July 25.—Wheat again pursued an erratic, nervous course, opening unchanged to 1-4 higher, and then steadily declining until prices were 1 1-2c under the previous close, and again reacting to the high points of the day. The late recovery was largely due to short covering, with the bulls receiving some encouragement from a report sent out by the local office of the Norris Grain Company to the head office in Chicago that after an inspection of the crops in Saskatchewan the conclusion reached was that 7,000,000 acres had suffered severe losses and that very small yields were to be expected.

The outside news was also mostly bullish. There is now little doubt but what the wheat crops of France and Italy, combined, will be nearly two hundred million bushels less than last year, while crops in other countries have suffered recently from unfavorable weather, all of which means increased buying of foreign wheats.

Rust reports were again numerous and it is now evident that the infection is rather heavy in Manitoba and the eastern half of Saskatchewan. The Manitoba crop in southern areas is fairly well matured and severe damage is not anticipated, but there is still plenty of time for heavy deterioration in other parts of Manitoba and in Saskatchewan. Everything depends on the weather next week or ten days. Some reports of wheat cutting in Southern Manitoba are reported and this will increase from day to day.

The corn crop in the United States is reported to have suffered severely from drought and high temperatures and is resulting in increased feeding of wheat.

The demand for cash wheat was a little easier today with spreads about unchanged, and holders were not pressing sales, but the buying was anything but keen. Export sales overnight and this morning were placed at 500,000 bushels.

A two-sided market is indicated with preference to a buying position on dips. Wheat closed unchanged to 1-4 higher.

Oats held steady and barley a little firmer, but there was very little going on and offerings were extremely light. A little local buying developed in rye but apparently there was nothing for sale until prices were advanced rather sharply and after demand was satisfied part of the upturn was lost. There is a moderate cash business in oats and barley for Eastern Canada for feeding quality but there is nothing doing in export circles.

CAPLANE'S FORECAST

(B.C. Bond Corporation, Ltd.)

NEW YORK, July 25 (By Caplane).—The utilities took the market out of the doldrums yesterday afternoon, and, together with the oil group, were responsible for the improved tone in the general list, which developed shortly after 1.30 p.m. It has been noted that the entire group was considerably in the background throughout the rally of the last three weeks, and the majority of these issues showed but extremely moderate gains.

National Light & Power performed considerably better than most of the group, and new accumulations have taken place in the last few weeks. The stock has so far recovered but moderately, but is now in a good position to show broader swings and promises to stage a fair sized run-up in the near future. The Electric Bond & Share sponsorship of this issue is now making itself felt in the market, and in view of the various combinations and plans for realignment of relations in the bond and share group.

A number of units composing this company can be used as important links in several super-power tie-ups. These developments, however, are of more distant date. The immediate possibilities are primarily predicated on the stock's technical position and the broad accumulations accomplished recently, which will call for a process of distribution in the nearby period. We believe that this stock can easily advance to levels between 52 and 54, and purchases for a turn are recommended.

St. Louis South Western—Though a small road, this carrier is a highly important link in the southwestern territory, and, as such, frequently commended the attention of various organizations interested in promoting large railway mergers. Owing to the intervention of the Interstate Commerce Commission, all previous plans have been abandoned, and this was utilized by Southern Pacific to get control of the company. It is understood that a price of $90 per share was paid for the control. The stock is currently selling about 20 points under that figure. It, however, has a book value of about $160 a share, and there is genuine value behind it. Under improved conditions the road can easily earn $7 to $8 a share, and the minority interest should be worth $100 to Southern Pacific. It will take some time before such a price will be reached, but those with patience should be well remunerated by acquiring the stock now for a long term holding.

CALGARY OIL NEWS

(Miller, Court & Co.)

CALGARY, July 25.—Good progress is being made in conditioning Homestead's Turner Valley well, state officials, a bit, bailer and stem have been removed from the hole so far. Shooting of the well for larger production is under consideration, but no definite action will be taken until the success of recent operations is known. Last night the well was being observed as it was blowing freely after the tools had pierced what might have been a bridge.

Dalhousie No. 1 has been restored to production by successful cleaning operations, according to J. H. McLeod, production manager of Imperial Oil. The well had been frozen off for a few weeks.

Showing signs of entering sand formation, Angus, White Valley, was making steady progress from 2,000 feet yesterday, it was reported officially. While the stratum might be the Home sands, further drilling will be necessary to ascertain that point. Ten-inch casing is being carried behind the bit.

Eastcrest No. 2 "A" was drilling yesterday about fifty feet in the poker chip shales at total depth of 4,197 feet, according to officials.

Eastcrest No. 1 was at 4,446 feet, delayed by hardness of lime formation, which is thought to overlay initial production.

Advance No. 5 "A" is flowing according to an official estimate, at approximately 9,000,000 cubic feet, a substantial increase having been noted.

Unofficial field reports state that a preliminary production test on the separator at the first of the week recovered ninety-six barrels in twenty-four hours. No back pressure had been applied. It was expected that a substantial increase would be gained after adjustments are completed.

It is located on the northwest corner of the Home-Calmont area.

By THOMAS T CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 25.—The refusal of the Government of Canada to issue the fiat necessary for presentation of a petition of right from dissatisfied stockholders of the Grand Trunk Railway Company came before the judicial committee of the Privy Council today.

Counsel on behalf of the stockholders submitted that the refusal of the fiat when the petition had shown good cause for action was wrongful, and that an appeal from the decision of the Governor-General in Council to the King in Council would be justified.

At the outset, however, Lord Dunedin protested: "How are we to say to the Governor-General in Council that we have power to tell him what he ought to do?"

Counsel for the stockholders admitted this point was arguable, but suggested that a judicial function had been exercised when the fiat was refused, and therefore it was necessary to carry the appeal to the highest tribunal.

TO MAKE UP HIS MIND

"You say then," countered Lord Dunedin, "that as should advise His Majesty that we think your Govanor-General, in exercising his powers, came to a wrong conclusion; and we think His Majesty ought to tell him he had better come to the right conclusion."

Counsel here admitted there were difficulties on this score, but submitted that the judicial committee of the Privy Council could advise His Majesty that the refusal of the fiat was wrongful. Counsel would be well satisfied with that much, he said, because he could not imagine the Canadian authorities would then leave the matter as it was.

APPEAL REFUSED

He contended that it was the duty of the Attorney-General of England to grant a fiat when the case was not frivolous. This case, he pointed out, affected 7,500 persons holding shares with a nominal value of $140,000,000, who had been encouraged by Canadian ministers to believe that a fiat would be granted.

Their Lordships refused to grant permission to appeal, holding the refusal of a fiat was not the determination of a judicial officer.

Home Oil Operating Committee Chairman Is W. J. Blake Wilson

VANCOUVER, July 25.—W. J. Blake Wilson was this morning elected chairman of the operating committee of the Home Oil Company, Ltd. Ather officers of the company are as follows: General J. W. Stewart, chairman of the board; Hon. W. C. Shelly, president; Col Nelson Spencer, vice-president; Major James R. Lowery, managing director; W. H. Malkin, chairman of the finance committee.

The directors this morning decided to purchase from the Imperial Oil Ltd., who have charge of their operation, production equipment, plant, and drilling equipment at present in use on their property, amounting approximately to $300,000. This action was considered better than to continue on a rental basis.

Production of the Home Oil wells has been interrupted somewhat of late, through freezing, but there is no reason to believe that this interruption is anything but of a temporary nature, and all wells should be back to normal production within a short time, it was stated. At present wells No. 1 and 2 are producing, but wells No. 3 and 4 are frozen off.

Steady progress is being made on Nos. 5, 6 and 7.

No. 5 well is approximately 290 feet in the limestone formation, and news of interest is looked for any time from this well, as wells on adjoining properties, in a similar position, have been brought into production.

Tape Topics

Trading yesterday on the New York Exchange was extremely quiet, the total sold in the first half hour being only 191,800 shares. There are residents of Victoria who could have bought them all. Toward the close greater activity was shown. The average of thirty leading industrial stocks was lifted 1.97 points.

Encouraging statistics are given in the monthly review of the Bank of Nova Scotia. Mining activity in Northern Ontario, it remarks, has been fairly well maintained, indeed the first report of the Ontario Department of Mines, which covers the first quarter of the year, shows a considerable increase over the same period in 1929 both in quantity and value of metals produced.

Construction contracts, valued at slightly more than $81,000,000 have been awarded during the first half-year. This figure is about 25 per cent below that of the same period in 1929, but is greater than that of 1928, and also of 1927, which, previous to last year, was the year of record activity.

A great expansion in construction in the Maritimes is now under way. Contracts exceeding $12,000,000 have been awarded during the past half-year, which is more than twice the figure for the same period last year. The number of workers employed in construction has increased rapidly and on June 1 was no less than 27 per cent greater than on June 1, 1929.

In copper stocks yesterday, a slightly firmer tone was in evidence on the theory that consumption was gradually overtaking production. Scale buying also proceeded in the prominent steel and motor shares, due to the thought that the low point in these lines was being seen this month.

Foreign buying of copper has become active. Foreign consumers are trying to buy as much copper as possible at present level, believing that price will not go much, if any, lower, and are building up working stocks. Whether the large buying of the last two days will result in advance in price of copper remains to be seen. Domestic buying also has been heavy for a week. Foreign sales of copper Thursday came roughly to 18,000,000 pounds, and on Friday were 13,500,000 pounds. Total sales for export by larger producers so far in July came to roughly 90,000,000 pounds.

Canada has a large number of deposits of diatomite in British Columbia, Ontario and the Maritime provinces, from which diatomite suitable for almost every known use, can be obtained. Report No. 691, of the mines branch, Ottawa, records the results of investigations into the sources and uses of diatomite in Canada, and copies of the report may be had on request to the Department of Mines at Ottawa.

EGG MARKET NOW GENERALLY FIRMER

Consumption Now Equal to Supplies—Poultry Market Situation Improving

The Egg and Poultry Market Review, published by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, says the production of eggs is still declining all over the Dominion, and the market is generally inclined to be firmer. Particularly is this the case with extras, which grade is becoming quite scarce. The percentage of receipts is noticeably less. While there has been no material advance in prices of eggs as yet, there is much stronger undertone. At some of the larger consuming centres in the East local receipts of eggs are not sufficient to meet the consumptive demand, resulting in more interprovincial carlot purchases.

A few cars of British Columbias and Prairies are due to arrive or have arrived at Toronto, and at Montreal, British Columbias, prairies and also some from Prince Edward Island have arrived.

OVERHANGING MARKET

At Toronto and Montreal some short held fresh eggs are overhanging the market. These are being offered for sale at prices below the current prices for real fresh eggs. Until these eggs are cleared, no marked advance in values can be expected. It is a grave question if it is wise to attempt to move short held eggs during the Summer months. There is a danger that they may affect consumption adversely. Coming out of cool temperatures they are bound to sweat, which will weaken the albumen and objectionable odors will be absorbed through the shell quickly. If these eggs were quickly used after coming out of the cooler, there would not be the danger of giving dissatisfaction, but many of them find an outlet through the retailers, and it may be several days before they reach the ultimate consumer.

With consumption of eggs now equal to supplies, the inward storage movement is practically at an end for this season. At a few points in the Prairie provinces there is still some storing going on, but the movement is very limited. The final report of storage holdings on July 1, as issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, showed 14,595,909 dozen eggs in cold storage. Under present conditions of supply there should not be very heavy accumulation of storage eggs during the present month, and indications are that the egg market will turn into the Fall season with lighter storage holdings than at any time in recent years.

EXPORT PROSPECTS

Nothing new has been reported as to prospects for export of eggs to Great Britain. There is, of course still ample time for export business to develop, but prospects for the current year do not appear to be very bright. As a matter of fact, with the lighter storage holdings and the prospects of reduced imports from the United States, it is doubtful whether this country will have any considerable volume of eggs to export.

The situation on the poultry markets has shown some improvement recently, particularly in Ontario and Quebec and in British Columbia. While there has been very little improvement in prices there is a steadier undertone on the market in these provinces. This can be traced to an improved consumption demand. The average consumer is using more poultry, as values are now attractive. The increase in tourist trade with more people traveling is also resulting in heavier demand from restaurants, railroads hotels, etc.

Poultry receipts are still comprised almost entirely of chicken and fowl. A few Spring ducks are arriving, also some roosters. The demand for roasting chickens and turkeys is being filled from reserve stocks in storage. The outward movement of storage poultry has been showing some improvement recently. It is expected that the output of storage poultry will continue to improve during the next two months. The fresh crop of chickens arriving are gradually increasing in size, but are not yet sufficiently big enough for roasting purposes.

Calmont Leads Oils in Activity—Home Declines to $3.45

BIG MISSOURI MAKES GAIN OF THREE CENTS

VANCOUVER, July 25.—The Vancouver Stock Exchange experienced another of its dull days today. Oils were steady to firm, with mines holding steady. Calmont led the oils in point of activity and advanced 1c to .90. C. & E. Corporation and McLeod gained 3c each to 73 and 1.23 respectively, while Van Alte was up 2c to .20. Home was dull and dropped 1c to 3.45.

The only changes of note in the mining list were a 3c gain to .63 in Big Missouri and a 2c loss to .99 in Premier Gold.

U.S. RAIL RATES ON WHEAT ARE REDUCED

Interstate Commerce Board Has Made Order Affecting Graingrowers

WASHINGTON, July 25. — Substantial reduction in freight rates on wheat and other grains moving through western territory were ordered today by the Interstate Commerce Commission, effective October 1.

The findings of the commission justifying a decrease on wheat, other grains, and grain products such as flour and meal, resulted from the commission's compliance with the Hoch-Smith resolution of Congress, which ordered products of agriculture affected by depression to be given as low railroad rates as possible.

In addition, the commission found that wheat, coarse grains, flour and meal, should all be moved on a single rate, and in addition western railroads were ordered to adopt a new system of making such rates in western territory.

MINING INDUSTRY OF CANADA IS ON SOUND BASIS, AND GROWING

(McHarry, Roe & Co., Ltd.)

The year 1930 is proving somewhat of a lean one for quite a number of Canadian citizens who are associated either directly or indirectly with the mining industry, but the industry itself is in by no means as bad a plight as might have been anticipated, when one considers the series of misfortunes to which it has recently been subjected, says R. H. Hague in a recent report.

Promoters in cities such as Toronto, Montreal, Vancouver and Winnipeg are wearing hungrier looks than they have done for several years, owners of potential mines are not finding it an easy matter to secure funds for development purposes, and prospectors also claim there is a dearth of grubstakers. The satisfactory feature of the situation is, however, that the big companies are serenely proceeding with their development and production programmes, apparently not affected by the facts that a cataclysm occurred in the stock market a few months ago and that silver and base metal prices have taken a bad tumble.

While a number of small producers have found it necessary to close down owing to low metal prices, and development has been postponed on others on account of a temporary disinclination on the part of the investing public to provide funds, it is not anticipated that the year will see any appreciable decrease in the amount of ore actually produced in the Dominion, as compared with the record production in 1929. Neither is there the slightest reason to believe that the whole industry is less basically sound than it appeared twelve months ago, nor that future prospects have in any way been seriously prejudiced.

Market Held Under Control For Present

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, July 26.—Whitney, of Wall Street Financial Bureau, says. While there is a good deal of talk that what advances we are witnessing solely represent the results of manipulation, I would not make this statement too lightly, even though all of yesterday's advance occurred in the last ten minutes and gave a good excuse for the repetition of this expression regarding the market. It is undoubtedly true that you are not able to point to specific reasons why this market should sell higher, and it is likewise true that we are in a market which has "no public in it" as yet.

Both of these assertions, in the minds of those who are not accustomed to finding real buying places, should have little weight, as it does not take much Wall Street experience to prove that both of these elements invariably make their appearance, not at low points, but after considerable advance has been registered.

What I believe we can say with assurance is that a short position is continually being added to, and that such advances as closed the session yesterday simply represent the intentions of a well-organized group to lift the market out of each and every weak place it runs into, until such time as it is possible to get it going on the upside. I do not think it would be even a good idea to pay too much attention to the rumor that the banking house, which has had the most to do with the bull trend since 1924, is not interested in the present market, as these rumors are becoming so widespread as to represent what is now almost propaganda.

What has happened is that we have seen the expected period of weakness in yesterday's section, and, in turn, the supplanting of it by a return of strength. With some further strength over the week-end, I think it will leave behind the lows of yesterday as a good place to have accumulated at least a moderate number of stocks.

NICKEL COMPANY OF CANADA AUTHORIZES COMMON STOCK ISSUE

TORONTO, July 25. — Authorization for an increase to 15,000,000 shares in the common capital stock of International Nickel Company of Canada was given by the stockholders at a meeting here today.

The directors proposed to give to holders of common stock the right to subscribe for the new stock at $20 per share on the basis of six shares for each 100 shares now held.

"The volume of your company's sales has been less than anticipated," said Robert C. Stanley, president. "In the case of nickel, this is due primarily to drastic curtailment in the steel and automotive industries, in which some plants have actually suspended operations.

"The copper industry, in which your company is now interested, has been going through a period of distress due to overproduction coupled with current under-consumption, which has resulted in a drop in the price of the metal from 18 to 11 cents per pound. This naturally is reflected in current earnings."

BEAUTIFUL STUCCO BUNGALOW
OFFERED FOR SALE

WORDS cannot really describe the beauty and charm of this delightful little home, we can only say that it is unquestionably one of the most attractive bungalow homes of its type in all Victoria. Both inside and out present many unusual and pleasing features, which must really be seen to be thoroughly appreciated. This property contains all that could possibly be desired in a model home, and we have no hesitancy in recommending it to the most discriminating purchaser.

There are six bright rooms, all conveniently laid out and artistically decorated with washable paint, hardwood floors, wired for electric power (electric range and water heater for sale if desired). Lovely location in desirable residential locality, near waterfront. Well-kept lawns and garden (the latter contains nearly $300 worth of plants and shrubs).

If you are looking for something out of the ordinary, let us show you this property. You will find it is really unique and

JACK FOURACRE REACHES SEMIS IN NET TOURNEY

Defending Champion Beats Temple in Esquimalt Tennis Championships

MISS WEEKS, BUTLER SCORE FINE VICTORY

Jack Fouracre, defending champion, reached the semi-final round of the men's singles in the Esquimalt tennis championships yesterday evening by defeating Ivan Temple in three hard-fought sets. Fouracre had match point four consecutive times before finally coming through in the third and deciding set.

The defending monarch lost the initial set after extra games, 5-7, but made things interesting by coming back strong to even matters in the second by a similar score. Fouracre let loose with a brilliant display in the last set to win out 6-1. Pat Mulcahy, another aspirant for the men's crown, used his wicked forehand drive to great advantage to win from Don Warder in straight sets, 6-2, 6-6.

Handling their racquets with flawless precision, Elsie Weeks and Ralph Butler advanced to the next round of the mixed doubles by scoring a great victory over Violet Brakes and Pat Mulcahy in another straight set match.

Yesterday's results and today's draw follow:

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

MINTO CAFE TO MEET VICTORIA STICKHANDLERS

Strong Mainland and Local Lacrosse Teams Will Clash Here Today

ROYAL ATHLETIC TO BE SCENE OF BATTLE

When the Minto Cafe lacrosse aggregation, of New Westminster, crosses sticks with the strong Victoria All-Stars this evening at the Royal Athletic Park at 6:15 o'clock, one of the largest crowds in recent years is expected to wend its way to the enclosure to witness what promises to be a great exhibition of Canada's national game.

The local representatives will step on the field under the watchful eye of Leonard Tait, the veteran lacrosse enthusiast and coach, who has rounded up the strongest possible team to face the Royal City stickhandlers. Seventeen players are on the local roster and all will be seen in action at intervals during the fixture.

Although the majority of the squad is made up of youngsters, who possess stamina, speed and great shooting ability, such veterans as Norton, Mitchell, Segalebra and Rickinson will don uniforms. New Westminster's line-up is not yet known, but, according to advance reports, they are well schooled in the game and are right in the thick of the battle for the Senior "B" championship of the Mainland League.

Mayor Herbert Anscomb will face the ball off, while other members of the City Council and School Board have stated that they will be present. Yesterday Mr. Tait received notices from Premier Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Senator G. H. Barnard, Reginald Hayward, J. H. Beatty, members of the Legislature, and the two Federal nominees, D. B. Plunkett and Stuart Henderson, that were sorry that they would be unable to attend. Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines and Labor, will represent the Provincial Government in the absence of Premier Tolmie.

"Cotton" Brynjolfson, former star, will referee.

SIBERIA MARU IN

The Siberia Maru, Nippon Yusen Kaisha, is due to arrive at William Head quarantine station at 4 o'clock this morning, and should arrive alongside Ogden Point piers in the neighborhood of 7 o'clock. After landing local passengers and freight, the Siberia will proceed to Seattle. Thirty-three passengers will leave the ship here and eighty-two will go through to Seattle. Freight for this port amounts to 180 tons, including fifty-five packages of raw silk. There are also 160 bags of mail aboard, fourteen of them being air mail.

One-Way Traffic Sign

TRAFFIC on the lakes in Berlin is so heavy that it became necessary to establish traffic regulations on all the lakes. This is the first time in any country the police were compelled to establish such regulations on water.

Virtual Embargo Against Lumber Trade of Province Now Levied by Australia

Also classified in the new duties is the paragraph in the tariff covering timber undressed, not otherwise indicated, covering Douglas fir.

UNDRESSED SAWN FIR

Under this the rate on undressed sawn Douglas fir, twelve inches by ten, a new specified tariff size directed to tax the large grades of British Columbia and Pacific Coast lumber, is increased from eight shillings to twelve shillings sixpence per 100 superficial feet.

Undressed sawn timber twelve by six and less than twelve by ten (previously all lumber twelve by six and over was classified in one division), increased from eight shillings to fourteen shillings.

Timbers other than redwood and Western red cedar, that is, fir and hemlock, in sizes twelve by six and less than twelve by ten, increased from twelve and sixpence to fourteen shillings.

Introducing his new duties in the House, Hon. James E. Fenton, Australian Minister of Customs, who passed through Vancouver recently, said today that the June schedules placed in force during his absence in Canada and Great Britain made no provisions for increases in duties on logs or the larger sizes of sawn Oregon timber.

REQUESTS ARE REJECTED

In making this statement Hon. Mr. Fenton is interpreted here as having rejected the requests of the British Columbia lumber mission, which conferred with him at Jasper National Park.

Douglas fir, less than seven by two and a half, remains at fifteen shillings sixpence.

Lumber other than cedar and redwood and not including Douglas fir, twelve by ten inches, remain at fourteen shillings, and lesser sizes at fifteen shillings.

One bit of good news is contained in the cable in that it has been decided to revert to last year's schedule of taxing lumber for the manufacture of boxes at the rate of one shilling per hundred feet instead of two shillings, as proposed in June schedule.

ASSIST BOX INDUSTRY

This will greatly assist the British Columbia box industry, which was threatened with the loss of one of its best markets through the present proposal.

The effect of these increases, as stated by Hon. Mr. Fenton, is to hit the importation of the principal grades of lumber now being imported. Australia has always purchased these larger grades for resawing and dressing in its own mills, and under the previous tariff encouraged their entry.

Today's tariff increases raise the June rates so that the Australian consumer can not afford to import foreign lumber of any description.

YALE LIBERALS ALSO ENLISTING DOUKHOBOR AID

a high Doukhobor personage are given by The Daily News, which asserts in a second front page editorial, that the elders were told that all Doukhobors between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-two —the latter being the age limit possible for Canadian-born Doukhobors —were eligible to vote.

"No distribution was made in respect to those of voting age who came to Canada as children or as young adults, and "as there has been a steady influx since the Liberals opened in 1926 the barriers shut by the Conservatives in 1912," says The News, there are hundreds of this age in the district who are not Canadian-born.

DEFIED LAW

As the Doukhobors have consistently defied the law on registration of vital statistics, there are no birth certificates, and no one is in a position to dispute any claim of age or birth or residence that any Doukhobor, who is told he can vote, may make under the instruction of his leaders.

In the independent colonies orators and canvassers on behalf of the Liberals have met with the obstacle that these people have fear of making themselves liable for military service. In the community colonies the doubters have been given the assurance that Peter Veregin will protect them from this fate.

"Nelson is seething, and all day Liberals were announcing their defection from their party on account of its enlistment of the Doukhobors," The News continues.

AIRPLANE SMASHES CLAIM THREE LIVES

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—Two airplane crashes in Southern California today claimed three lives and a fourth was near death.

John B. Morse, twenty-seven, Altadena, who recently began flying, and his passenger, Dominick Gnoepff, Hollywood, were killed when their plane fell 3,000 feet as a wing collapsed. Harry Hastings, forty, a contractor, died from injuries received when a plane in which he was flying with Peyton Burke, thirty-seven, a garage owner, crashed near Fillmore, Cal., last night. Burke is believed dying.

PREMIER MAY RESIGN

LISBON, July 25.—There were reports in the capital today that Premier Domingues Oliviera, who for some time has been in ill health, had asked President Carmona to permit his resignation.

In political circles it was said the President had asked Oliviera to retain the office until the political horizon cleared.

It was believed the resignation of the Premier might involve some cabinet changes but not the resignation of the whole body.

Coffin Factories Have Appeal for Hold-Up Artists

VANCOUVER, July 25.—Coffin factories may not attract the ordinary individual, but they have their appeal, apparently, for hold-up artists.

While Miss Sigrie Kendrick was in sole charge of the office of the Vancouver Casket Co., 200 East Second Avenue, about 3 o'clock this afternoon, a husky, unshaven young man walked in and asked for the manager.

She looked around to see where the head of the firm was, and when she turned back the visitor had a gun pointed at her.

"Stick 'em up," he said, and scooped up the $294.47 she was putting into pay envelopes when the interruption occurred.

"I'll take care of this," the bandit promised, and proceeded to cut the telephone wire before he dashed from the office.

at London, which dangerously weaken the national defences.

It is possible that only two cruisers will be built, although the naval staff holds that three are necessary.

Most of the privy council members are out of town on vacations, but Baron Kuratomi, the president, will confer tomorrow with the chief secretary regarding methods of getting the speediest action. American ratification of the treaty, coupled with the impending ratification by England, makes the Government especially anxious that there be no delay on the part of Japan.

Sharp Earth Shock

WELLINGTON, N.Z., July 25.—A sharp earth shock lasting one minute was felt at Westport in the Karamea area today. The shock was preceded by a loud rumbling sound.

The earthquake was felt here in a slight degree.

No damage or casualties were reported.

SENIOR PILOT FROM SHANGHAI VISITS COAST

Captain Mahon Spent Forty Years Piloting on Chinese River

CHINA CONDITIONS NOT SATISFACTORY

Captain Mahon, senior pilot of the Shanghai Licensed Pilots, with headquarters at Shanghai, was a passenger aboard the Empress of Canada when the liner docked at Rithet piers last evening from the Orient, going through to Vancouver to visit his son and daughter, who reside there.

With the exception of a seven months' holiday in 1927, which he spent in Vancouver, Captain Mahon has been forty years on the China Coast in the pilotage service, and has seen many changes. When he first went there Chinese officers were few and far between, but now all their ships are commanded by Chinese skippers.

Captain Mahon described things as very quiet commercially, but exciting enough otherwise. The civil war was running the country and the lower classes were in a bad way as a result. The worst phase of the situation was that no one could foresee the end; it could only be guessed at.

While the war was far enough removed from Shanghai, kidnapping was rampant in that city, it being a common occurrence for a rich Chinese, irrespective of age or sex, to be held up at the point of a gun while going about the city and removed to some secret place for ransom.

Shanghai pilots have the best pilot boats in the world, Captain Mahon stated, when talking of the work he was most interested in. They are of steel construction, 180 feet long, 30-odd feet beam and travel thirteen knots an hour. Their base is outside the Woosung Bar, fifty-five miles from Shanghai, where they pick up the ships heading up the river for Shanghai.

Captain Mahon was not certain when his visit would terminate; in fact, he appeared to be undecided in his plans, and may conclude to remain in British Columbia.

HUSTLERS' EXCURSION

The Princess Patricia was well filled when she left the Belleville Street docks on the moonlight excursion under the auspices of the Hustlers' Club, of the Victoria City Temple.

The excursionists will be taken around the lower Gulf Islands, three hours being occupied on the trip. A feature of the evening will be the concert rendered by the Victoria Girls' brass band. For the benefit of those wishing to dance, there will be an orchestra, which will play on the deck, so that moonlight dancing can be indulged in.

United States Planning To Americanize Universe

"This is an unconscious force—and all the more powerful because unconscious—being exercised every day in every civilized land.

"It is the mighty influence wielded by the motion picture screen.

"The result of this silent movement, noticeable in many ways even thus early, will be the practical Americanization of all peoples, even to the implanting of American ideas and ethics in the breasts of countless millions who would spurn the thought were it put to them in the ordinary manner.

"The films are not ordinary. They are most extraordinary, in fact.

FASHION CENTRE MOVED

"More than 80 per cent of all the motion pictures shown the world over are produced in America. That means that out of every five such entertainments seen anywhere around the globe, four are the result of American thought, endeavor, ideals and execution, in every detail.

"Already the style centre of the world has been moved from Paris and London to Los Angeles, because the great bulk of American films are made here.

"It is not in fashion, however, that the greatest revolution is being brought about. It is in the customs of everyday life, in the ethics which move and govern humanity, in the thoughts and words of the millions who daily see and enjoy American films.

"One of the problems suddenly thrust upon the industry by the recent introduction of talking films is that of language. Yet that will prove to be a comparatively small thing ten or fifteen years hence. By that time nearly everybody who sees American talking pictures the world over will have learned enough of the English language to understand it.

ANTICIPATING FUTURE

"Another generation will see no necessity for employing languages. As French today is the diplomatic language throughout Europe, so English, as spoken in America, will then be the accepted speech where the talking film is concerned. Nor is this a wild prediction—it is rapidly coming to pass.

"When, through this unconscious, but extremely powerful, influence all nations have been permeated with the ethics of America, when the customs of America have been unconsciously adopted by other peoples, when the speech of America has become familiar to every civilized land, many things which now separate one nation from another will have disappeared.

"Whether this result is desirable or not is beyond question. The fact is that the films are now exercising such an influence and will certainly bring about such a condition as has been briefly described here.

"We Americans might as well prepare ourselves for the greater destiny that is inevitable when this leveling of thought and action has fully come to pass."

Col. Norman Lang Former Member of Commons, Succumbs

ALLAN, Sask., July 25.—Lt.-Col. Norman Lang, fifty, former member of the House of Commons, died today following a paralytic stroke. He was a veteran of the Boer War and commanded the 66th Battalion in the last war. Though born in Exeter, Ont., he had resided in the West since childhood.

Col. Lang was elected to the House for Humboldt in 1917. At Ottawa during the Union Government regime, he served as a member of the Pensions Board.

—The Passing Show, London

In a small village in Ireland, the mother of a soldier met the village priest, who asked her if she had bad news. "Sure I have," she said. "Pat has been killed."

"Oh, I am very sorry," said the priest. "Did you receive word from the war office?"

"No," she said; "I received word from himself."

The priest looked perplexed, and said, "but how is that?"

"Sure," she said, "here is the letter; read it yourself."

The letter said: "Dear mother—I am now in the Holy Land."

At a school examination the question was: "Were the kings of Israel rich or poor?"

One boy answered: "They were poor, because the Bible says they slept with their fathers. If they'd been rich, they would all have had beds of their own."

"This is enough to try the patience of a Job," exclaimed the vicar to his wife, after reading the newspaper. "Last Sunday I preached from the text, 'Be ye, therefore, steadfast,' and the printers have made it read, 'Be ye there for breakfast.'"

DR. BELL LEAVES HOSPITAL POST

General Superintendent of Vancouver General Hospital Tenders Resignation

VANCOUVER, July 25.—Dr. F. C. Bell, general superintendent of the Vancouver General Hospital since September, 1923, resigned because of ill-health. In a letter to the directors of that institution at their meeting Thursday night. His decision was accepted with regret and with best wishes for his speedy recovery. A special meeting of the board will appoint his successor after a special committee consisting of Chairman F. J. Burd, J. H. McVety and Dr. H. W. Riggs has pre- after a long convalescence.

The superintendent has been fighting a long battle for health following a critical illness. In his letter, Dr. Bell stated that he would be unable to resume his duties until after a long convalescence.

Under these circumstances, and in order that his absence should not embarrass the board in its work of implementing the provisions of the recent hospital survey report, Dr. Bell asked that his resignation be accepted.

LETTER OF RESIGNATION

"I regret taking this step," he wrote, "which I trust you will all approve, and I beg to assure you of an abiding interest in the great work which our institution is performing."

Dr. Bell came to Vancouver in 1923 to succeed Dr. M. T. MacEachern. He had a splendid war record, experience in hospital work in Winnipeg and overseas, and an excellent reputation as a physician and surgeon.

As superintendent of the institution during a period of rapid growth and transition, Dr. Bell handled his position with infinite tact and gave the hospital careful management. He was formerly a vice-president of the American Hospital Association, is president of the Western Hospital Association, and a member of the Kiwanis and Alpine clubs.

Old Gardner (to his boss, on being offered a refreshment): "Thank ye, sir." (Receives the drink.) "Did ye put in the whisky or water first, sir?"

"The whisky."

"Thanks! I'll maybe come to it by and by."

For Baby's Bath

More than that of any other member of the family, baby's tender, delicate skin needs the greatest care and attention. The soft soothing oils in Baby's Own Soap make it specially suitable for babies, and its clinging fragrance reminds one of the roses of France which help to inspire it.

"Its best for you and Baby too"

Will Celebrate Second Year Over Air

HARRY C. BROWNE

Creator and star of Frank Simmons' Showboat, a popular weekly feature of the Columbia network, which will celebrate its second anniversary today at 6 o'clock. Mr. Browne, who plays the role of the genial Hank, was leading man for Lillian Russell, Mary Pickford, Irene Bordoni and other well-known actresses before he went in for radio dramatics.

GERMANY'S CABINET CONTINUES POLICY

Loan of $600,000 Is Granted Without Interest to Private Industrial Corporation

By EDGAR ANSEL MOWRER
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

BERLIN, Germany, July 25.—Not even the present critical situation of German public finances can persuade the Cabinet to cease its policy of the last few years of subsidizing needy private industries with the taxpayers' money.

Just at the moment when the Cabinet is obliged to use a constitutional dictatorship to balance the budget, it announces that a loan without interest of $600,000 has been granted to the Mansfeld Company, which owns and operates coal, steel and copper properties.

The Frankfurter Zeitung implies that this is really a part of the "industrial mobilisation" connected with the national defence, since the Mansfeld group controls a considerable part of the copper mines on German territory, and copper would be needed by the army and navy in case of war.

The Mansfeld works, furthermore, employs about 12,000 persons in an industrially undeveloped district, where the workers would be unable to find other employment if Mansfeld went bankrupt, which seems to be a danger.

But the entire question of whether, in view of the general capital shortage here, money should be employed in artificially making work for the unemployed does not really result in the loss of capital by encouraging investment in unproductive lines is one that this Cabinet does not apparently—in view of the political pressure—intend to face squarely.

A sound sleeper isn't necessarily one you can hear all over the house.

OPERATING DEFICIT MORE THAN $80,000

Special Audit of Vancouver General Hospital's Books Will Commence August 1

VANCOUVER, July 25.—The operating deficit of the Vancouver General Hospital for the first six months of the year ending June 30, amounted to $81,831, it was reported at a meeting of directors Thursday night. The excess of expenditures over income in June alone was $18,064.

Income for last month was shown to be $80,816, and expenditures, $98,880. The number of days' treatment given was 25,985, and the per capita cost, $3.80. During the corresponding month in 1929 the income amounted to $85,948, with expenditures of $111,088 and a deficit of $15,140. The number of days' treatment during June, 1929, was 25,561, and the per capita cost, $2.95.

Explaining the increase in deficit, George Haddon, business manager, said expenses of the hospital had been considerably reduced. At the same time income had fallen in collections, so there had not been the improvement expected.

TWO NEW BUILDINGS

A portion of the deficit was attributed by Mr. Haddon to the operation of the two new buildings. While the institution made a profit on the private ward pavilion, net revenue had been larger when such patients were treated in the main building.

Chairman F. J. Burd commented on the seriousness of the situation, stating that if these deficits continued, a yearly excess of expenditures over income might reach $160,000. He announced that the special audit of Helliwell, MacLachlan & Co., of the books of the hospital would commence about August 1, and when this is concluded suggestions might be made to improve the accounts.

The board appointed as its delegates to the conventions of the British Columbia Hospital Association, Western Hospital Association and Northwestern Hospital Association, meeting here from August 18 to 23, Mr. Burd, Mr. Haddon, Miss Grace Fairley, superintendent of nurses; Dr. R. A. Seymour, acting superintendent, and J. H. McVety. Other directors will also attend.

Few things there are
Which men desire
A sheltering roof,
A cheerful fire,
A woman's love,
A patch of ground,
In these his mind's
Content is found.

A child to romp with
And a dog,
A friend to share
The blazing log,
The strength with which
To face his task,
No more than these
A man will ask.

To come to these
Are oceans spanned
And trains sent rushing
O'er the land,
For love and shelter,
Child and friend,
Are structures built
And poems penned.
—Tit-Bits, Edgar A. Guest
